SENATE UPHOLDS TAX BILL VETO

House Passes European Aid Measure Fast

To Aid Recovery, Stem Communism

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The House swiftly passed tonight an omnibus appropriations measure, bundling up $1,353,024,900 in funds to carry out the United States' tri-pronged program to speed Europe's recovery, help the hungry and homeless and stem the spread of Communism.

The action came on voice vote just an hour after its consideration began—perhaps a peacetime record for disposing of a measure of its magnitude and international implications. It goes now to the Senate.

The final action came after the House shouted down a motion by Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill) to attach an amendment denying any aid to countries which fail to "co-operate" in the Marshall Plan for Europe's recovery.

Rep. Keefe Protests

Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) protested that the amendment would "commit" Congress in support of the Marshall Plan at a time when it knows nothing of its details, and before the Paris Conference on its operation has been completed.

Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House Appropriations Committee asked:

"What is the Marshall Plan and is there a Marshall Plan?"

(Secretary of State Marshall has proposed that Europe draw up a recovery program of its own, with the United States standing by to give any aid it deems practicable. A conference is being held at Paris now on this "Marshall Plan.")

Taber declared that countries under Russian domination will be denied American relief "unless they turn over a new leaf."

Against the background of testimony—some secret, some public—he spoke particularly of Poland, but said that other countries, too, in the Soviet bloc "must show that they are willing to co-operate with nations which believe in freedom."

The foreign spending program had emerged from Taber's Committee with few major reductions from amounts sought by Army and Diplomatic chiefs—and the House ratified the committee's decisions.

Eliminate $18,000,000

Taber said the committee specifically had eliminated $18,000,000 from the previously-authorized $350,000,000 for foreign relief to cut out money originally intended for countries economically and ideologically associated with Russia.

This apparently would apply to Hungary, since its recent change in government, as well as to Poland. Both had been named in the relief bill, as potential recipients of the American aid.

The biggest barrier to passage of the measure was removed early in the evening when Rep. Case (R-SD) dropped plans to attempt to attach a rider calling for a flood control program. He said he had been assured hearings on the control plans would be held next week.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), ranking Democrat on the committee, took the floor to declare that "other nations across the sea look with covetous eyes" at America's wealth.

"The only reason they don't come over here and take it away, put us in concentration camps, hang us to the nearest telephone pole is that they lack the power to do it," he said.

Cannon contended that if war could be prevented by "dollars instead of men, then let's make that investment."

President Signs Succession Bill

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — President Truman today signed a bill changing the 60-year-old law of succession for the Presidency and in effect designating House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., (R-Mass) as the No. 1 replacement for the White House.

Under the new law, Martin would become President in the event Mr. Truman does not finish his terms—something Martin says he hopes will not happen.

A member of Congress since 1924 Martin is 62—six months younger than Mr. Truman—and a bachelor. He is publisher of the North Attleboro, Mass., Evening Chronicle.

Patterson Quits Job As Secretary Of War

SUCCEEDS PATTERSON—Kenneth C. Royall, (above), yesterday was named by President Truman to succeed Robert P. Patterson as Secretary of War, after Patterson submitted his resignation.

Royall Named To Fill Post

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — Grizzled "Judge" Robert P. Patterson quit his job of Secretary of War today, ending a seven-year government service which President Truman called "magnificent."

In a letter to the President, Patterson asked that the resignation become effective not later than next Thursday. Mr. Truman, accepting, immediately nominated Undersecretary of War Kenneth C. Royall of North Carolina to succeed the New Yorker.

Patterson, a leading advocate of armed forces unification in the long argument over that proposal, told Mr. Truman that he had waited to resign until it appeared the unification bill would become law.

With that, he added, "The time has come to lay down the duties I have borne for seven years as assistant secretary, undersecretary and secretary of war."

Recalls Patterson's Zeal

Mr. Truman, who once headed the Senate's War Investigating Committee, remembered Patterson's zeal as undersecretary in equipping the Army with the tools to fight World War II. He wrote Patterson that "how well you acquitted yourself in that vital task is attested by the results." And, said the President, when Henry L. Stimson resigned (in September 1945) and he appointed Patterson to succeed him "I was comfortable in the knowledge that the administration of the War Department would be carried on with the same zeal and efficiency that he demonstrated."

Patterson in recent months has shown some of the strain of his wartime service and the problems of demobilization and unification. New lines have appeared in his already craggy countenance and he chews his ever-present gum with nervous energy.

Patterson's is the second resignation from top levels of the War Department within the week. On Monday, Assistant Secretary Howard C. Petersen, in charge of the Army's occupation and civil affairs problems overseas, sent his resignation to the White House, effective July 31.

Royall said in a statement after announcement of Patterson's resignation by the White House:

"My appreciation to the President for sending my name to the Senate as secretary of war is mixed with deep regret at the War Department and the government losing the services of Judge Patterson."

Forrestal Issues Statement

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal issued a statement on Patterson's departure, saying:

"Everyone in government, whether in the executive or legislative branches, will share the President's expression of profound regret at the resignation of Robert C. Patterson as Secretary of War. He has been a great public servant."

Forrestal's name has been mentioned in speculation for the post of Secretary of National Defense which would be created under unification. This official would have cabinet status and there would be three secretaries, without cabinet rank, for the Departments of War, Navy and Air.

The name of W. Stuart Symington, assistant secretary of war for air, also has been mentioned in speculation on a head for the unified service setup.

UN Lacks Facts To Prove Alien Unit In Greece

Balkan Question Gets Top Priority

LAKE SUCCESS, July 18 (AP) — A United Nations team reported today it had found "little first-hand evidence" to support Greek charges that detachments of an "international brigade" had invaded Greece from Albanian territory.

The report was received at U. N. Headquarters as the Security Council wound up general debate on the Balkans issue and cleared the way for a showdown, possibly late next week, on a U. S. proposal to establish an international watch on Greece's northern border.

Schedule Announced

Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, council president, announced a schedule of five meetings for next week, beginning with two Tuesday. He said the case would be kept before the delegates until final action is taken.

Shortly after Alexandre Parodi, of France, had complained in the council that the delegates had not received reports from their subsidiary commission left in the Balkan area, the U. N. said the group had received a report from a team sent to the zone of fighting in Greece.

The team, this report said, telegraphed from Ioannina July 16 that it had made a preliminary investigation of Greek charges that an "international brigade" was involved in the invasion and had found little evidence to back them up.

On the basis of the team's report the Subsidiary Commission decided to leave today for Ioannina, focal point of the fighting. The full group plans to study documents gathered at Ioannina by the investigating team.

In the closing moments of the general debate in the council, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia protested once more against a majority report of the U. N. Balkans commission which charged them with supporting guerrilla activities in Greece. They assured the council of their good will, however.

Greece repeated for satisfaction with the commission report.

Lange said a resolution offered by the United States would be taken up first. The U. S. has proposed creation of a semi-permanent Balkans Commission to remain in the area but Russia, Poland, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania have expressed strong opposition to any commission.

Get Soviet Resolution

The Soviet Delegation has thrown in a resolution turning down the commission idea and demanding that the Greek government take measures to end the strife.

Faris El Khoury, Syria, appealed to the delegates to try to frame a resolution acceptable to everyone, or shaped so some delegates could at least abstain, so there would be no "deadlock."

The United States, British and French delegates went into a prolonged huddle before the council

Greeks Deal Severe Blows To Guerrillas

Identify Albania As Invasion Base

ATHENS, Greece, July 18. (AP)—Communist-led guerrillas have been cut up into small bands, scattered over a wide area and are suffering severe losses at the hands of the National Air Force while racing to escape pursuing ground forces following the abortive thrust at Ioannina in Epirus, a Greek communique said today.

In the first news conference since the beginning of the fighting in Northern Greece, a spokesman for the Greek General Staff said today there were no elements of an international brigade in the attack by guerrillas and no evidence of attempted creation of a Communist free state as reportedly planned by the "invaders."

Certain Of Invasion Point

The spokesman, Brig. Stylianos Manidakis, said he was "absolutely certain" the "invasion" was from Albania.

Part of the guerrilla force, originally estimated at 2,000 when it began its drive from the Albanian border region last Sunday, was said to be trying to escape to the northeast. Other bands fled to the south.

Units disodged from 7,000-foot-high Mount Gamila, 19 miles north of Ioannina, were described as scattered over an arc of 16 miles in the foothills of Mount Timfi.

Farther north, press dispatches said, Greek Spitfires caught a band of 800 fleeing through a ravine in the southern foothills of Mount Smolikas and killed at least 245 while 300 more were captured by ground troops.

Remnants fled south toward Metsovo, a stronghold of the Elas, military branch of the EAM (National Liberation Front) during the German occupation, and northeast toward the heights of Mount Smolikas.

Military sources said the army was in position to cut off both lines of retreat.

Commit Brutal Crimes

The communique said fleeing "bandits, passing through villages, committed crimes of unimaginable brutality. Villages were pillaged and many inhabitants killed."

George Stratos, War Minister, told a cabinet meeting last night that the general staff expected a second and more serious invasion by guerrillas. The government said the thrust at Ioannina came from across the Albanian border.

(A dispatch by Tass, official Soviet News Agency, declared 15,000 persons had been arrested in a roundup of Communists in Greece, and said a huge concentration camp was being erected on the Island of Nikaria, near the coast of Turkey.)

Pilot Dies In Jet Plane Accident

CARRIZOZO, N. M., July 18 (AP)—An army P-80 jet plane crashed into a gasoline station today, killing the pilot and injuring five other persons.

Sheriff Nick Vega said two of the injured were burned critically as the plane's fuel exploded and set fire to the station.

He named them as Joe Drake, about 25, and the eight-year-old son of Fred Dale, both living nearby.

At March Field, Calif., Army Air Base, the pilot was identified as Capt. Floyd G. Soule, 28, adjutant of the 73rd Fighter Squadron. His widow, Hilda, and three children live in Riversdale, Calif., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Soule, in Free Soil, Mich.

Soule was enroute from March Field to San Antonio, Tex.

The plane, which landed here two days earlier when its fuel ran low, struck the living quarters of a filling station operated by Albert Roberts at the north edge of town.

Erupting flames enveloped Drake and the Dale child almost at once, Sheriff Vega said. He described their condition as critical.

At least three others also were taken to a hospital here with lesser injuries. One was a woman, Mrs. Pick Warden, hit by a light truck abandoned by its driver in the excitement.

Congress To Study Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, July 18 — (AP) — A worldwide study of United States foreign policy was approved today by the House Rules Committee after it heard Rep. Eaton (R-N.J.) declare, "we are in sight of a shooting war at this minute—in Greece."

The committee cleared for House debate two resolutions asked by Eaton, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, to send members of Congress abroad during the summer recess to get their own information on the nation's policies in action.

The white-haired Eaton, a former clergyman, flushed and rose half out of his chair to pound on the table as he told the Rules Committee in measured tones:

"The Russians, as a result of the Marshall plan, have taken off their masks. There are alien armed forces now in Greece.

"Either America will stand and hold the fort, or Russia will take over. If Russia takes over, the destiny of mankind is once more at stake."

One resolution would authorize foreign affairs subcommittees to investigate areas of the world under their jurisdiction. They would take with them sufficient staff help to assemble information on United States operations in those areas. There would be no limit on their activities.

The other would create a special 19-member House Committee, which would include representatives of other House Standing Committees, such as appropriations and public works, as well as foreign affairs.

This group would study specifically "the actual and prospective needs of foreign nations and peoples, both for relief in terms of food, clothing, and of economic rehabilitation."

Increased Fares For Railroads Gets Approval

15 To 25 Percent Hike Recommended

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—Increases of 15 to 25 per cent in the railroad commutation fares of a group of carriers in the Eastern half of the country were given approval in an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner's report today.

The examiner, Burton Fuller, recommended that the railroads be permitted to make the increases on commutation and other multiple tickets effective on five days' notice. The commission, which usually follows the recommendations of examiners in such cases, has yet to act on the matter.

The boosts were sought in connection with the recent proceeding in which 60 eastern lines were granted authority to raise basic one-way passenger fares by 10 percent. The lines handling commuter traffic contended that the adjustments asked on commutation service would roughly correspond to the basic passenger fare increases of 10 per cent each authorized by ICC in 1942 and this year.

Generally, Fuller recommended about what was asked, except that in many cases he suggested the application of two types of monthly tickets, one for unrestricted use, the other not good on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, in recognition of the five-day week.

He described the proposed changes as "just and reasonable" and necessary to require this type of traffic to make a "fair contribution" to increased railroad operating costs.

The increases would affect every major metropolitan center in the east.

The lines petitioning for the changes are the New Haven Railroad; New York Central and its subsidiaries Boston and Albany and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie; Lehigh Valley; The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western; The Erie; the New York, Susquehanna and Western; Jersey Central; Long Island Railroad Company; Reading Company; Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines; Baltimore and Ohio; Chicago South Shore and South Bend; and Boston and Maine.

Walker To Head U. S. Naval Alumni

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 18. (AP)—D. S. Walker, New York City, was elected president of the U. S. Naval Academy Alumni Association at a meeting of the board of trustees today.

Walker, member of the academy's class of 1924, is vice president of the Combustion Engineering Company.

Senate Puts Vet's Bills On Must List

To Study Cashing Of Terminal Pay

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — Day and night sessions of the Senate next week were agreed upon by Republican leaders today as they clung to plans for adjournment of Congress on July 26—a week from Saturday.

Biggest change in previous Senate plans, made at a strategy session of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, was addition of a number of Veterans Bills to the "must list" of legislation.

Among these is the House-approved plan to permit immediate payment of some $1,800,000,000 of terminal pay bonds now held by veterans of World War II.

"I see no reason why we should not finish next week," Senator Taft (R-Ohio), told reporters who waited nearly two-hours outside the Policy Committee closed-door session. Taft heads the committee.

He left a possible loophole if plans go awry.

"We are not going to let somebody hold a gun at our heads," Taft said in an apparent threat against any last minute filibuster or similar delaying tactics possible under the Senate's unlimited debate rules.

Taft smiled at suggestions that Senate-House disputes over a group of appropriations bills might prevent adjournment. These are the measures that supply funds for government agencies for the fiscal year that began July 1.

"The end of the session is a hot time," Taft said. "There are at least 100 bills and each one is urgent."

Taft listed this program for the Senate:

Continued pressure on the Senate to approve a probe of actions by the Justice Department in its investigation of the Kansas City

Warden Who Shot Prisoner Is Freed

BRUNSWICK, Ga., July 18 (AP) — A Superior Court Grand Jury today exonerated Warden H. G. Worthy and five guards in the slaying of eight negro convicts in a mass escape attempt at a highway prison camp a week ago.

The 23-member grand jury returned a special presentment which said evidence "showed the warden and guards were justified in their action under the circumstances."

The warden and guards opened fire with shotguns when 27 negroes, who had balked at road work, attempted to flee the prison camp. Five were killed instantly, and three died later in a hospital. Five others were wounded.

Warden Worthy said the break attempt and the volleys from the officers' guns followed an attempt of one of the convicts, Willie E. Bell, to charge and disarm him. The warden shot Bell in the leg.

At a coroner's inquest, Bell testified that Warden Worthy was "half drunk" and "wanted to kill me."

The grand jury presentment said the investigation found no evidence to support the charge that Worthy had been drinking.

The jury said the prisoners assigned to the camp in Southwest Georgia "were the most unruly and undisciplined in the state." The presentment quoted one prisoner as saying when he was transferred to Brunswick, "we want to get away, one way or another."

The jury reported it had "acted to the best of its ability" to "get at the bottom" of the fatal shooting. Thirty witnesses were questioned, including Bell and other convicts, Warden Worthy, guards, and county police.

California Man Killed On Jew Refugee Vessel

Immigrants Taken To Haifa In Ship

HAIFA, PALESTINE, July 18—(AP) —Five British destroyers brought 4,500 Jewish immigrants into Haifa aboard their battered old excursion streamer today after a violent hours-long sea battle in which the Jews said two boarding parties were defeated.

A British officer said two Jews were killed in the battle and that Walter Bernstein, 24, of Los Angeles, Calif., a former U. S. merchant seaman who served as first mate of the immigrant ship, died later of head injuries when one boarding party invaded the deckhouse. The other two victims were passengers.

17 Jews Injured

Seventeen Jews, all with club and gunshot wounds, were seriously injured and taken to a Haifa hospital.

A British announcement said three members of the 50-man boarding party were injured in the battle—in which smoke bombs, steam jets, fuel oil and even fireworks were used, and tear gas and small arms employed by both sides.

At the height of the fight heavy liferafts were cut loose by the refugee ship and sent plunging onto destroyer decks. Her "evasive" maneuvering caused repeated collisions with the destroyers, some of which were damaged.

As soon as the ship, a former Chesapeake Bay excursion vessel docked, British troops began the trans-shipment of the 4,550 immigrants to troop transports for deportation to Cyprus.

Dirty and disheveled, the refugees left their ship—the former President Warfield, renamed "European Exodus of 1947"—and walked across 30 feet of their "promised land" to the British deportation vessels. The Jews came into the harbor singing.

Some of the refugees and the British marines of the boarding party wore bloodstained bandages. The march of the Jews across the dock was witnessed by Emil Sandstroem, chairman of the United Nations Special Commission on Palestine, and Vladimir Simitch, the Yugoslav delegate on the commission.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine and Hagana, the Jewish underground defense organization, both had appealed to the commission to witness the trans-shipment.

Reports Two Deaths

The British officer who reported the two deaths was a member of the boarding party. Three bodies were found aboard, he said, explaining that one was a woman who died in childbirth during the journey. He said the other two were killed when the marines resorted to gunfire to counter tear gas and revolvers used by the refugees. A

GOP Promptly Tosses Issue Into Campaign

Hears Warning Of European Blow Up

WASHINGTON, July 18 — (AP) — Warned that Russia's behavior may lead to a "blow-up" in Europe, the Senate today upheld President Truman's second veto and killed the Republican backed bill to cut taxes by $4,000,000,000 for 49,000,000 taxpayers.

A powerful Republican-Democratic Senate coalition rolled up a 57 to 36 vote to override the veto, but this fell five votes short of the two-thirds majority required by the constitution to upset a Presidential objection to legislation.

House Overrides Veto

Earlier, a similar House coalition amassed a thumping 299 to 108—28 more than two-thirds—to overturn the veto in that body. But this saved the tax bill from the scrap heap only long enough for the Senate to vote.

But as Mr. Truman won his veto battle, Republicans promptly tossed the tax issue into the 1948 Presidential campaign. Senate Democratic Leader Barkley, of Kentucky, responded: "If that be so, so be it."

The President, in his veto message, pleaded that Congress kill the bill because recent international developments have exposed this country to greater international "risk". He declared:

"I regard the present bill as unsound and unsafe. I also regard it as unfair."

Barkley, just before the Senate voted, declared if the situation "blows up" in Europe, the American people will be reluctant to buy bonds to support this country in another emergency if the government's credit is destroyed.

The Democratic leader declared Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia had "sabotaged" the Paris Conference on European Rehabilitation, and pleaded that the President's veto be supported in the interest of "our own domestic economy and our obligations to mankind."

Against Republican claims that taxes can be cut $4,000,000,000 in 1948, and $5,000,000,000 be paid on the debt at the same time, Barkley said he doubted that any debt payment can be made next year if taxes are cut now.

The five-vote margin by which the Presidential veto was sustained represented a switch of three votes from the Senate tally when it passed the bill last Monday, 60 to 32.

Senators Tydings (D-Md.) unstead (D-N.C.) and Aiken (R-Vt.), who had voted for the tax reduction then, switched to uphold the Presidential veto. The other vote to sustain came from Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) who was in Europe when the last vote was taken.

Voting to override the veto today were 47 Republicans and 10 Democrats. For sustaining were 33 Democrats and 3 Republicans.

Aiken Changes Vote

Aiken was the only Republican to switch his vote today; Senators Morse (R-Ore.) and Langer (R-N.D.) previously had opposed the bill and continued to oppose it today.

Tydings said he had decided to uphold the veto because of what he termed a dangerous international situation.

The tall Marylander in a lengthy speech said the United States "ought to keep a gun behind the door for the next 12 months." He said the way to do this was to keep any surplus tax funds in the Treasury.

The 1948 Presidential campaign entered the House debate when Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the Ways and Means Committee, tax cut author, shouted: "This prob-

Judge Frees Prisoner So He Can Get Sleep

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—Because a Superior Court Judge couldn't sleep at night from worrying over a jail sentence he imposed on a war veteran for being behind in alimony payments, Harold Secor was free today.

Judge John J. Lupe sentenced Secor, 35, 11 days ago to a six months jail sentence on charges of molesting his wife, Stella, 29, and for being $325 behind in support.

"Tomorrow I start on my vacation. With you out of pail, I'll be able to get a little sleep for a change," the judge told Secor.

Truman Selects Air Policy Board To Study Best Aviation Benefits

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — President Truman selected a five-man Air Policy Board today and gave it the job of finding what course of action will bring "the greatest possible benefits from aviation."

The aviation industry has dwindled since the war and Mr. Truman wrote the five appointees that "there exists a grave danger that our national security may be jeopardized and our economic welfare diminished through a lowered aircraft production and a failure of the aircraft industry to keep abreast of modern methods."

Mr. Truman said there is an "urgent need at this time for an evaluation of the course which the United States should follow in order to obtain, for itself and the world, the greatest possible benefits from aviation."

Members of the board are:

Thomas K. Finletter, New York attorney who will be chairman.

Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor Company.

Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post.

Arthur Dare Whiteside of New York, president of Dun and Bradstreet.

Speculation That Bradley Will Succeed Eisenhower Is Increasing

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—A White House announcement bolstered speculation today that Gen. Omar N Bradley, war-time commander of American Ground Forces in Europe, may succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Army Chief of Staff.

The announcement said Bradley, now serving as chief of the Veterans Administration, will leave next month on a six-week tour to inspect United States Army troops and installations in Europe and the Mediterranean Area.

The trip was seen as a possible "refresher course" for Bradley to brush up on current Army problems in preparation for the Chief-of-Staff post. Eisenhower announced last June 24 that he will leave the top Army job to accept the presidency of Columbia University, New York, effective next year.

Bradley, now 54, served as Eisenhower's immediate subordinate in directing American troops in the Normandy invasion and the subsequent drive into Germany. He took over the huge and complex task of guiding the Veterans Administration on August 9, 1945.

The White House announcement said Bradley will make the trip at the invitation of Secretary of War Patterson and that he will "resume his duties in the Veterans Administration" upon his return.

House Passes European Aid Measure Fast

To Aid Recovery, Stem Communism

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The House swiftly passed tonight an omnibus appropriations measure, bundling up $1,353,024,900 in funds to carry out the United States' tri-pronged program to speed Europe's recovery, help the hungry and homeless and stem the spread of Communism.

The action came on voice vote just an hour after its consideration began—perhaps a peacetime record for disposing of a measure of its magnitude and international implications. It goes now to the Senate.

The final action came after the House shouted down a motion by Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill) to attach an amendment denying any aid to countries which fail to "co-operate" in the Marshall Plan for Europe's recovery.

Rep. Keefe Protests

Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) protested that the amendment would "commit" Congress in support of the Marshall Plan at a time when it knows nothing of its details, and before the Paris Conference on its operation has been completed.

Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House Appropriations Committee asked:

"What is the Marshall Plan and is there a Marshall Plan?"

(Secretary of State Marshall has proposed that Europe draw up a recovery program of its own, with the United States standing by to give any aid it deems practicable. A conference is being held at Paris now on this "Marshall Plan.")

Taber declared that countries under Russian domination will be denied American relief "unless they turn over a new leaf."

Against the background of testimony—some secret, some public—he spoke particularly of Poland, but said that other countries, too, in the Soviet bloc "must show that they are willing to co-operate with nations which believe in freedom."

The foreign spending program had emerged from Taber's Committee with few major reductions from amounts sought by Army and Diplomatic chiefs—and the House ratified the committee's decisions.

Eliminate $18,000,000

Taber said the committee specifically had eliminated $18,000,000 from the previously-authorized $350,000,000 for foreign relief to cut out money originally intended for countries economically and ideologically associated with Russia.

This apparently would apply to Hungary, since its recent change in government, as well as to Poland. Both had been named in the relief bill, as potential recipients of the American aid.

The biggest barrier to passage of the measure was removed early in the evening when Rep. Case (R-SD) dropped plans to attempt to attach a rider calling for a flood control program. He said he had been assured hearings on the control plans would be held next week.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), ranking Democrat on the committee, took the floor to declare that "other nations across the sea look with covetous eyes" at America's wealth.

"The only reason they don't come over here and take it away, put us in concentration camps, hang us to the nearest telephone pole is that they lack the power to do it," he said.

Cannon contended that if war could be prevented by "dollars instead of men, then let's make that investment."

President Signs Succession Bill

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — President Truman today signed a bill changing the 60-year-old law of succession for the Presidency and in effect designating House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., (R-Mass) as the No. 1 replacement for the White House.

Under the new law, Martin would become President in the event Mr. Truman does not finish his terms—something Martin says he hopes will not happen.

A member of Congress since 1924 Martin is 62—six months younger than Mr. Truman—and a bachelor. He is publisher of the North Attleboro, Mass., Evening Chronicle.

Patterson Quits Job As Secretary Of War

Royall Named To Fill Post

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — Grizzled "Judge" Robert P. Patterson quit his job of Secretary of War today, ending a seven-year government service which President Truman called "magnificent."

In a letter to the President, Patterson asked that the resignation become effective not later than next Thursday. Mr. Truman, accepting, immediately nominated Undersecretary of War Kenneth C. Royall of North Carolina to succeed the New Yorker.

Patterson, a leading advocate of armed forces unification in the long argument over that proposal, told Mr. Truman that he had waited to resign until it appeared the unification bill would become law.

With that, he added, "The time has come to lay down the duties I have borne for seven years as assistant secretary, undersecretary and secretary of war."

Recalls Patterson's Zeal

Mr. Truman, who once headed the Senate's War Investigating Committee, remembered Patterson's zeal as undersecretary in equipping the Army with the tools to fight World War II. He wrote Patterson that "how well you acquitted yourself in that vital task is attested by the results." And, said the President, when Henry L. Stimson resigned (in September 1945) and he appointed Patterson to succeed him "I was comfortable in the knowledge that the administration of the War Department would be carried on with the same zeal and efficiency that he demonstrated."

Patterson in recent months has shown some of the strain of his wartime service and the problems of demobilization and unification. New lines have appeared in his already craggy countenance and he chews his ever-present gum with nervous energy.

Patterson's is the second resignation from top levels of the War Department within the week. On Monday, Assistant Secretary Howard C. Petersen, in charge of the Army's occupation and civil affairs problems overseas, sent his resignation to the White House, effective July 31.

Royall said in a statement after announcement of Patterson's resignation by the White House:

"My appreciation to the President for sending my name to the Senate as secretary of war is mixed with deep regret at the War Department and the government losing the services of Judge Patterson."

Forrestal Issues Statement

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal issued a statement on Patterson's departure, saying:

"Everyone in government, whether in the executive or legislative branches, will share the President's expression of profound regret at the resignation of Robert C. Patterson as Secretary of War. He has been a great public servant."

Forrestal's name has been mentioned in speculation for the post of Secretary of National Defense which would be created under unification. This official would have cabinet status and there would be three secretaries, without cabinet rank, for the Departments of War, Navy and Air.

The name of W. Stuart Symington, assistant secretary of war for air, also has been mentioned in speculation on a head for the unified service setup.

UN Lacks Facts To Prove Alien Unit In Greece

Balkan Question Gets Top Priority

LAKE SUCCESS, July 18 (AP) — A United Nations team reported today it had found "little first-hand evidence" to support Greek charges that detachments of an "international brigade" had invaded Greece from Albanian territory.

The report was received at U. N. Headquarters as the Security Council wound up general debate on the Balkans issue and cleared the way for a showdown, possibly late next week, on a U. S. proposal to establish an international watch on Greece's northern border.

Schedule Announced

Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, council president, announced a schedule of five meetings for next week, beginning with two Tuesday. He said the case would be kept before the delegates until final action is taken.

Shortly after Alexandre Parodi, of France, had complained in the council that the delegates had not received reports from their subsidiary commission left in the Balkan area, the U. N. said the group had received a report from a team sent to the zone of fighting in Greece.

The team, this report said, telegraphed from Ioannina July 16 that it had made a preliminary investigation of Greek charges that an "international brigade" was involved in the invasion and had found little evidence to back them up.

On the basis of the team's report the Subsidiary Commission decided to leave today for Ioannina, focal point of the fighting. The full group plans to study documents gathered at Ioannina by the investigating team.

In the closing moments of the general debate in the council, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia protested once more against a majority report of the U. N. Balkans commission which charged them with supporting guerrilla activities in Greece. They assured the council of their good will, however.

Greece repeated for satisfaction with the commission report.

Lange said a resolution offered by the United States would be taken up first. The U. S. has proposed creation of a semi-permanent Balkans Commission to remain in the area but Russia, Poland, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania have expressed strong opposition to any commission.

Get Soviet Resolution

The Soviet Delegation has thrown in a resolution turning down the commission idea and demanding that the Greek government take measures to end the strife.

Faris El Khoury, Syria, appealed to the delegates to try to frame a resolution acceptable to everyone, or shaped so some delegates could at least abstain, so there would be no "deadlock."

The United States, British and French delegates went into a prolonged huddle before the council

Identify Albania As Invasion Base

ATHENS, Greece, July 18. (AP)—Communist-led guerrillas have been cut up into small bands, scattered over a wide area and are suffering severe losses at the hands of the National Air Force while racing to escape pursuing ground forces following the abortive thrust at Ioannina in Epirus, a Greek communique said today.

In the first news conference since the beginning of the fighting in Northern Greece, a spokesman for the Greek General Staff said today there were no elements of an international brigade in the attack by guerrillas and no evidence of attempted creation of a Communist free state as reportedly planned by the "invaders."

Certain Of Invasion Point

The spokesman, Brig. Stylianos Manidakis, said he was "absolutely certain" the "invasion" was from Albania.

Part of the guerrilla force, originally estimated at 2,000 when it began its drive from the Albanian border region last Sunday, was said to be trying to escape to the northeast. Other bands fled to the south.

Units disodged from 7,000-foot-high Mount Gamila, 19 miles north of Ioannina, were described as scattered over an arc of 16 miles in the foothills of Mount Timfi.

Farther north, press dispatches said, Greek Spitfires caught a band of 800 fleeing through a ravine in the southern foothills of Mount Smolikas and killed at least 245 while 300 more were captured by ground troops.

Remnants fled south toward Metsovo, a stronghold of the Elas, military branch of the EAM (National Liberation Front) during the German occupation, and northeast toward the heights of Mount Smolikas.

Military sources said the army was in position to cut off both lines of retreat.

Commit Brutal Crimes

The communique said fleeing "bandits, passing through villages, committed crimes of unimaginable brutality. Villages were pillaged and many inhabitants killed."

George Stratos, War Minister, told a cabinet meeting last night that the general staff expected a second and more serious invasion by guerrillas. The government said the thrust at Ioannina came from across the Albanian border.

(A dispatch by Tass, official Soviet News Agency, declared 15,000 persons had been arrested in a roundup of Communists in Greece, and said a huge concentration camp was being erected on the Island of Nikaria, near the coast of Turkey.)

Pilot Dies In Jet Plane Accident

CARRIZOZO, N. M., July 18 (AP)—An army P-80 jet plane crashed into a gasoline station today, killing the pilot and injuring five other persons.

Sheriff Nick Vega said two of the injured were burned critically as the plane's fuel exploded and set fire to the station.

He named them as Joe Drake, about 25, and the eight-year-old son of Fred Dale, both living nearby.

At March Field, Calif., Army Air Base, the pilot was identified as Capt. Floyd G. Soule, 28, adjutant of the 73rd Fighter Squadron. His widow, Hilda, and three children live in Riversdale, Calif., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Soule, in Free Soil, Mich.

Soule was enroute from March Field to San Antonio, Tex.

The plane, which landed here two days earlier when its fuel ran low, struck the living quarters of a filling station operated by Albert Roberts at the north edge of town.

Erupting flames enveloped Drake and the Dale child almost at once, Sheriff Vega said. He described their condition as critical.

At least three others also were taken to a hospital here with lesser injuries. One was a woman, Mrs. Pick Warden, hit by a light truck abandoned by its driver in the excitement.

Congress To Study Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, July 18 — (AP) — A worldwide study of United States foreign policy was approved today by the House Rules Committee after it heard Rep. Eaton (R-N.J.) declare, "we are in sight of a shooting war at this minute—in Greece."

The committee cleared for House debate two resolutions asked by Eaton, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, to send members of Congress abroad during the summer recess to get their own information on the nation's policies in action.

The white-haired Eaton, a former clergyman, flushed and rose half out of his chair to pound on the table as he told the Rules Committee in measured tones:

"The Russians, as a result of the Marshall plan, have taken off their masks. There are alien armed forces now in Greece.

"Either America will stand and hold the fort, or Russia will take over. If Russia takes over, the destiny of mankind is once more at stake."

One resolution would authorize foreign affairs subcommittees to investigate areas of the world under their jurisdiction. They would take with them sufficient staff help to assemble information on United States operations in those areas. There would be no limit on their activities.

The other would create a special 19-member House Committee, which would include representatives of other House Standing Committees, such as appropriations and public works, as well as foreign affairs.

This group would study specifically "the actual and prospective needs of foreign nations and peoples, both for relief in terms of food, clothing, and of economic rehabilitation."

Increased Fares For Railroads Gets Approval

15 To 25 Percent Hike Recommended

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—Increases of 15 to 25 per cent in the railroad commutation fares of a group of carriers in the Eastern half of the country were given approval in an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner's report today.

The examiner, Burton Fuller, recommended that the railroads be permitted to make the increases on commutation and other multiple tickets effective on five days' notice. The commission, which usually follows the recommendations of examiners in such cases, has yet to act on the matter.

The boosts were sought in connection with the recent proceeding in which 60 eastern lines were granted authority to raise basic one-way passenger fares by 10 percent. The lines handling commuter traffic contended that the adjustments asked on commutation service would roughly correspond to the basic passenger fare increases of 10 per cent each authorized by ICC in 1942 and this year.

Generally, Fuller recommended about what was asked, except that in many cases he suggested the application of two types of monthly tickets, one for unrestricted use, the other not good on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, in recognition of the five-day week.

He described the proposed changes as "just and reasonable" and necessary to require this type of traffic to make a "fair contribution" to increased railroad operating costs.

The increases would affect every major metropolitan center in the east.

The lines petitioning for the changes are the New Haven Railroad; New York Central and its subsidiaries Boston and Albany and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie; Lehigh Valley; The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western; The Erie; the New York, Susquehanna and Western; Jersey Central; Long Island Railroad Company; Reading Company; Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines; Baltimore and Ohio; Chicago South Shore and South Bend; and Boston and Maine.

To Study Cashing Of Terminal Pay

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — Day and night sessions of the Senate next week were agreed upon by Republican leaders today as they clung to plans for adjournment of Congress on July 26—a week from Saturday.

Biggest change in previous Senate plans, made at a strategy session of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, was addition of a number of Veterans Bills to the "must list" of legislation.

Among these is the House-approved plan to permit immediate payment of some $1,800,000,000 of terminal pay bonds now held by veterans of World War II.

"I see no reason why we should not finish next week," Senator Taft (R-Ohio), told reporters who waited nearly two-hours outside the Policy Committee closed-door session. Taft heads the committee.

He left a possible loophole if plans go awry.

"We are not going to let somebody hold a gun at our heads," Taft said in an apparent threat against any last minute filibuster or similar delaying tactics possible under the Senate's unlimited debate rules.

Taft smiled at suggestions that Senate-House disputes over a group of appropriations bills might prevent adjournment. These are the measures that supply funds for government agencies for the fiscal year that began July 1.

"The end of the session is a hot time," Taft said. "There are at least 100 bills and each one is urgent."

Taft listed this program for the Senate:

Continued pressure on the Senate to approve a probe of actions by the Justice Department in its investigation of the Kansas City

Warden Who Shot Prisoner Is Freed

BRUNSWICK, Ga., July 18 (AP) — A Superior Court Grand Jury today exonerated Warden H. G. Worthy and five guards in the slaying of eight negro convicts in a mass escape attempt at a highway prison camp a week ago.

The 23-member grand jury returned a special presentment which said evidence "showed the warden and guards were justified in their action under the circumstances."

The warden and guards opened fire with shotguns when 27 negroes, who had balked at road work, attempted to flee the prison camp. Five were killed instantly, and three died later in a hospital. Five others were wounded.

Warden Worthy said the break attempt and the volleys from the officers' guns followed an attempt of one of the convicts, Willie E. Bell, to charge and disarm him. The warden shot Bell in the leg.

At a coroner's inquest, Bell testified that Warden Worthy was "half drunk" and "wanted to kill me."

The grand jury presentment said the investigation found no evidence to support the charge that Worthy had been drinking.

The jury said the prisoners assigned to the camp in Southwest Georgia "were the most unruly and undisciplined in the state." The presentment quoted one prisoner as saying when he was transferred to Brunswick, "we want to get away, one way or another."

The jury reported it had "acted to the best of its ability" to "get at the bottom" of the fatal shooting. Thirty witnesses were questioned, including Bell and other convicts, Warden Worthy, guards, and county police.

California Man Killed On Jew Refugee Vessel

Immigrants Taken To Haifa In Ship

HAIFA, PALESTINE, July 18—(AP)—Five British destroyers brought 4,500 Jewish immigrants into Haifa aboard their battered old excursion streamer today after a violent hours-long sea battle in which the Jews said two boarding parties were defeated.

A British officer said two Jews were killed in the battle and that Walter Bernstein, 24, of Los Angeles, Calif., a former U. S. merchant seaman who served as first mate of the immigrant ship, died later of head injuries when one boarding party invaded the deckhouse. The other two victims were passengers.

17 Jews Injured

Seventeen Jews, all with club and gunshot wounds, were seriously injured and taken to a Haifa hospital.

A British announcement said three members of the 50-man boarding party were injured in the battle—in which smoke bombs, steam jets, fuel oil and even fireworks were used, and tear gas and small arms employed by both sides.

At the height of the fight heavy liferafts were cut loose by the refugee ship and sent plunging onto destroyer decks. Her "evasive" maneuvering caused repeated collisions with the destroyers, some of which were damaged.

As soon as the ship, a former Chesapeake Bay excursion vessel docked, British troops began the trans-shipment of the 4,550 immigrants to troop transports for deportation to Cyprus.

Dirty and disheveled, the refugees left their ship—the former President Warfield, renamed "European Exodus of 1947"—and walked across 30 feet of their "promised land" to the British deportation vessels. The Jews came into the harbor singing.

Some of the refugees and the British marines of the boarding party wore bloodstained bandages. The march of the Jews across the dock was witnessed by Emil Sandstroem, chairman of the United Nations Special Commission on Palestine, and Vladimir Simitch, the Yugoslav delegate on the commission.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine and Hagana, the Jewish underground defense organization, both had appealed to the commission to witness the trans-shipment.

Reports Two Deaths

The British officer who reported the two deaths was a member of the boarding party. Three bodies were found aboard, he said, explaining that one was a woman who died in childbirth during the journey. He said the other two were killed when the marines resorted to gunfire to counter tear gas and revolvers used by the refugees. A

Hears Warning Of European Blow Up

WASHINGTON, July 18 — (AP) — Warned that Russia's behavior may lead to a "blow-up" in Europe, the Senate today upheld President Truman's second veto and killed the Republican backed bill to cut taxes by $4,000,000,000 for 49,000,000 taxpayers.

A powerful Republican-Democratic Senate coalition rolled up a 57 to 36 vote to override the veto, but this fell five votes short of the two-thirds majority required by the constitution to upset a Presidential objection to legislation.

House Overrides Veto

Earlier, a similar House coalition amassed a thumping 299 to 108—28 more than two-thirds—to overturn the veto in that body. But this saved the tax bill from the scrap heap only long enough for the Senate to vote.

But as Mr. Truman won his veto battle, Republicans promptly tossed the tax issue into the 1948 Presidential campaign. Senate Democratic Leader Barkley, of Kentucky, responded: "If that be so, so be it."

The President, in his veto message, pleaded that Congress kill the bill because recent international developments have exposed this country to greater international "risk". He declared:

"I regard the present bill as unsound and unsafe. I also regard it as unfair."

Barkley, just before the Senate voted, declared if the situation "blows up" in Europe, the American people will be reluctant to buy bonds to support this country in another emergency if the government's credit is destroyed.

The Democratic leader declared Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia had "sabotaged" the Paris Conference on European Rehabilitation, and pleaded that the President's veto be supported in the interest of "our own domestic economy and our obligations to mankind."

Against Republican claims that taxes can be cut $4,000,000,000 in 1948, and $5,000,000,000 be paid on the debt at the same time, Barkley said he doubted that any debt payment can be made next year if taxes are cut now.

The five-vote margin by which the Presidential veto was sustained represented a switch of three votes from the Senate tally when it passed the bill last Monday, 60 to 32.

Senators Tydings (D-Md.) unstead (D-N.C.) and Aiken (R-Vt.), who had voted for the tax reduction then, switched to uphold the Presidential veto. The other vote to sustain came from Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) who was in Europe when the last vote was taken.

Voting to override the veto today were 47 Republicans and 10 Democrats. For sustaining were 33 Democrats and 3 Republicans.

Aiken Changes Vote

Aiken was the only Republican to switch his vote today; Senators Morse (R-Ore.) and Langer (R-N.D.) previously had opposed the bill and continued to oppose it today.

Tydings said he had decided to uphold the veto because of what he termed a dangerous international situation.

The tall Marylander in a lengthy speech said the United States "ought to keep a gun behind the door for the next 12 months." He said the way to do this was to keep any surplus tax funds in the Treasury.

The 1948 Presidential campaign entered the House debate when Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the Ways and Means Committee, tax cut author, shouted: "This prob-

Judge Frees Prisoner So He Can Get Sleep

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—Because a Superior Court Judge couldn't sleep at night from worrying over a jail sentence he imposed on a war veteran for being behind in alimony payments, Harold Secor was free today.

Judge John J. Lupe sentenced Secor, 35, 11 days ago to a six months jail sentence on charges of molesting his wife, Stella, 29, and for being $325 behind in support.

"Tomorrow I start on my vacation. With you out of jail, I'll be able to get a little sleep for a change," the judge told Secor.

Truman Selects Air Policy Board To Study Best Aviation Benefits

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — President Truman selected a five-man Air Policy Board today and gave it the job of finding what course of action will bring "the greatest possible benefits from aviation."

The aviation industry has dwindled since the war and Mr. Truman wrote the five appointees that "there exists a grave danger that our national security may be jeopardized and our economic welfare diminished through a lowered aircraft production and a failure of the aircraft industry to keep abreast of modern methods."

Mr. Truman said there is an "urgent need at this time for an evaluation of the course which the United States should follow in order to obtain, for itself and the world, the greatest possible benefits from aviation."

Members of the board are:

Thomas K. Finletter, New York attorney who will be chairman.

George P. Baker, Harvard University transportation professor who will be vice chairman.

Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor Company.

Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post.

Arthur Dare Whiteside of New York, president of Dun and Bradstreet.

Speculation That Bradley Will Succeed Eisenhower Is Increasing

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—A White House announcement bolstered speculation today that Gen. Omar N Bradley, war-time commander of American Ground Forces in Europe, may succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Army Chief of Staff.

The announcement said Bradley, now serving as chief of the Veterans Administration, will leave next month on a six-week tour to inspect United States Army troops and installations in Europe and the Mediterranean Area.

The trip was seen as a possible "refresher course" for Bradley to brush up on current Army problems in preparation for the Chief-of-Staff post. Eisenhower announced last June 24 that he will leave the top Army job to accept the presidency of Columbia University, New York, effective next year.

Bradley, now 54, served as Eisenhower's immediate subordinate in directing American troops in the Normandy invasion and the subsequent drive into Germany. He took over the huge and complex task of guiding the Veterans Administration on August 9, 1945.

The White House announcement said Bradley will make the trip at the invitation of Secretary of War Patterson and that he will "resume his duties in the Veterans Administration" upon his return.

Surviving 'Big 7' Of Nazi Hierarchy Arrive At Prison

Four Powers Differ On Press Releases

BERLIN, July 18 (AP) — The surviving "big seven" of Hitler's hierarchy, led by Rudolf Hess, finally were brought from Nuernberg and marched into gloomy, red-brick Spandau Prison today after seven months argument among four occupying powers over how they should be treated during ther confinement.

Hardly had the prison gates clanged, when new differences arose. All four powers share administration of Spandau Prison which is in the British sector.

Brought secretly to Gatow Airfield at 8:30 a. m., bundled into a bus under heavy guard and rushed to prison with an escort of armored cars and truckloads of soldiers were Hess, one-time deputy fuehrer, Walter Funk, former economics minister, former grand Admiral Erich Raeder, all sentenced to life terms by the Nuernberg International Military Tribunal; Baldur Von Schirach, ex-youth leader, and Albert Speer, former arms production chief, who received 20 years each; Baron Constantin Von Neurath, former "protector of Bohemia and Moravia," who is to serve 10 to 15 years, and former Admiral Karl Doenitz, who bears a 10 year sentence.

Newspaper correspondents, eager to get details of the return of the "big seven" to the capital where they once had strutted, rushed to the prison in time to find that American, British, French and Soviet officials already were in disagreement over the wording of the communique which would announce the transfer.

The Russians did not want anything told except the bare fact that the seven had arrived. The others wanted to be more liberal with details.

The Russians won, and the result was a one-sentence communique, issued seven hours after the Nazis reached Berlin.

"The Russians even refused to mention the Nazis by name in the communique," an American official said. "We'll let it go at that."

French prison personnel found the prisoners' baggage contained quantities of American cigars and cigarettes, obtained at Nuernberg as regular prisoner of war rations. Another row arose.

Said one Frenchman, "why, we never get any decent import tobacco, so why should these Nazis have it."

The Russians supported the French. The Americans said they assumed the Nazis and their tobacco would be permanently parted.

WARNS OF CRASH—Testifying in Washington before the Congressional Committee on the Economic Report, former OPA chief Leon Henderson declared a business collapse threatens the nation. He said prices had outrun wages and that the GOP rent control extension bill would add to inflationary trends.

570 Persons Are Believed Dead In Ship Sinking

150 Survivors Are Reported In Bombay

BOMBAY, India, July 18 (AP) — An estimated 570 persons were missing and believed dead today in the sinking of the 400-ton coastal Essel Ramdas which capsized in the storm-swept mouth of Bombay Harbor Thursday.

Officials of the Indian Co-operative Navigation and Trading Company, LTD., which owned the ill-fated vessel, said there were about 150 survivors out of 721 passengers and crewmen reported aboard at the time of the disaster—one of the worst in Indian shipping history.

Can't Confirm Report

They said they still had been unable to confirm a report that 20 additional survivors had made their way to Mandva, a small village near the scene of the sinking. Another unconfirmed report said the body of a white woman was washed ashore at Mandva. Three Europeans — a man, woman and child—were reported among the passengers.

Earlier in the day R. D. Thathi, traffic manager of the Bombay Steam Navigation Company which is affiliated with the owning company, estimated the number of survivors at "about 100." He said search parties had picked up 20 bodies.

The exhausted survivors, many of whom were injured, were being collected and cared for in the villages of Alibagh, Rewas, Dharamatar, Karanja and Pirwadi as well as in Bombay.

There were indications that the exact number of dead may never be known. One company source said it was possible there were more passengers aboard than the number of tickets indicated since persons frequently have slipped on the vessel without paying fares.

The disaster occurred as the 11-year-old steamer neared the end of her 45-minute run across the harbor from Bombay to Rewas.

Brought to Bombay tonight Capt. Saikn Suleman gave this account of the accident:

He said he had slowed the Ramdas in anticipation of turning when a heavy swell struck the ship on the starboard side. The passengers rushed toward the port side causing the ship to list. Another swell struck and the vessel capsized.

Pocomoke City Woman Held In Mate's Death

POCOMOKE CITY, Md., July 18. (AP)—Mrs. Timothy W. Laughery was ordered held without bail for grand jury action on a charge of killing her 35-year-old former husband today, several hours after Laughery, a chicken raiser, was found dead of five bullet wounds.

She waived a preliminary hearing and was taken to the Somerset County Jail at Princess Anne.

House Deadlocked Over Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — The House spent seven hours and went through seven roll-call votes today without breaking its deadlock with the Senate over the near-billion dollar Agriculture Department Appropriation Bill for the fiscal year which started July 1.

It compromised to the extent of almost $100,000,000 on soil conservation payments but stood pat on other major items in dispute as it returned the measure to the Senate to see if that body would yield.

Naval Architect Dies

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—George E. Penn, 55, former Naval architect, died yesterday after a long illness. He was born in Glyndon, Md.

Children Will Pray Because They Live

PITTSBURGH, July 18. (AP)—Four teen-age boys, after a terrifying, mile-long trip through a storm-swollen sewer, said today they'd "keep on praying" because their lives were spared.

"We had no idea where the sewer would end but we sure prayed for daylight," declared William Dorrity, 14.

The boys took refuge in a culvert last night after a torrential rain struck. An almost solid wall of water hit them. Clinging together, struggling to keep their heads above the water, the boys were swept the entire length of the sewer and out into a creek, where a railroad worker helped them to safety.

Brush burns and bruises were their only injuries.

Police Seek Man In Strangling Case

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 18 (AP)—Information from a Navy sailor and a Marine was obtained by police today as they sought the strangler of Mrs. Marian Davidson Newton, 36, Vancouver, B. C., divorcee, apparently raped before she was killed.

Also wanted for questioning was a dark-haired man with whom the auburn-haired woman was reported to have left a night club Wednesday.

Polict Lt. Ed Dieckmann, head of the homicide squad, said the case was "another of a bar-room pickup and murder" and followed the general pattern of eight other violent deaths to women in Southern California since January 15.

Police said they also would like information from a man with whom Mrs. Newton recently posed for a photograph in Tijuana, Mex. The man wore a photographer's stock Mexican hat with "Sugar Daddy" across the brim.

The hat was termed "tourist stuff" by detectives.

Mrs. Newton's body was found in a clump of brush atop an ocean cliff park on the northern city limits late yesterday.

Senate Approves D.C. Bill

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The Senate today passed by a voice vote a bill appropriating $94,947,500 for the government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1948. The bill carrying $982,806 less than approved by the House, now goes to conference.

Surviving 'Big 7' Of Nazi Hierarchy Arrive At Prison

Four Powers Differ On Press Releases

BERLIN, July 18 (AP) — The surviving "big seven" of Hitler's hierarchy, led by Rudolf Hess, finally were brought from Nuernberg and marched into gloomy, red-brick Spandau Prison today after seven months argument among four occupying powers over how they should be treated during ther confinement.

Hardly had the prison gates clanged, when new differences arose. All four powers share administration of Spandau Prison which is in the British sector.

Brought secretly to Gatow Airfield at 8:30 a. m., bundled into a bus under heavy guard and rushed to prison with an escort of armored cars and truckloads of soldiers were Hess, one-time deputy fuehrer, Walter Funk, former economics minister, former grand Admiral Erich Raeder, all sentenced to life terms by the Nuernberg International Military Tribunal; Baldur Von Schirach, ex-youth leader, and Albert Speer, former arms production chief, who received 20 years each; Baron Constantin Von Neurath, former "protector of Bohemia and Moravia," who is to serve 10 to 15 years, and former Admiral Karl Doenitz, who bears a 10 year sentence.

Newspaper correspondents, eager to get details of the return of the "big seven" to the capital where they once had strutted, rushed to the prison in time to find that American, British, French and Soviet officials already were in disagreement over the wording of the communique which would announce the transfer.

The Russians did not want anything told except the bare fact that the seven had arrived. The others wanted to be more liberal with details.

The Russians won, and the result was a one-sentence communique, issued seven hours after the Nazis reached Berlin.

"The Russians even refused to mention the Nazis by name in the communique," an American official said. "We'll let it go at that."

French prison personnel found the prisoners' baggage contained quantities of American cigars and cigarettes, obtained at Nuernberg as regular prisoner of war rations. Another row arose.

Said one Frenchman, "why, we never get any decent import tobacco, so why should these Nazis have it."

The Russians supported the French. The Americans said they assumed the Nazis and their tobacco would be permanently parted.

WARNS OF CRASH—Testifying in Washington before the Congressional Committee on the Economic Report, former OPA chief Leon Henderson declared a business collapse threatens the nation. He said prices had outrun wages and that the GOP rent control extension bill would add to inflationary trends.

570 Persons Are Believed Dead In Ship Sinking

150 Survivors Are Reported In Bombay

BOMBAY, India, July 18 (AP) — An estimated 570 persons were missing and believed dead today in the sinking of the 400-ton coastal Essel Ramdas which capsized in the storm-swept mouth of Bombay Harbor Thursday.

Officials of the Indian Co-operative Navigation and Trading Company, LTD., which owned the ill-fated vessel, said there were about 150 survivors out of 721 passengers and crewmen reported aboard at the time of the disaster—one of the worst in Indian shipping history.

Can't Confirm Report

They said they still had been unable to confirm a report that 20 additional survivors had made their way to Mandva, a small village near the scene of the sinking. Another unconfirmed report said the body of a white woman was washed ashore at Mandva. Three Europeans — a man, woman and child—were reported among the passengers.

Earlier in the day R. D. Thathi, traffic manager of the Bombay Steam Navigation Company which is affiliated with the owning company, estimated the number of survivors at "about 100." He said search parties had picked up 20 bodies.

The exhausted survivors, many of whom were injured, were being collected and cared for in the villages of Alibagh, Rewas, Dharamatar, Karanja and Pirwadi as well as in Bombay.

There were indications that the exact number of dead may never be known. One company source said it was possible there were more passengers aboard than the number of tickets indicated since persons frequently have slipped on the vessel without paying fares.

The disaster occurred as the 11-year-old steamer neared the end of her 45-minute run across the harbor from Bombay to Rewas.

Brought to Bombay tonight Capt. Saikn Suleman gave this account of the accident:

He said he had slowed the Ramdas in anticipation of turning when a heavy swell struck the ship on the starboard side. The passengers rushed toward the port side causing the ship to list. Another swell struck and the vessel capsized.

Pocomoke City Woman Held In Mate's Death

POCOMOKE CITY, Md., July. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Timothy W. Laughery was ordered held without bail for grand jury action on a charge of killing her 35-year-old former husband today, several hours after Laughery, a chicken raiser, was found dead of five bullet wounds.

She waived a preliminary hearing and was taken to the Somerset County Jail at Princess Anne.

House Deadlocked Over Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) — The House spent seven hours and went through seven roll-call votes today without breaking its deadlock with the Senate over the near-billion dollar Agriculture Department Appropriation Bill for the fiscal year which started July 1.

It compromised to the extent of almost $100,000,000 on soil conservation payments but stood pat on other major items in dispute as it returned the measure to the Senate to see if that body would yield.

Naval Architect Dies

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—George E. Penn, 55, former Naval architect, died yesterday after a long illness. He was born in Glyndon, Md.

There are 1,743 cities in the U. S. with organized recreation programs.

Children Will Pray Because They Live

PITTSBURGH, July 18. (AP)—Four teen-age boys, after a terrifying, mile-long trip through a storm-swollen sewer, said today they'd "keep on praying" because their lives were spared.

"We had no idea where the sewer would end but we sure prayed for daylight," declared William Dorrity, 14.

The boys took refuge in a culvert last night after a torrential rain struck. An almost solid wall of water hit them. Clinging together, struggling to keep their heads above the water, the boys were swept the entire length of the sewer and out into a creek, where a railroad worker helped them to safety.

Brush burns and bruises were their only injuries.

There are 10,034 softball diamonds in the United States.

Police Seek Man In Strangling Case

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 18 (AP)—Information from a Navy sailor and a Marine was obtained by police today as they sought the strangler of Mrs. Marian Davidson Newton, 36, Vancouver, B. C., divorcee, apparently raped before she was killed.

Also wanted for questioning was a dark-haired man with whom the auburn-haired woman was reported to have left a night club Wednesday.

Polict Lt. Ed Dieckmann, head of the homicide squad, said the case was "another of a bar-room pickup and murder" and followed the general pattern of eight other violent deaths to women in Southern California since January 15.

Police said they also would like information from a man with whom Mrs. Newton recently posed for a photograph in Tijuana, Mex. The man wore a photographer's stock Mexican hat with "Sugar Daddy" across the brim.

The hat was termed "tourist stuff" by detectives.

Mrs. Newton's body was found in a clump of brush atop an ocean cliff park on the northern city limits late yesterday.

Senate Approves D.C. Bill

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The Senate today passed by a voice vote a bill appropriating $94,947,500 for the government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1948. The bill carrying $982,806 less than approved by the House, now goes to conference.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—I was sitting in Radio City Music Hall the other night. The dancing Rockettes were dazzling me as of old, the air-conditioning apparatus was operating full blast, the men on either side of me wore their suit jackets and were not chewing tobacco, and altogether God was in his heaven.

Over the years I have managed to overcome that feeling of awe at being in the Music Hall, and now I walk in and out just as brazen as you please, as if I were as good as the next man.

I could not help thinking, however, that we have come a long way from the heyday of my favorite movie house, which is the Comet. The Comet is down on Third ave. between 12th and 13th sts., just down the block a piece from Union Square, and while nobody knows exactly how old it is, I think it is safe to say it was standing when Washington was driving Cornwallis to the sea, or was that Sherman and Pershing? It is quite old.

There is always something whimsically appealing about the aged defying the onrush of progress, and I guess that is what gets me about the Comet. It looks exactly as it did 40 years ago, and I have no doubt that many of the bar flies who drop in there for a quick wipks these days were doing the very same thing at the turn of the century.

Mel Heimer

They have touched up the facade a bit and years ago they added a sound projector, but otherwise nothing has happened. The Comet still has a candy butcher, a guy named Nissen Levy whose brother plied the trade before him, and there still are signs on the wall reading, "Don't Spit on the Floor!" The movies shown are fourth and fifth-run jobs and one of them always is a western.

A few days ago a movie studio took over the Comet for a day; they were staging the world premiere of a film called "The Perils of Pauline," and it was only fitting that they show it in the Comet, where the old Pearl White serials once held sway so grandly.

They threw a beefsteak dinner up at the Astor for the press and assorted characters, had an oldtime piano player tinkling the ivories at the Comet and generally raised hob with the regular schedule of the joint.

The next day, however, things were back to normal, and bleary-eyed, uncertain characters shuffled aimlessly into the Comet and went to sleep in the back rows. Guns blazed on the screen, and life went along as it has in my favorite movie house for 500 years.

I found myself looking for an angle—or "a nangle," as they say in Lindy's—the other day, when I saw that a favorite band of mine was playing in some small roadhouse out of town. This band never seems to get what the musicians call a class location, such as a big ballroom or a hotel dining room, but fumbles along in little spots.

It is a good band, on the surface deserving of a better fate—but I kept wondering whether the leader was a marijuana fiend or beat his wife or practiced the Black Mass or just what. It couldn't just be that he hasn't had the breaks.

Always there is a nangle. New Yorkers, myself included, must spend half their adult lives looking for a nangle. We are really rather childish, come to think of it.

Most interesting street in town right now is West 53rd, between Fifth and Sixth aves. This one short block teems with major and minor celebrities — Les Tremayne and Marilyn Mack of stage, decorator Rose Cumming, Sir Hubert and Lady Wilkins and a handful more—and it seems that it presently is calling the cops.

There have been a number of robbery and mugging attacks in the street, the story goes, and the incensed Fifty-Thirders, trying to get the law interested, held an indignant mass meeting the other night in the Rehearsal club (the original for the "Footlight club" in the play, "Stage Door").

I walked along 53rd the other night, and I found the power of suggestion remarkable. By the time I had reached Fifth ave. I was sweating and shaking. I am not a brave man.

I was in Philadelphia talking with a transplanted Kentuckian, and he insisted that certain sections of Philadelphia have it all over New York for coldness.

The residents not only do not talk to their neighbors; they cross the street when they see them coming. I told him a New Yorker would see to it that he was not even on the same street with a neighbor. Can't let a Philadelphian top us

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—I was sitting in Radio City Music Hall the other night. The dancing Rockettes were dazzling me as of old, the air-conditioning apparatus was operating full blast, the men on either side of me wore their suit jackets and were not chewing tobacco, and altogether God was in his heaven.

Over the years I have managed to overcome that feeling of awe at being in the Music Hall, and now I walk in and out just as brazen as you please, as if I were as good as the next man.

I could not help thinking, however, that we have come a long way from the heyday of my favorite movie house, which is the Comet. The Comet is down on Third ave. between 12th and 13th sts., just down the block a piece from Union Square, and while nobody knows exactly how old it is, I think it is safe to say it was standing when Washington was driving Cornwallis to the sea, or was that Sherman and Pershing? It is quite old.

There is always something whimsically appealing about the aged defying the onrush of progress, and I guess that is what gets me about the Comet. It looks exactly as it did 40 years ago, and I have no doubt that many of the bar flies who drop in there for a quick wipks these days were doing the very same thing at the turn of the century.

Mel Heimer

They have touched up the facade a bit and years ago they added a sound projector, but otherwise nothing has happened. The Comet still has a candy butcher, a guy named Nissen Levy whose brother plied the trade before him, and there still are signs on the wall reading, "Don't Spit on the Floor!" The movies shown are fourth and fifth-run jobs and one of them always is a western.

A few days ago a movie studio took over the Comet for a day; they were staging the world premiere of a film called "The Perils of Pauline," and it was only fitting that they show it in the Comet, where the old Pearl White serials once held sway so grandly.

They threw a beefsteak dinner up at the Astor for the press and assorted characters, had an oldtime piano player tinkling the ivories at the Comet and generally raised hob with the regular schedule of the joint.

The next day, however, things were back to normal, and bleary-eyed, uncertain characters shuffled aimlessly into the Comet and went to sleep in the back rows. Guns blazed on the screen, and life went along as it has in my favorite movie house for 500 years.

I found myself looking for an angle—or "a nangle," as they say in Lindy's—the other day, when I saw that a favorite band of mine was playing in some small roadhouse out of town. This band never seems to get what the musicians call a class location, such as a big ballroom or a hotel dining room, but fumbles along in little spots.

It is a good band, on the surface deserving of a better fate—but I kept wondering whether the leader was a marijuana fiend or beat his wife or practiced the Black Mass or just what. It couldn't just be that he hasn't had the breaks.

Always there is a nangle. New Yorkers, myself included, must spend half their adult lives looking for a nangle. We are really rather childish, come to think of it.

Most interesting street in town right now is West 53rd, between Fifth and Sixth aves. This one short block teems with major and minor celebrities — Les Tremayne and Marilyn Mack of stage, decorator Rose Cumming, Sir Hubert and Lady Wilkins and a handful more—and it seems that it presently is calling the cops.

There have been a number of robbery and mugging attacks in the street, the story goes, and the incensed Fifty-Thirders, trying to get the law interested, held an indignant mass meeting the other night in the Rehearsal club (the original for the "Footlight club" in the play, "Stage Door").

I walked along 53rd the other night, and I found the power of suggestion remarkable. By the time I had reached Fifth ave. I was sweating and shaking. I am not a brave man.

I was in Philadelphia talking with a transplanted Kentuckian, and he insisted that certain sections of Philadelphia have it all over New York for coldness.

The residents not only do not talk to their neighbors; they cross the street when they see them coming. I told him a New Yorker would see to it that he was not even on the same street with a neighbor. Can't let a Philadelphian top us.

Business of Vacationing Has Now Reached Its Peak

The business of vacationing, now at its peak, will subside in a matter of weeks, with a suddenness that will surpass the alacrity with which it started. The pattern varies little from year to year.

In May a few persons take to the road, the mountains and the water, in June the tempo of vacationing gains a trifle, but on July the country goes all-out for fun away from the usual haunts and occupations and vacation time has really arrived. From then until Labor Day roads and installations and accommodations really take a beating.

But already Summer has progressed to the point that to many the vacation of 1947 is but a memory, and others are looking forward to a return to the old rut. More people than ever, according to reports, are touring this Summer, which means that more people than ever will appreciate the old homestead more fully in the weeks ahead.

Many in our immediate area are renewing their love for the picturesque Deep Creek Lake section, where one finds the beauty of the Adirondacks and the Canadian woods rolled into one. Others are spending considerable time along the banks of the South Branch of the Potomac, fishing and bathing.

A vacation should be a happy, carefree time that "recreates" us for the Winter months. But many a long-planned vacation has been spoiled by a careless accident or tragedy. We need only refer to the four drownings in the Potomac river this week to bring that fact into full focus. But when accidents do happen, it is essential to know and apply the appropriate "first aid" measures. Many boys and girls learn first aid measures in connection with their Scouting activities. Their parents should do well to imitate them, especially when planning a vacation away from home and the family doctor.

Its fun to go places, and its just as much fun to return home and take up a more mundane scheme of existence again.

Eisenhower May Be Factor In 1948 Presidential Race

The persistent and undoubtedly sincere denials of General Eisenhower that he has any 1948 political ambitions do not remove from the minds of political prophets the fact that he may be a potential factor in the presidential race.

Washington observers do not doubt that the Army chief of staff—who becomes head of vast Columbia University next year—means just what he says.

"Ike's" last "no politics" reiteration was made to a special Pentagon news conference when he told reporters that he has "no personal" ambitions politically.

However, no less a person than Alf M. Landon, the 1988 GOP standard bearer, has predicted that if world conditions become more troublesome a year hence, Ike would be a likely dark horse in the presidential steeplechase, whether he wills it or not.

They point out that first, last and always Eisenhower is a soldier. Therefore, they emphasize, he could not resist a draft, particularly if he feels the country needs him. If the Republicans called, they say, this son of the GOP state of Kansas would shed his vestments as Columbia president and do his duty as he sees it.

Another factor is woven about the Columbia president. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia's aged and blind president emeritus, was a vast power in the Republican party in his active days.

That's Their Headlight

Children's games haven't changed much through the years, though some of their other interests have. Mumblety-peg has become a rarity; so have the candle-lit and cut-out shoe boxes youngsters used to drag along sidewalks.

One childhood pastime which still flourishes is chasing fireflies. And it's a pleasant interlude these summer evenings to watch the youngsters, jars in hand, chase the fireflies' winking lights in the dusk.

Inevitably a panting moppet asks one of his parents, "How do the fireflies make light?" or "Why do they light up, Daddy?" Daddy, or mommy, is trapped, so a word from the reference book may help.

The fireflies' lights are believed to serve two purposes; they help them to find their mates, and they serve as a warning to nightfeeding birds, which for the most part, avoid the luminous insects as distasteful. They may also be used by humans, as it is reported that a certain species serves the Indians of South America for illumination and for decoration of the women's hair and clothes.

Some authorities believe that the light of the firefly (really not a fly but a beetle) is due to a fermenting substance called luciferase, acting on a light-producing substance called luciferin. In other words, they actually burn the luciferin within their bodies. Another theory, and not so pleasant, is that their light is due to luminous bacteria. True fireflies belong to the family of Lampyridae.

Here, then, are your scientific facts for the youngster; perhaps it's easier to stand by your present explanation: "That's their headlight, Son, just like on our car."

Vitamins To Set Prices

Now we are told that the Agriculture Department predicts that vegetables and meats will be priced not by the pound but by their nutritive value, if markets continue to develop the transparent packaging of food.

Agriculture points out that in this type of packaging, vegetables are given a preliminary cleaning and sorting. Damaged ones generally come to light and are discarded. Meats are trimmed.

The department argues that, therefore, one pound of string beans in cellophane may well be worth two pounds in bulk. It predicts that the next step will be pricing that takes this greater volume into consideration.

Agriculture, which long has had an eye for attractive packaging of foods, says that this labeling of transparently-wrapped foods may step up quality.

It argues that wholesalers and distributors will have pride to uphold and thus handle the foods with more care.

BOWLEGS AND WEAKENED BONES

HEALTHY children rarely acquire bowlegs from walking. Nature has given the normal bone sufficient strength to bear weight without buckling under the strain. Consequently, when this type of trouble arises, something has happened to weaken the structure.

In bowlegs (genu varum), the bowing is outward; occasionally it is most noticeable from front to back. One or both sides may be involved; in some cases, only one of the two bones in the calf region will be bent.

When the abnormality appears in infancy and childhood, rickets is suspected. In youngsters with this malady the bones thruout the body are softened and pliable and bowing will occur wherever the stress is greatest. The legs will suffer after the child reaches the toddling stage but if he is still crawling, the arms may be affected.

Rickets has been blamed for this condition for so long that sometimes other origins are overlooked. This is true particularly today inasmuch as the majority of babies receive an adequate quota of cod liver oil and sunshine. With X-ray studies, the different forms of the disorder can usually be determined. In some instances the cause cannot be ascertained but at least rickets can be ruled out.

There is an unusual condition—osteogenesis imperfecta—in which bone does not develop as it should. The osseous structure is brittle so that spontaneous fractures are common. As the broken bones mend, further deformities ensue.

In adults, the bones may become softened as a result of faulty calcium and phosphorus metabolism. One type of trouble, osteomalacia, is sometimes referred to as "adult rickets." Unless corrected the legs curve gradually under the influence of weight bearing during standing or walking. Ordinary fractures may lead to bowing, especially if repair is delayed. Disturbances in and about the knee joint can do the same.

In older individuals, osteitis deformans (Paget's disease) is a possibility. In this ailment, portions of the bone go thru alternating phases of softening and thickening. The contour of the extremities, back, and head is altered not only during the time when the structures are weakened but also after healing takes place. Thus, in addition to bowlegs, the victim notices an increase in the size of his head so that larger hats are required.

Bowing is best demonstrated by extending the legs but keeping the ankles together; the knees will not meet. The majority walk with the feet widely separated and the toes turned in, which necessitates a shift of the body weight with each step. The result is a waddling gait.

Operation is usually required to correct the situation if it has existed for a long period. If treated early, gentle manipulation may be all that is necessary. Others require casts which are applied and opened periodically, at which time the limbs are bent more and more into their normal shape.

IT'S NATURAL

S. B. writes: Can a person hold his breath and still take a drink of water?

REPLY

Yes, he has to. Otherwise the liquid might flow into the lungs. The tiny, flaplike valve in back of the throat covers the opening of the breathing apparatus, thus directing the fluid into its proper pathway.

TIME OR TIDE

A. G. writes: What is the cause of a ticking and rumbling sensation at the top of the head?

REPLY

You may be harboring a clock or your brain waves may be going wild. There are many causes of head noises and, if the symptom bothers you, an investigation is in order.

CREAM DRINKER

M. M. writes: Will taking a pint of cream daily to gain weight prove harmful?

REPLY

No, but many individuals cannot tolerate this amount of fat. It upsets digestion in some and in others, raises cain with the complexion.

IDENTICAL

V. W. Writes: Is an autopsy the same as a postmortem?

REPLY

Yes.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The annual ball game between Republican and Democratic Congressmen took place in Washington a short time ago and it was quite interesting. When the umpire made a bad decision, they didn't yell "robber." They just got together and passed it over his veto.

The umpire finally quit and the Supreme Court took over. What a ball game it became. It was the first time in history the spit ball was ruled unconstitutional.

The winner wasn't the team with the more runs. The winner was the team that finished. . . period.

Some of those gentlemen were really getting wide around the middle. Every time a ground ball came toward the democratic shortstop, a page boy had to run out and field it for him. And there was a friendly feeling between both parties at all times. I'm convinced of that. Even if the Republican base runners did dip their spikes in rattlesnake venom.

Those Congressmen never forget their political tactics, with the Republicans leading in the ninth inning, a Democrat stepped into the batter's box and filibustered for four hours until the game was called on account of darkness.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Congressman Cox Remains Nepotism Champ; Greek Troubles Are Purposely Inspired By Greek Government; Republicans Disagree On Minimum Wages

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia still is popular with his colleagues, especially Republicans; but, around the House of Representatives' cloakroom, it is whispered that Gene is slipping. He hasn't quite as many relatives on the payroll as before.

But the Congressman from Georgia still probably tops the nepotism list in the nation's Capital. Here are some of the relatives receiving salaries at the expense of the taxpayer through the benefit of "Goober" Cox:

Lamar P. Cox, son, runs his father's office. Salary—$7,022.40.

Mrs. Rosa Robinson, sister, is listed as a clerk in the Congressman's office, though she doesn't come near Washington. Her checks are mailed to her at Camilla, Ga., the Cox family's home town. Salary—$3,185.16.

Mrs. Jim Lou Cox Hoggard, sister, Postmistress at Camilla, Ga. Salary—$3,600.

Charles M. Cox, nephew, Executive Assistant to the Assistant Production Administrator for the Agriculture Department. In fairness, it should be noted that he began as a clerk and worked his way up, officials say, without his uncle's assistance. Salary—$7,100.

Total "take" for the Cox family, including the $15,000 paid the Congressman, is $35,907.56.

Behind Greek Revolt

According to the diplomatic grapevine from Athens, the so-called Communist uprisings inside Greece were carefuly timed—not by the Communists, but by the Tsaldaris-Maximos Government—to coincide with the departure of Gov. Dwight Griswold, Greek aid administrator for Athens.

The Greek Government's motive is to convince Griswold that the Tsaldaris-Maximos regime is essential to the security of the country and must remain in power.

Actually, what happened was that the EAM or so-called Communist group was holding conferences with Prof. Alexander Svolos of Athens University just a few days ago with a view to a political compromise by which they could resume participation in Greek political affairs under U. S. protection, when, suddenly, about 4,000 of them were arrested.

U. S. diplomats are pretty well convinced that there can be no political stability in Greece and no success for the American aid program if the present reactionary Greek regime remains in power. Even patient Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh is reported to have come to this conclusion. To counteract this, Tsaldaris is doing his best to convince Gov. Griswold that there would only be more chaos if the present Greek Government resigned.

Note—Greek internal troubles should be distinguished from Greek border warfare, which is much more likely to be Russian-inspired. Unquestionably, Soviet policy is to make things as hot as possible for the United States along the Albanian, Yugoslav and Bulgarian borders.

GOP [illegible]

Immediately after Congress passed the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, Republican Senate leaders decided to appease unorganized labor by pushing a new minimum-wage increase from 40 to 60 cents an hour. They figured this would restore the party with several million workers who don't have the protection of high union wages.

However, GOP Senators reckoned without some of their fellow-Republicans in the House, especially Missouri's Max Schwabe. At a closed meeting of the House Republican Steering Committee, the big, farm-bred Congressman rode roughshod over the GOP leadership and the proposed minimum-wage increase.

Majority leader Charlie Halleck had invited all Republican members of the Education and Labor Committee to sit in with the Steering Committee and eleven showed up. Their vote was six to five against a higher minimum wage. Afterward, Schwabe admitted working "night and day" to convert his fellow Republicans.

"All a minimum-wage increase will do," Schwabe argued behind closed doors, "is to sentence those in the lower-income brackets to unemployment and poverty during the next economic slump. The bill would raise wages all along the line. And you cannot disassociate wages and prices."

With this Wisconsin's genial Charles Kersten did not agree.

"An increase in the minimum wage does not mean billiard-balling wages all the way to the top," he declared. "It is a social principle which applies only to the lower brackets. The upper brackets do not need a minimum wage, so there is no reason why this bill should affect their salaries."

Speaking for the Republican leadership, Indiana's Halleck contended that the principle of a minimum wage had been established in the original 1938 bill.

"Now it's just a question of improving on it," he insisted.

But he made no impression on Schwabe, who pooh-poohed the idea that the bill would be a good political move after the tough Taft-Hartley Bill.

No Labor Appeasement

"It is silly to appease labor," thundered the gentleman from Missouri. "The Republican party went to town last year because it was against economic patent medicine. This minimum-wage law is the old NRA dressed in a new packet. I say the bill is poor politics. We must go into the next campaign solid on domestic issues."

Wisconsin's Kersten countered with a moral argument.

"Human labor cannot be treated as any other commodity that can be purchased at the lowest price the market will stanud. The minimum-wage law is a recognition of the dignity or human labor. It should not be placed on the auction block of the blind forces of the market place."

This seemed to rile Kansas' hulking Congressman Wint Smith.

"I am against everything Kersten has said," he snorted.

The author of the bill, fellow-Republican Gerald Landis of Indiana, emphasized four points in urging approval:

1. Minimum wages are just as important to underpaid workers as parity payments to the farmers.

2. A great percentage of workers are not interested in labor unions but in living wages.

3. Politically, the bill is the only method by which the Republican party can open up the south.

4 Many Republicans in industrial districts went out on a limb to support the Taft-Hartley bill. Now it is only fair for the Republicans in the farm districts to back the minimum-wage increase. Despite Landis' able presentation, however, the Committee vote of Republicans on the Labor Committee was 6-5 against him.

Sullivan Describes "Combine" Machine Farmers Are Using

By MARK SULLIVAN

AVONDALE, Chester County, Pa.—The other day, a little delayed by weather, they—what word shall I use? If I make a verb out of the name of the machine that does the work, I should say they "combined" the barley. But that is confusing in sense and awkward to the ear, it is not in colloquial use and I shrink from it. Yet time and the machine will have their way, and lexicographers will record what they determine. It may be future dictionaries will honor "combined", with accent on the first syllable, as standard usage - and will demean by the abbreviation "obs." some ancient words which the combine is making obsolete.

Anyhow, as a name for the machine I watched as it lumbered up the field, hardly ever was an apter word than combine. Looking like some incredible monstrous bug that has developed antenna and other incongrous appurtenances, it on one side drew the standing barley inward, but it, and passed it into the drubbing clatter of the machine's interior. On the other side, down a small ramp, slid burlap bags of grain. In the whole process only one slight and simple detail, tying the bags, was done by human fingers.

As if exulting in its ingenuity, the combine added a process no farmer had ever thought of. As the grain in its transit to the bag passed up a tiny elevator and through a compartment, a whirling blower removed tiny weed-seeds and dropped them into a container. In successive fillings of the container, some four bushles of weed-seeds were accumulated and later burned. These, before the combine's ingenious sieving, would have remained in the field, to sprout new weeds next year.

Cradles Are Obsolete

I went over in my memory the separate farm operations which this hulking leviathan supersedes or bypasses. Who can tell why, out of a thousand scenes a child's eyes take in, a few are well remembered, while others fade and are forgot. All are equally pristine fresh, for to the child they never existed before. Would vividness of color have anything to do with permanence of memory?

The men whom I saw cutting wheat by hand, in the same field in which this week the combine rumbled, wore red flannel shirts, vivid against the golden wheat. The cutter they used, called a "cradle" was already becoming obsolete, it was succeeded by a horse-drawn reaper. Behind the reaper, along the rows of fallen wheat, men gathered armfulls which they hugged into tight sheaves. Holding a sheaf in one arm, they with the other hand picked up enough straw to make a band, with which they bound the sheaf. Knotting the band was an art, calling for deft fingers. There was art too in putting the sheaves together in stacks, of eight sheaves each, with four as a "cap", the whole cunningly contrived to resist wind and shed rain. After a few days the sheaves were hauled to the barn.

Flails Were Once Used

Presently, along the road and up the lane came the neighborhood threshing machine, called in our local pronunciation the "thrasher." The earlier ones were drawn by two lumbering oxen called universally "Buck" and "Berry"; these later provided, through a treadmill, the power that threshed the wheat.

No doubt there are statisticians who could tell the number of man-hours' work and also horse-hours and ox-hours, which the combine saves and calculate the economic aspects of mechanized farming. The calculation would be even more prodigious if they based it on the predecessor of the threshing machine. Though I never saw a flail in use, there was an old one in the barn, and a neighbor not yet 60 years old remembers handling one. The flail was just two squared sticks joined at their ends by a leather thong some three inches long. The flailer, holding one stick as a handle, brought the shorter one down upon the wheat or barley spread on the barn floor. I should doubt if the grain drubbed loose by one blow of the flail would be more than a cupful, or if a flailer could thresh more than half a bushel in an hour. But this estimate may be indignantly corrected by some venerable flailer still living.

Truman Appoints New Dealer As Member Of Labor Board

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 18.—President Truman has kept faith with the labor-union partisans by preserving the pro-union majority on the new National Labor Relations Board.

Mr. Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley Bill showed that he had no sympathy with the new law and it gave rise to a widespread impression that he would use every power he possessed to sabotage the Statute. His subsequent profession of an intention to give the law sympathetic treatment seems to have been set at naught.

For the President has appointed former Senator Murdock of Utah, a New Dealer, to the board. The latter fought aggressively the efforts of Representative Howard Smith, of Virginia, Democrat, to conduct a thorough inquiry into the operations of the Wagner law a few years ago when Mr. Murdock, then a member of the House, was serving on the Smith Committee of Investigation. Mr. Murdock's sympathies are with the labor-union side.

Inasmuch as board member Houston has consistently voted with the unions, this gives labor unions at least two out of the five members, and on more issues than not the chairman of the board, Paul Herzog, has taken the union side, thus making a prospective majority of three to two for the labor unions.

Terms Herzog Conscientious

The chances are that Mr. Herzog will be the "swing" man of the board. If he votes with the two members—Mr. Reynolds and the new appointee, Mr. Clay—who are experienced industrial relations counsellors, having worked in industry in that capacity, the board will occasionally reflect a 3-to-2 vote to give management a fair deal.

Mr. Herzog is a conscientious public servant who tries hard to weigh the issues judicially. But his concept of duty has been that the Wagner Act ordered him to encourage collective bargaining and to disparage individual bargaining. He submitted a long brief to the House Committee telling why the Wagner Act should not be amended. He starts with a preconception as to what the Wagner Law rulings taught him as to the superior rights of the union to the rights of the individual.

The reappointment of Mr. Herzog, however, was not only natural but logical. The experience which Mr. Herzog has had will make him invaluable in the future. His viewpoint is needed on the board. President Truman's real mistake is in appointing a New Dealer to the new board instead of appointing two judicially minded and impartial men for the two vacancies so that the board would not start with a partisan or slass-conscious set-up of three to two.

Maybe when some of the labor unions which recently announced that they wouldn't go near the board—they said they would really "snub" it—read about the new appointments, they will change their minds. They will find that in interpretation of the major provisions of the old Wagner Law which have been retained in the Taft-Hartley Law, three men sympathetic with the old and not the new law have been placed on the board.

May Change In 1948

The term of member Houston expires in 1948. This means that, if a Republican president is elected, there will be a new face on the board. It hardly seems likely that the Senate next year will vote to confirm any members of the all-important National Labor Relations board for another five-year term until after the elections have indicated who is going to be in the White House.

The Taft-Hartley law, like its predecessor, the Wagner Act, is full of legal phrases. That is why already there are so many different ideas as to how it will be construed. The Wagner Act decisions and rulings on legal phrases in the law fill several volumes. It may be expected that this will be true of the Taft-Hartley Law. For not only must the board construe the meaning of the phrases in the law but the courts will be asked in review to affirm or reverse the rulings of the board.

The Senate will have an opportunity to consider the new appointees. There is no doubt about the confirmation of Mr. Herzog, who has already been designated as chairman. There may be doubt about the Senate attitude toward some of the other appointees. It seems unlikely that a bill which pased by two-thirds of both Houses will be left for sabotage by presidential appointees who are not really in sympathy with the purposes of the law itself.

FRIGHTENED ATOMS

SOME time ago I received a letter from Albert Einstein addressed to me as "Dear Friend." I had only met Dr. Einstein once, in Shanghai, in a crowd of a hundred or more men and women and I had seen him since on one other occasion, at Carnegie Hall, when he was on the stage and I was in a full-house audience. So I was highly honored when he addressed me as "Dear Friend." But when he said that a group of atomic splitters needed $1,000,000 for a "great educational task," I felt that the friendship came high.

After the atom was split, all sorts of committees appeared to frighten the life out of the American people. One of the statements they all made was that the Russians had or would soon have, or would in two or three or five years have the atom bomb with which to blow us up. Their general solution was to give the bomb to the Russians through the United Nations and then the Russians would not blow us up.

As that seemed to be Alice-in-Worderlandish, this country paid no attention to the scientists and kept the bomb. Meanwhile, the Russian has been trying to steal the bomb, apparently with little success. So we stockpile bombs; the Russians criticize us; the scientists organize more committees.

Professor Einstein, in his letter, which I shall cherish for the autograph, wrote:

"Through the release of atomic energy, our generation has brought into the world the most revolutionary force since prehistoric man's discovey of fire. This basic power of the universe cannot be fitted into the outmoded concept of narrow nationalisms. . ."

Now, it is just too bad that "narrow nationalism." Those of us who were born in this country, educated in its schools, taught to love its flag and sworn to maintain its Constitution, are quite willing to be accused of "narrow nationalism." We love the United States of America and 11,000,000 were drafted into the army and navy for this recent unnecessary war because they were Americans—narrow nationalists. No American went to war for One World, for the United Nations, or for the Russian Empire. A few Communists might have done that but no American will regard a Communist as an American.

Maybe, Professor Einstein cannot understand that kind of sentimentality. Citizenship has been lightly changeable with him by force of circumstances. He has been a German, a Swiss, and an American in one lifetime. Nationalism is a matter of roots; the more deeply one's roots are in the soil of his nation, the more sentimental he is bound to be about nationalism. Tito can be a Soviet citizen and the head of Yugoslavia; no one can lead the American people who is capable of such dual nationality, for Americans love America.

Maybe, they are narrow-minded. Maybe, they are chauvinistic. Maybe, their eyes are closed to the glories of One World dominated by Stalin, Tito, Dimitrov and their associates. Maybe, they would be smarter if they let the United Nations run this country with Gromyko instead of Harry Truman exercising the Veto.

But, Professor, dumb or smart, nobody could get elected dog-catcher who appealed to the American voter on that program. No sir, I won't give a cent to your "Emergency Committee of Atomic Scientists," even though you sent me an autographed letter with the salutation, "Dear Friend." I am a narrow nationalist and expect to remain one in spite of the scientists. Most Americans are narrow nationalists and atom splitting has not changed them at all.

We have that atom bomb. For better or for worse, we mean to keep it. Possibly the Russians or some other country may steal our property or they might invent their own, even improve upon ours. Maybe some day we shall have to use that bomb again. No American wants it used again. No American wants war. But No American wants his country to pay blackmail for peace. And we shall not be blackmailed as long as we can defend ourselves.

I hope the Professor understands why I did not send a contribution to that million dollar fund he is raising against narrow nationalism.

Old Friends

We are apt to forget old friends as new ones appear, but it's the weathered ones who stay by us, and who constantly return in memory to us, and who welcome us with richness of spirit whenever we return to them for a visit or a meeting. You know the expression, "Like meeting an old friend."

The longer we live the more the old friends become a treasured asset. That's the way it is with everything that has wearing qualities. A great painting, a song, a book—these become old friends for having inspired and uplifted us when most needed. We keep returning to old friends. It's all like old wine becoming mellow—so they say.

I have just returned to Nova Scotia, where I have met so many who have become old and valued friends. I do not look upon them as foreigners, nor would I like to have them look upon me as one. They are just friends—or neighbors, and good ones, at that. The story of Nova Scotia is an intriguing and inspiring one—full of romance, historic lore and multitudes of interests. The people here are genuine and most friendly, and visitors feel at home in an unspoiled atmosphere of primitive beauty.

It's the old friends of the little towns in which I have lived that have lasted longest in my memory. The other day I received a letter from a man in the town where I worked my way through college, and to whom I delivered a newspaper each day. He wrote me of those times, and told me that he was now 93 years of age! How wonderful to have been remembered by such a man—an old friend!

The supreme joy in visiting various towns, cities, or countries is to search out and meet old friends who have made the vanishing years sun-lit and seasoned with happy remembrances.

We should cherish our old friends more, contact them, and constantly try to enrich their lives in some way. There is no possession in all this world so valuable as a friend who has lasted throughout every test for such a one. You then have something more precious than rubies, gold, or in fact anything that has to be measured by material means. How about writing to that old friend of yours—today!

Business of Vacationing Has Now Reached Its Peak

The business of vacationing, now at its peak, will subside in a matter of weeks, with a suddenness that will surpass the alacrity with which it started. The pattern varies little from year to year.

In May a few persons take to the road, the mountains and the water, in June the tempo of vacationing gains a trifle, but on July the country goes all-out for fun away from the usual haunts and occupations and vacation time has really arrived. From then until Labor Day roads and installations and accommodations really take a beating.

But already Summer has progressed to the point that to many the vacation of 1947 is but a memory, and others are looking forward to a return to the old rut. More people than ever, according to reports, are touring this Summer, which means that more people than ever will appreciate the old homestead more fully in the weeks ahead.

Many in our immediate area are renewing their love for the picturesque Deep Creek Lake section, where one finds the beauty of the Adirondacks and the Canadian woods rolled into one. Others are spending considerable time along the banks of the South Branch of the Potomac, fishing and bathing.

A vacation should be a happy, carefree time that "recreates" us for the Winter months. But many a long-planned vacation has been spoiled by a careless accident or tragedy. We need only refer to the four drownings in the Potomac river this week to bring that fact into full focus. But when accidents do happen, it is essential to know and apply the appropriate "first aid" measures. Many boys and girls learn first aid measures in connection with their Scouting activities. Their parents should do well to imitate them, especially when planning a vacation away from home and the family doctor.

Its fun to go places, and its just as much fun to return home and take up a more mundane scheme of existence again.

Eisenhower May Be Factor In 1948 Presidential Race

The persistent and undoubtedly sincere denials of General Eisenhower that he has any 1948 political ambitions do not remove from the minds of political prophets the fact that he may be a potential factor in the presidential race.

Washington observers do not doubt that the Army chief of staff—who becomes head of vast Columbia University next year—means just what he says.

"Ike's" last "no politics" reiteration was made to a special Pentagon news conference when he told reporters that he has "no personal" ambitions politically.

However, no less a person than Alf M. Landon, the 1936 GOP standard bearer, has predicted that if world conditions become more troublesome a year hence, Ike would be a likely dark horse in the presidential steeplechase, whether he wills it or not.

They point out that first, last and always Eisenhower is a soldier. Therefore, they emphasize, he could not resist a draft, particularly if he feels the country needs him. If the Republicans called, they say, this son of the GOP state of Kansas would shed his vestments as Columbia president and do his duty as he sees it.

Another factor is woven about the Columbia president. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia's aged and blind president emeritus, was a vast power in the Republican party in his active days.

That's Their Headlight

Children's games haven't changed much through the years, though some of their other interests have. Mumblety-peg has become a rarity; so have the candle-lit and cut-out shoe boxes youngsters used to drag along sidewalks.

One childhood pastime which still flourishes is chasing fireflies. And it's a pleasant interlude these summer evenings to watch the youngsters, jars in hand, chase the fireflies' winking lights in the dusk.

Inevitably a panting moppet asks one of his parents, "How do the fireflies make light?" or "Why do they light up, Daddy?" Daddy, or mommy, is trapped, so a word from the reference book may help.

The fireflies' lights are believed to serve two purposes; they help them to find their mates, and they serve as a warning to nightfeeding birds, which for the most part, avoid the luminous insects as distasteful. They may also be used by humans, as it is reported that a certain species serves the Indians of South America for illumination and for decoration of the women's hair and clothes.

Some authorities believe that the light of the firefly (really not a fly but a beetle) is due to a fermenting substance called luciferase, acting on a light-producing substance called luciferin. In other words, they actually burn the luciferin within their bodies. Another theory, and not so pleasant, is that their light is due to luminous bacteria. True fireflies belong to the family of Lampyridae.

Here, then, are your scientific facts for the youngster; perhaps it's easier to stand by your present explanation: "That's their headlight, Son, just like on our car."

Vitamins To Set Prices

Now we are told that the Agriculture Department predicts that vegetables and meats will be priced not by the pound but by their nutritive value, if markets continue to develop the transparent packaging of food.

Agriculture points out that in this type of packaging, vegetables are given a preliminary cleaning and sorting. Damaged ones generally come to light and are discarded. Meats are trimmed.

The department argues that, therefore, one pound of string beans in cellophane may well be worth two pounds in bulk. It predicts that the next step will be pricing that takes this greater volume into consideration.

Agriculture, which long has had an eye for attractive packaging of foods, says that this labeling of transparently-wrapped foods may step up quality.

It argues that wholesalers and distributors will have pride to uphold and thus handle the foods with more care.

BOWLEGS AND WEAKENED BONES

HEALTHY children rarely acquire bowlegs from walking. Nature has given the normal bone sufficient strength to bear weight without buckling under the strain. Consequently, when this type of trouble arises, something has happened to weaken the structure.

In bowlegs (genu varum), the bowing is outward; occasionally it is most noticeable from front to back. One or both sides may be involved; in some cases, only one of the two bones in the calf region will be bent.

When the abnormality appears in infancy and childhood, rickets is suspected. In youngsters with this malady the bones thruout the body are softened and pliable and bowing will occur wherever the stress is greatest. The legs will suffer after the child reaches the toddling stage but if he is still crawling, the arms may be affected.

Rickets has been blamed for this condition for so long that sometimes other origins are overlooked. This is true particularly today inasmuch as the majority of babies receive an adequate quota of cod liver oil and sunshine. With X-ray studies, the different forms of the disorder can usually be determined. In some instances the cause cannot be ascertained but at least rickets can be ruled out.

There is an unusual condition—osteogenesis imperfecta—in which bone does not develop as it should. The osseous structure is brittle so that spontaneous fractures are common. As the broken bones mend, further deformities ensue.

In adults, the bones may become softened as a result of faulty calcium and phosphorus metabolism. One type of trouble, osteomalacia, is sometimes referred to as "adult rickets." Unless corrected the legs curve gradually under the influence of weight bearing during standing or walking. Ordinary fractures may lead to bowing, especially if repair is delayed. Disturbances in and about the knee joint can do the same.

In older individuals, osteitis deformans (Paget's disease) is a possibility. In this ailment, portions of the bone go thru alternating phases of softening and thickening. The contour of the extremities, back, and head is altered not only during the time when the structures are weakened but also after healing takes place. Thus, in addition to bowlegs, the victim notices an increase in the size of his head so that larger hats are required.

Bowing is best demonstrated by extending the legs but keeping the ankles together; the knees will not meet. The majority walk with the feet widely separated and the toes turned in, which necessitates a shift of the body weight with each step. The result is a waddling gait.

Operation is usually required to correct the situation if it has existed for a long period. If treated early, gentle manipulation may be all that is necessary. Others require casts which are applied and opened periodically, at which time the limbs are bent more and more into their normal shape.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The annual ball game between Republican and Democratic Congressmen took place in Washington a short time ago and it was quite interesting. When the umpire made a bad decision, they didn't yell "robber." They just got together and passed it over his veto.

The umpire finally quit and the Supreme Court took over. What a ball game it became. It was the first time in history the spit ball was ruled unconstitutional.

The winner wasn't the team with the more runs. The winner was the team that finished. . . period.

Some of those gentlemen were really getting wide around the middle. Every time a ground ball came toward the democratic shortstop, a page boy had to run out and field it for him. And there was a friendly feeling between both parties at all times. I'm convinced of that. Even if the Republican base runners did dip their spikes in rattlesnake venom.

Those Congressmen never forget their political tactics, with the Republicans leading in the ninth inning, a Democrat stepped into the batter's box and filibustered for four hours until the game was called on account of darkness.

Congressman Cox Remains Nepotism Champ; Greek Troubles Are Purposely Inspired By Greek Government; Republicans Disagree On Minimum Wages

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia still is popular with his colleagues, especially Republicans; but, around the House of Representatives' cloakroom, it is whispered that Gene is slipping. He hasn't quite as many relatives on the payroll as before.

But the Congressman from Georgia still probably tops the nepotism list in the nation's Capital. Here are some of the relatives receiving salaries at the expense of the taxpayer through the benefit of "Goober" Cox:

Lamar P. Cox, son, runs his father's office. Salary—$7,022.40.

Mrs. Rosa Robinson, sister, is listed as a clerk in the Congressman's office, though she doesn't come near Washington. Her checks are mailed to her at Camilla, Ga., the Cox family's home town. Salary—$3,185.16.

Mrs. Jim Lou Cox Hoggard, sister, Postmistress at Camilla, Ga. Salary—$3,600.

Charles M. Cox, nephew, Executive Assistant to the Assistant Production Administrator for the Agriculture Department. In fairness, it should be noted that he began as a clerk and worked his way up, officials say, without his uncle's assistance. Salary—$7,100.

Total "take" for the Cox family, including the $15,000 paid the Congressman, is $35,907.56.

Behind Greek Revolt

According to the diplomatic grapevine from Athens, the so-called Communist uprisings inside Greece were carefuly timed—not by the Communists, but by the Tsaldaris-Maximos Government—to coincide with the departure of Gov. Dwight Griswold, Greek aid administrator for Athens.

The Greek Government's motive is to convince Griswold that the Tsaldaris-Maximos regime is essential to the security of the country and must remain in power.

Actually, what happened was that the EAM or so-called Communist group was holding conferences with Prof. Alexander Svolos of Athens University just a few days ago with a view to a political compromise by which they could resume participation in Greek political affairs under U. S. protection, when, suddenly, about 4,000 of them were arrested.

U. S. diplomats are pretty well convinced that there can be no political stability in Greece and no success for the American aid program if the present reactionary Greek regime remains in power. Even patient Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh is reported to have come to this conclusion. To counteract this, Tsaldaris is doing his best to convince Gov. Griswold that there would only be more chaos if the present Greek Government resigned.

Note—Greek internal troubles should be distinguished from Greek border warfare, which is much more likely to be Russian-inspired. Unquestionably, Soviet policy is to make things as hot as possible for the United States along the Albanian, Yugoslav and Bulgarian borders.

GOP [illegible]

Immediately after Congress passed the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, Republican Senate leaders decided to appease unorganized labor by pushing a new minimum-wage increase from 40 to 60 cents an hour. They figured this would restore the party with several million workers who don't have the protection of high union wages.

However, GOP Senators reckoned without some of their fellow-Republicans in the House, especially Missouri's, Max Schwabe. At a closed meeting of the House Republican Steering Committee, the big, farm-bred Congressman rode roughshod over the GOP leadership and the proposed minimum-wage increase.

Majority leader Charlie Halleck had invited all Republican members of the Education and Labor Committee to sit in with the Steering Committee and eleven showed up. Their vote was six to five against a higher minimum wage. Afterward, Schwabe admitted working "night and day" to convert his fellow Republicans.

"All a minimum-wage increase will do," Schwabe argued behind closed doors, "is to sentence those in the lower-income brackets to unemployment and poverty during the next economic slump. The bill would raise wages all along the line. And you cannot disassociate wages and prices."

With this Wisconsin's genial Charles Kersten did not agree.

"An increase in the minimum wage does not mean billiard-balling wages all the way to the top," he declared. "It is a social principle which applies only to the lower brackets. The upper brackets do not need a minimum wage, so there is no reason why this bill should affect their salaries."

Speaking for the Republican leadership, Indiana's Halleck contended that the principle of a minimum wage had been established in the original 1938 bill.

"Now it's just a question of improving on it," he insisted.

But he made no impression on Schwabe, who pooh-poohed the idea that the bill would be a good political move after the tough Taft-Hartley Bill.

No Labor Appeasement

"It is silly to appease labor," thundered the gentleman from Missouri. "The Republican party went to town last year because it was against economic patent medicine. This minimum-wage law is the old NRA dressed in a new packet. I say the bill is poor politics. We must go into the next campaign solid on domestic issues."

Wisconsin's Kersten countered with a moral argument.

"Human labor cannot be treated as any other commodity that can be purchased at the lowest price the market will stanud. The minimum-wage law is a recognition of the dignity or human labor. It should not be placed on the auction block of the blind forces of the market place."

This seemed to rile Kansas' hulking Congressman Wint Smith.

"I am against everything Kersten has said," he snorted.

The author of the bill, fellow-Republican Gerald Landis of Indiana, emphasized four points in urging approval:

1. Minimum wages are just as important to underpaid workers as parity payments to the farmers.

2. A great percentage of workers are not interested in labor unions but in living wages.

3. Politically, the bill is the only method by which the Republican party can open up the south.

4. Many Republicans in industrial districts went out on a limb to support the Taft-Hartley bill. Now it is only fair for the Republicans in the farm districts to back the minimum-wage increase. Despite Landis' able presentation, however, the Committee vote of Republicans on the Labor Committee was 6-5 against him.

Sullivan Describes "Combine" Machine Farmers Are Using

By MARK SULLIVAN

AVONDALE, Chester County, Pa.—The other day, a little delayed by weather, they—what word shall I use? If I make a verb out of the name of the machine that does the work, I should say they "combined" the barley. But that is confusing in sense and awkward to the ear, it is not in colloquial use and and I shrink from it. Yet time and the machine will have their way, and lexicographers will record what they determine. It may be future dictionaries will honor "combined", with accent on the first syllable, as standard usage - and will demean by the abbreviation "obs." some ancient words which the combine is making obsolete.

Anyhow, as a name for the machine I watched as it lumbered up the field, hardly ever was an apter word than combine. Looking like some incredible monstrous bug that has developed antenna and other incongrous appurtenances, it on one side drew the standing barley inward, but it, and passed it into the drubbing clatter of the machine's interior. On the other side, down a small ramp, slid burlap bags of grain. In the whole process only one slight and simple detail, tying the bags, was done by human fingers.

As if exulting in its ingenuity, the combine added a process no farmer had ever thought of. As the grain in its transit to the bag passed up a tiny elevator and through a compartment, a whirling blower removed tiny weed-seeds and dropped them into a container. In successive fillings of the container, some four bushles of weed-seeds were accumulated and later burned. These, before the combine's ingenious sieving, would have remained in the field, to sprout new weeds next year.

Cradles Are Obsolete

I went over in my memory the separate farm operations which this hulking leviathan supersedes or bypasses. Who can tell why, out of a thousand scenes a child's eyes take in, a few are well remembered, while others fade and are forgot. All are equally pristine fresh, for to the child they never existed before. Would vividness of color have anything to do with permanence of memory?

The men whom I saw cutting wheat by hand, in the same field in which this week the combine rumbled, wore red flannel shirts, vivid against the golden wheat. The cutter they used, called a "cradle" was already becoming obsolete, it was succeeded by a horse-drawn reaper. Behind the reaper, along the rows of fallen wheat, men gathered armfulls which they hugged into tight sheaves. Holding a sheaf in one arm, they with the other hand picked up enough straw to make a band, with which they bound the sheaf. Knotting the band was an art, calling for deft fingers. There was art too in putting the sheaves together in stacks, of eight sheaves each, with four as a "cap", the whole cunningly contrived to resist wind and shed rain. After a few days the sheaves were hauled to the barn.

Flails Were Once Used

Presently, along the road and up the lane, came the neighborhood threshing machine, called in our local pronunciation the "thrasher." The earlier ones were drawn by two lumbering oxen called universally "Buck" and "Berry"; these later provided, through a treadmill, the power that threshed the wheat.

No doubt there are statisticians who could tell the number of man-hours' work and also horse-hours and ox-hours, which the combine saves and calculate the economic aspects of mechanized farming. The calculation would be even more prodigious if they based it on the predecessor of the threshing machine. Though I never saw a flail in use, there was an old one in the barn, and a neighbor not yet 60 years old remembers handling one. The flail was just two squared sticks joined at their ends by a leather thong some three inches long. The flailer, holding one stick as a handle, brought the shorter one down upon the wheat or barley spread on the barn floor. I should doubt if the grain drubbed loose by one blow of the flail would be more than a cupful, or if a flailer could thresh more than half a bushel in an hour. But this estimate may be indignantly corrected by some venerable flailer still living.

Truman Appoints New Dealer As Member Of Labor Board

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 18.—President Truman has kept faith with the labor-union partisans by preserving the pro-union majority on the new National Labor Relations Board.

Mr. Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley Bill showed that he had no sympathy with the new law and it gave rise to a widespread impression that he would use every power he possessed to sabotage the Statute. His subsequent profession of an intention to give the law sympathetic treatment seems to have been set at naught.

For the President has appointed former Senator Murdock of Utah, a New Dealer, to the board. The latter fought aggressively the efforts of Representative Howard Smith, of Virginia, Democrat, to conduct a thorough inquiry into the operations of the Wagner law a few years ago when Mr. Murdock, then a member of the House, was serving on the Smith Committee of Investigation. Mr. Murdock's sympathies are with the labor-union side.

Inasmuch as board member Houston has consistently voted with the unions, this gives labor unions at least two out of the five members, and on more issues than not the chairman of the board, Paul Herzog, has taken the union side, thus making a prospective majority of three to two for the labor unions.

Terms Herzog Conscientious

The chances are that Mr. Herzog will be the "swing" man of the board. If he votes with the two members—Mr. Reynolds and the new appointee, Mr. Clay—who are experienced industrial relations counsellors, having worked in industry in that capacity, the board will occasionally reflect a 3-to-2 vote to give management a fair deal.

Mr. Herzog is a conscientious public servant who tries hard to weigh the issues judicially. But his concept of duty has been that the Wagner Act ordered him to encourage collective bargaining and to disparage individual bargaining. He submitted a long brief to the House Committee telling why the Wagner Act should not be amended. He starts with a preconception as to what the Wagner Law rulings taught him as to the superior rights of the union to the rights of the individual.

The reappointment of Mr. Herzog, however, was not only natural but logical. The experience which Mr. Herzog has had will make him invaluable in the future. His viewpoint is needed on the board. President Truman's real mistake is in appointing a New Dealer to the new board instead of appointing two judicially minded and impartial men for the two vacancies so that the board would not start with a partisan or slass-conscious set-up of three to two.

Maybe when some of the labor unions which recently announced that they wouldn't go near the board—they said they would really "snub" it—read about the new appointments, they will change their minds. They will find that in interpretation of the major provisions of the old Wagner Law which have been retained in the Taft-Hartley Law, three men sympathetic with the old and not the new law have been placed on the board.

May Change In 1948

The term of member Houston expires in 1948. This means that, if a Republican president is elected, there will be a new face on the board. It hardly seems likely that the Senate next year will vote to confirm any members of the all-important National Labor Relations board for another five-year term until after the elections have indicated who is going to be in the White House.

The Taft-Hartley law, like its predecessor, the Wagner Act, is full of legal phrases. That is why already there are so many different ideas as to how it will be construed. The Wagner Act decisions and rulings on legal phrases in the law fill several volumes. It may be expected that this will be true of the Taft-Hartley Law. For not only must the board construe the meaning of the phrases in the law but the courts will be asked in review to affirm or reverse the rulings of the board.

The Senate will have an opportunity to consider the new appointees. There is no doubt about the confirmation of Mr. Herzog, who has already been designated as chairman. There may be doubt about the Senate attitude toward some of the other appointees. It seems unlikely that a bill which pased by two-thirds of both Houses will be left for sabotage by presidential appointees who are not really in sympathy with the purposes of the law itself.

FRIGHTENED ATOMS

SOME time ago I received a letter from Albert Einstein addressed to me as "Dear Friend." I had only met Dr. Einstein once, in Shanghai, in a crowd of a hundred or more men and women and I had seen him since on one other occasion, at Carnegie Hall, when he was on the stage and I was in a full-house audience. So I was highly honored when he addressed me as "Dear Friend." But when he said that a group of atomic splitters needed $1,000,000 for a "great educational task," I felt that the friendship came high.

After the atom was split, all sorts of committees appeared to frighten the life out of the American people. One of the statements they all made was that the Russians had or would soon have, or would in two or three or five years have the atom bomb with which to blow us up. Their general solution was to give the bomb to the Russians through the United Nations and then the Russians would not blow us up.

As that seemed to be Alice-in-Wonderlandish, this country paid no attention to the scientists and kept the bomb. Meanwhile, the Russian has been trying to steal the bomb, apparently with little success. So we stockpile bombs; the Russians criticize us; the scientists organize more committees.

Professor Einstein, in his letter, which I shall cherish for the autograph, wrote:

"Through the release of atomic energy, our generation has brought into the world the most revolutionary force since prehistoric man's discovey of fire. This basic power of the universe cannot be fitted into the outmoded concept of narrow nationalisms. . ."

Now, it is just too bad that "narrow nationalism." Those of us who were born in this country, educated in its schools, taught to love its flag and sworn to maintain its Constitution, are quite willing to be accused of "narrow nationalism." We love the United States of America and 11,000,000 were drafted into the army and navy for this recent unnecessary war because they were Americans—narrow nationalists. No American went to war for One World, for the United Nations, or for the Russian Empire. A few Communists might have done that but no American will regard a Communist as an American.

Maybe, Professor Einstein cannot understand that kind of sentimentality. Citizenship has been lightly changeable with him by force of circumstances. He has been a German, a Swiss, and an American in one lifetime. Nationalism is a matter of roots; the more deeply one's roots are in the soil of his nation, the more sentimental he is bound to be about nationalism. Tito can be a Soviet citizen and the head of Yugoslavia; no one can lead the American people who is capable of such dual nationality, for Americans love America.

Maybe, they are narrow-minded. Maybe, they are chauvinistic. Maybe, their eyes are closed to the glories of One World dominated by Stalin, Tito, Dimitrov and their associates. Maybe, they would be smarter if they let the United Nations run this country with Gromyko instead of Harry Truman exercising the Veto.

But, Professor, dumb or smart, nobody could get elected dog-catcher who appealed to the American voter on that program. No sir, I won't give a cent to your "Emergency Committee of Atomic Scientists," even though you sent me an autographed letter with the salutation, "Dear Friend." I am a narrow nationalist and expect to remain one in spite of the scientists. Most Americans are narrow nationalists and atom splitting has not changed them at all.

We have that atom bomb. For better or for worse, we mean to keep it. Possibly the Russians or some other country may steal our property or they might invent their own, even improve upon ours. Maybe some day we shall have to use that bomb again. No American wants it used again. No American wants war. But No American wants his country to pay blackmail for peace. And we shall not be blackmailed as long as we can defend ourselves.

I hope the Professor understands why I did not send a contribution to that million dollar fund he is raising against narrow nationalism.

Old Friends

We are apt to forget old friends as new ones appear, but it's the weathered ones who stay by us, and who constantly return in memory to us, and who welcome us with richness of spirit whenever we return to them for a visit or a meeting. You know the expression, "Like meeting an old friend."

The longer we live the more the old friends become a treasured asset. That's the way it is with everything that has wearing qualities. A great painting, a song, a book—these become old friends for having inspired and uplifted us when most needed. We keep returning to old friends. It's all like old wine becoming mellow—so they say.

I have just returned to Nova Scotia, where I have met so many who have become old and valued friends. I do not look upon them as foreigners, nor would I like to have them look upon me as one. They are just friends—or neighbors, and good ones, at that. The story of Nova Scotia is an intriguing and inspiring one—full of romance, historic lore and multitudes of interests. The people here are genuine and most friendly, and visitors feel at home in an unspoiled atmosphere of primitive beauty.

It's the old friends of the little towns in which I have lived that have lasted longest in my memory. The other day I received a letter from a man in the town where I worked my way through college, and to whom I delivered a newspaper each day. He wrote me of those times, and told me that he was now 93 years of age! How wonderful to have been remembered by such a man—an old friend!

The supreme joy in visiting various towns, cities, or countries is to search out and meet old friends who have made the vanishing years sun-lit and seasoned with happy remembrances.

We should cherish our old friends more, contact them, and constantly try to enrich their lives in some way. There is no possession in all this world so valuable as a friend who has lasted throughout every test for such a one. You then have something more precious than rubies, gold, or in fact anything that has to be measured by material means. How about writing to that old friend of yours—today!

26 Percent Of Americans Cannot Correctly Name National Anthem

"God Bless America" Ties In Popularity

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 18 — Let alone knowing the words, one out of every four Americans cannot correctly name the national anthem of his country.

In a recent survey by the Institute 74 per cent of a nation-wide cross-section of voters could give the correct answer; 11 per cent gave a wrong answer in spite of all the singing of patriotic songs during four years of war; and 15 per cent admitted they did not know that it is the "Star Spangled Banner."

Young people did far better than their elders; 82 per cent among the 21-29 age group had the right answer compared with only 65 per cent of the people over 50. Almost nine out of ten college graduates were correct while 43 per cent of those with grammar school or no education were wrong. More women than men knew the right title.

The song has been criticized in character and too difficult for group singing, and because the words are hard to remember. Just last month a well-known Boston composer and organist launched a move to get "America" or "America the Beautiful" adopted. Both these songs, he said are within the pitch ranges of average voices.

Despite similar sporadic attempts to replace it with another song, the same survey found that "Star Spangled Banner" is still a popular favorite among the country's patriotic tunes. It is tied with a relative newcomer, "God Bless America," the Irving Berlin song made popular by Kate Smith during the war. Women show a slight preference for the Berlin song. Answering the question: "Which ONE of these five songs do you like best?", the voters came through with the following percentages:

|---|---|
| Star Spangled Banner | 31% |
| God Bless America | 31 |
| My Country 'Tis of Thee | 18 |
| America the Beautiful | 13 |
| Columbia the Gem of the Ocean | 5 |
| No Choice | 2 |

Backed by fewer than one out of three voters as the best of the lot, the "Star Spangled Banner" does have this advantage: it is backed by an act of Congress (1931) giving it official standing. To substitute another song in its place would require action by Representatives and Senators who at the moment seem to have weightier problems on their minds.

As most schoolboys know, the words to the national anthem were written by Francis Scott Key, a Baltimore lawyer. After a night of watching the 1814 bombardment of Fort McHenry by the British, he joyously saw at dawn that "the flag was still there." He set the words down the next day to the tune of an old English drinking song, "Anacreon in Heaven."

Today the anthem is, of course, the most-often-played - musical score in the country. Radio stations by tradition use it to end the day's broadcasting; many theatres and sports arenas open their programs by it; and school boys and girls sing it the first thing each morning.

Number Of Registered Aircraft Increases

Forty-six civil aircraft have been registered from Allegany County so far this year, as compared to 20 last year, according to an announcement by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Registrations in the state more than tripled, with 1,468 aircraft reported as of June 1, as compared to 414 at the same time last year. Washington County went up 31 to 38 while one plane was listed from Garrett County each year.

Maryland ranks 19th in the country in total number of aircraft by states, but the increase in registration was above the overall national average. California heads the list with 8,456 planes registered.

The report covers both personal and transport-type aircraft, but does not include National Guard, Army, Navy or Marine Corps planes.

The Denison dam in Texas, on Red river, is the largest earthen structure of its kind in the world.

Specifications For Water Line Ready

Stating that specifications for the alternate water line to run from Lake Gordon to Cumberland have been completed, City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer said yesterday that the line will come in on the Bedford Road from the Union Grove Road to the city.

There will be several intersections with the present line, Rizer said, adding that almost the entire 41,293 feet of the new line will run through private property, and that all rights of way have been secured. Since Bedford Valley homes will be potential water takers, the city engineer explained, there will be several connections at various stations.

A bond of $500,000 by a recognized indemnity company will be required of the bidder who is awarded the contract. Data from test rock soundings are available to bidders at Rizer's office. Cost of the new line, which will double the city's present daily water supply of 12,000,000 gallons, is expected to approach $1,000,000.

Venturi meter tubes will be installed in both the old and new lines to measure the discharge of water.

The first plover egg found in Holland each year, invariably about March 25, is taken to Queen Wilhelmina, who gives 25 guilders as a reward.

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 18 — Let alone knowing the words, one out of every four Americans cannot correctly name the national anthem of his country.

In a recent survey by the Institute 74 per cent of a nation-wide cross-section of voters could give the correct answer; 11 per cent gave a wrong answer in spite of all the singing of patriotic songs during four years of war; and 15 per cent admitted they did not know that it is the "Star Spangled Banner."

Young people did far better than their elders; 82 per cent among the 21-29 age group had the right answer compared with only 65 per cent of the people over 50. Almost nine out of ten college graduates were correct while 43 per cent of those with grammar school or no education were wrong. More women than men knew the right title.

The song has been criticized in character and too difficult for group singing, and because the words are hard to remember. Just last month a well-known Boston composer and organist launched a move to get "America" or "America the Beautiful" adopted. Both these songs, he said are within the pitch ranges of average voices.

Despite similar sporadic attempts to replace it with another song, the same survey found that "Star Spangled Banner" is still a popular favorite among the country's patriotic tunes. It is tied with a relative newcomer, "God Bless America," the Irving Berlin song made popular by Kate Smith during the war. Women show a slight preference for the Berlin song. Answering the question: "Which ONE of these five songs do you like best?", the voters came through with the following percentages:

|---|---|
| Star Spangled Banner | 31% |
| God Bless America | 31 |
| My Country 'Tis of Thee | 18 |
| America the Beautiful | 13 |
| No Choice | 2 |

Backed by fewer than one out of three voters as the best of the lot, the "Star Spangled Banner" does have this advantage: it is backed by an act of Congress (1931) giving it official standing. To substitute another song in its place would require action by Representatives and Senators who at the moment seem to have weightier problems on their minds.

As most schoolboys know, the words to the national anthem were written by Francis Scott Key, a Baltimore lawyer. After a night of watching the 1814 bombardment of Fort McHenry by the British, he joyously saw at dawn that "the flag was still there." He set the words down the next day to the tune of an old English drinking song, "Anacreon in Heaven."

Today the anthem is, of course, the most-often-played - musical score in the country. Radio stations by tradition use it to end the day's broadcasting; many theatres and sports arenas open their programs by it; and school boys and girls sing it the first thing each morning.

Specifications For Water Line Ready

Stating that specifications for the alternate water line to run from Lake Gordon to Cumberland have been completed, City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer said yesterday that the line will come in on the Bedford Road from the Union Grove Road to the city.

There will be several intersections with the present line, Rizer said, adding that almost the entire 41,293 feet of the new line will run through private property, and that all rights of way have been secured. Since Bedford Valley homes will be potential water takers, the city engineer explained, there will be several connections at various stations.

A bond of $500,000 by a recognized indemnity company will be required of the bidder who is awarded the contract. Data from test rock soundings are available to bidders at Rizer's office. Cost of the new line, which will double the city's present daily water supply of 12,000,000 gallons, is expected to approach $1,000,000.

Venturi meter tubes will be installed in both the old and new lines to measure the discharge of water.

Number Of Registered Aircraft Increases

Forty-six civil aircraft have been registered from Allegany County so far this year, as compared to 20 last year, according to an announcement by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Registrations in the state more than tripled, with 1,468 aircraft reported as of June 1, as compared to 414 at the same time last year. Washington County went up 31 to 38 while one plane was listed from Garrett County each year.

Maryland ranks 19th in the country in total number of aircraft by states, but the increase in registration was above the overall national average. California heads the list with 8,456 planes registered.

The report covers both personal and transport-type aircraft, but does not include National Guard, Army, Navy or Marine Corps planes.

The Denison dam in Texas, on Red river, is the largest earthen structure of its kind in the world.

New Rent Control Law Is Clarified

Caleb J. White, director of the Cumberland area rent office, has announced that the new federal rent control law does not automatically increase rents.

In reporting an unusually heavy amount of inquiries concerning the 15 per cent raise provided for in the new act, White said in the absence of a written contract agreement between landlord and tenant, rents are substantially on the same basis that governed preceding the passage of the act.

White said "If a landlord and tenant voluntarily and in good faith enter into a written lease on or before December 31, the Housing and Rent Act of 1947 provides that the rent may be increased by not more that 15 per cent. In order for the lease to be valid it must be effective after July 1, 1947, and must expire on or after December 31, 1948."

In the absence of such a contract, the same legal maximum rent that governed on June 30, 1947, is in force and services and equipment furnished must be continued. A tenant's refusal to sign the lease in no way affects his tenancy, and does not constitute ground for eviction.

Twelve contracts have been filed already and forms may be secured at the local office in the County Building, Union Street. A true copy of the lease signed by both the tenant and landlord must be filed within 15 days after the lease is executed, together with three copies of the lease registration.

Horse Show To Feature Annual Farmers' Picnic

Preliminary plans have been made for Cumberland's first annual horse show, to be held September 6 at Fairgo, according to J. William Loar, president of the Allegany County Farm Bureau.

This is the first attempt at holding such a show here, and members of the Farm Bureau believe there will be numerous entries and considerable interest among rural people as well as the general public.

Loar is general chairman of arrangements for the affair, and he is being assisted by Michael S. Heiskell, Ellerslie. Various classes of competition of riders will be arranged and a series of events announced.

The show will be a major attraction of a basket picnic, scheduled for 11 a. m., with the show scheduled for 2 p. m. Following the show, a round and square dance will be held at the Jockey Club.

As an added attraction, arrangements are being made for a pet show under the direction of Hugh Stevenson, Ellerslie. The entry list will include all types of animals, and children can enter their pets. Prizes will be awarded, Stevenson said.

Members of the Junior Extention 4-H Clubs will assist in arrangements for the dancing, with Roy Shryock in charge of the dance and W. H. Johnson in charge of music. Mrs. Robert Pinault will be in charge of the concession stands. Harry J. Barton will be treasurer of the committee.

New Rent Control Law Is Clarified

Caleb J. White, director of the Cumberland area rent office, has announced that the new federal rent control law does not automatically increase rents.

In reporting an unusually heavy amount of inquiries concerning the 15 per cent raise provided for in the new act, White said in the absence of a written contract agreement between landlord and tenant, rents are substantially on the same basis that governed preceding the passage of the act.

White said "If a landlord and tenant voluntarily and in good faith enter into a written lease on or before December 31, the Housing and Rent Act of 1947 provides that the rent may be increased by not more that 15 per cent. In order for the lease to be valid it must be effective after July 1, 1947, and must expire on or after December 31, 1948."

In the absence of such a contract, the same legal maximum rent that governed on June 30, 1947, is in force and services and equipment furnished must be continued. A tenant's refusal to sign the lease in no way affects his tenancy, and does not constitute ground for eviction.

Twelve contracts have been filed already and forms may be secured at the local office in the County Building, Union Street. A true copy of the lease signed by both the tenant and landlord must be filed within 15 days after the lease is executed, together with three copies of the lease registration.

Horse Show To Feature Annual Farmers' Picnic

Preliminary plans have been made for Cumberland's first annual horse show, to be held September 6 at Fairgo, according to J. William Loar, president of the Allegany County Farm Bureau.

This is the first attempt at holding such a show here, and members of the Farm Bureau believe there will be numerous entries and considerable interest among rural people as well as the general public.

Loar is general chairman of arrangements for the affair, and he is being assisted by Michael S. Heiskell, Ellerslie. Various classes of competition of riders will be arranged and a series of events announced.

The show will be a major attraction of a basket picnic, scheduled for 11 a. m., with the show scheduled for 2 p. m. Following the show, a round and square dance will be held at the Jockey Club.

As an added attraction, arrangements are being made for a pet show under the direction of Hugh Stevenson, Ellerslie. The entry list will include all types of animals, and children can enter their pets. Prizes will be awarded, Stevenson said.

Members of the Junior Extention 4-H Clubs will assist in arrangements for the dancing, with Ray Shryock in charge of the dance and W. H. Johnson in charge of music. Mrs. Robert Pinault will be in charge of the concession stands. Harry J. Barton will be treasurer of the committee.

Her Boy Friend Suddenly Changed Toward Her

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I used to go steady with a boy that I thought the world of, and still do, and to all appearances he loved me just as much. We had our quarrels, but we always made right up.

Two months ago, he came over to my house one day and said he wouldn't be seeing me any more. He offered me no reason of any kind. Nobody knows why he is mad at me. Mutual friends know nothing, either. They only say he has been acting strangely lately, and has been fighting with most everyone. He usually isn't one to be mad at anyone.

Could you advise me what to do? Surely he couldn't have fallen out of love with me so soon.

"TROUBLED"

Dear "Troubled":

If this boy is "acting strangely", and having trouble with all his friends, it may be that some nervous or emotional difficulty is at the bottom of his apparent change of personality.

But you must remember that while they are young, both boys and girls are apt very readily to lose their interest in one particular person and be fascinated by someone else for no discoverable reason except that youth is a time of change. Most young people "go steady" with several different persons of the opposite sex before they are old enough to settle seriously on one. It may be that this has happened to your boy friend, and he can't give you a reason because there actually isn't anything he can put a finger on.

In either case, however, I would say that all you can do is to wait and see what happens.

Vandergrift Tops The MA

Ruth Hit Over C. F. Fence

Frey Dies In Explosion

By C. V. BURNS

Edgar McDonald, Headsville sharpshooter, who will defend three West Virginia trapshooting titles when the 27th annual shoot opens today at the traps of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, broke 1,684 out of a possible 1,750 clay targets last year for an average of 96.22.

While they didn't shoot at as many targets as McDonald, two Charleston gunners, Ernie Wolfe and L. M. LaFollette, the 1946 state doubles champion (84-100), posted higher averages.

Wolfe smashed 775 out of 800 for an average of 96.87 while LaFollette cracked 337 out of 350 for a mark of 96.28.

McDonald shot at and broke more targets than any gunner in the Mountain State last year. The popular Mineral countian has been blasting clay birds since 1925.

Vandergrift (Pa.), smallest of the eight cities, was in first place in the Middle Atlantic Baseball League the other day. The town's population is 10,725 compared to Youngstown's 167,720 which held down fourth place.

Erie (Pa.) 116,955 was second; Oil City (Pa.) 20,379, third; Niagara Falls (N. Y.) 78,029, fifth; Butler (Pa.) 24,477, sixth; Uniontown (Pa.) 21,819, seventh, and Johnstown (Pa.) 66,688 last.

A little town shall lead them.

Babe Ruth not only smacked a home run over the right field fence at Community Park in an exhibition game between the New York Yankees and Cumberland Colts in 1931 but he also belted the ball over the centerfield fence to the railroad bank during batting practice before that game.

The Babe is the only player ever to achieve such a feat.

Eddie Diehl tells us that John "Boots" Sapp is the owner of the ball that Ruth hit over the centerfield barrier.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, and a delegation from Latrobe, Pa., will meet in Pittsburgh today to discuss plans for establishment of a pro grid hall of fame, similar to baseball's Cooperstown, at Latrobe. The play-for-pay football game is believed to have originated in Latrobe about 1895.

Carl Frey, who played an infield position with Johnstown when the Cumberland Colts were in the Middle Atlantic League, met death last Sunday in an explosion at Baystown, Texas. Frey, who got his start in baseball on the Pittsburgh sandlots, moved to the west after playing with the Johnnies and later played at Portland, Oregon.

One of the mysteries of St. Mary's A. C. smoker last week was the appearance of Bobby Porter in one of the two-round exhibition bouts.

Several months ago the local AAU physician recommended to the boxing commissioner that Porter be requested to hang up the gloves for his own health and welfare.

One of the promoters reporting the names of the boxers in the exhibition matches withheld Porter's name.

We don't believe that's a nice way for a new club to start out.

Porter is ineligible to participate in any future amateur ring engagements here. This announcement is a duplicate of the one made several months ago.

One New York writer says Bobo Newsom is still a clown even as a Yankee. He just can't suppress the impulse.

In his first game with the Yanks last Sunday he tapped to Haynes of the White Sox and refusing to run it out, lumbered to the Yankee dugout. Haynes didn't make the throw to first.

Suddenly Newsom tore out of the dugout on a dash for first and Haynes had to hurry his throw to a startled Rudy York.

Funny part of it was Umpire Cal Hubbard said Bobo would have been entitled to the base, despite the dugout detour, had he beaten the throw.

Back in the days when Irvin "Stub" Rase, of Frostburg, was pitching winning ball for the Cumberland Colts of the Mid-Atlantic loop he was always up to some trick to get a chuckle out of the fans or players.

One of his favorite stunts was to bunt to the pitcher, stop halfway down the first base line and then try to get the pitcher to chase him back to the plate.

And many a twirler fell for the trick and began to chase Rase until it dawned upon them how foolish it looked.

Dan Budd, the 200-pound negro center, who starred with Bedford High School football teams for the past several years, and his brother, Dave, enlisted in the armed forces the other day.

If the South American horses, Ensuendo and Endeavour from Brazil and Argentina, make a good showing in the $100,000 Gold Cup race at Belmont Park today, they'll appear in a special race at Monmouth Park, July 30.

Branca Shuts Out St. Louis, 7 To 0, Hurls One-Hitter

Slaughter Gets Lone Blow In Night Tilt

BROOKLYN, July 18 (AP)—Ralph Branca, 21-year-old righthander, pitched seen perfect innings before giving up a hit to Enos Slaughter, leading off the eighth for St. Louis, and went off to blank the Cardinals for Brooklyn 7-0 tonight. Ed Stanky, with two doubles and a triple, and Jackie Robinson, with a home run and single led the Dodger attack. Slaughter, with a single, and Whitey Kurowski with a base on balls, were the only Redbirds to reach base as Branca won his 15th game of the season. Score:

Hyndman Firemen Top Central City

Three Runs In Sixth Decide Battle, 6-5

HYNDMAN, Pa., July 18—Manager "Pete" Cook's Hyndman Firemen of the Bi-State Baseball League scored three runs in the sixth inning today to defeat Central City of the Somerset County Basball League by the score of 6 to 5.

A two base muff by Lucas on Johnny Waltman's fly to right field with the bases loaded in the 6th sent over the tying and winning runs.

Bobby Shaffer homered over the left field fence for Hyndman with one aboard in the first inning while Dante, Central City first sacker, smacked one over the fence in left-center for four hassocks in the third frame.

Tommy Burns, who relieved Glenn Evans in the fourth, let the visitors down with three hits in 5⅔ stanzas, struck out six and received credit for the victory.

Frank Stranahan And Marvin Ward Go To Semi-Finals

Favorites Advance In Western Amateur

By SKIPPER PATRICK

DES MOINES, July 18 (AP) — Blazing three eagles along the way, defending champion Frank Stranahan beat down Big William (Bill) Campbell, Huntington, W. Va., 2 and 1, and Marvin (Bud) Ward toppled John Jacobs, Cedar Rapids, Ia., 1 up, as the favorites advanced to semi-finals of the Western Amateur Golf Tournament today.

Stranahan of Toledo, O., one of the game's greatest competitors, was forced to play his best golf thus far in the tournament in getting past Campbell, Princeton University's Eastern Intercollegiate champion last year.

Ward, who has won two national and two western amateur meets, had to rally on the home stretch to oust Jacobs, Big Nine Champion at Iowa University in 1946.

Semi-final foe for Stranahan in a 36-hole match tomorrow will be Thomas Sheehan of Birmingham, Mich., who won today over Veteran Joe Switzer of St. Louis, 4 and 2. Both Sheehan and Switzer are former Notre Dame stars.

Ward will duel tomorrow with Robert (Bob) Willits, the soft-spoken, handsome Kansas City lad, who whipped Robert Cardinal of San Francisco, a Stanford University ace last year, 2 and 1.

Campbell, a tall, heavyweight swinger, twice rallied on the front nine of the wind-swept, 6,426-yard Wakonda Club course, but a pair of Stranahan eagles—one a 100-yard wedge shot that sailed into the sixth cup—had him one-down at the turn.

Stranahan increased his lead to 2 up on the 10th when Campbell lost his putting touch and took a one-over 5. Campbell sank a long putt for a birdie 3 on the 12th to climb within a hole of his foe, but went 2 over par on the 13th stretch and was never able to threaten the defending champion again.

After halving the 14th, Stranahan came up with his third eagle on the next hole with a 12-foot putt that followed a great approach for a 3 on the 482-yard 15th.

Still battling gamely, Campbell holed a downhill, 40-foot putt to win the 16th, but Stranahan dunked an 8-footer on the seventeenth to halve that hole and end the match.

Keller Goes Under Knife, May Play This Year

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Yankee Outfielder Charley Keller, who underwent an operation for the removal of a ruptured spinal disc, tonight was conceded a chance of getting back into uniform in time for the World Series.

The 30-year-old Maryland slugger went under the knife at the New York Hospital for special surgery yesterday. One of the team physicians, who preferred to remain anonymous, said "he'll be in the hospital for two weeks and should recover in six to eight weeks."

Corriganville Wins

Corriganville took the Hyndman VFW into camp in a County Softball League game yesterday at Hyndman, Pa., by the score of 9-6. Murray hammered a homer and single to lead the Corriganville batters while See got three hits in four times at bat for V. F. W. Score:

McDonald Tops Singles Field In Warmup Shoot At Ridgeley

Whitfield, Sanders Tied In Handicap

Breaking 99 out of a possible 100 targets from the 16-yard mark, Ed McDonald took first place in the singles yesterday in the warm-up shoot preceding the 27th annual West Virginia trapshooting tournament which will get under way today at 10 a. m. at the traps of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club on the Frankfort Road.

Runner-up honors in the singles went to Dr. B. R. Kenter, of Bluefield, W. Va., who shattered 97 targets.

Walter Whitfield, Westernport, Md., shooting from the 19-yard line and John Sanders, of Keyser, firing from the 23-yard mark, broke 48 out of a possible 50 to tie for high gun in the handicap event. McDonald next with 47 breaks from 23 yards out.

Tony Francis, Westernport, shattered 44 out of 25 pairs of clays to win the doubles. McDonald was second with 42.

Between 50 and 75 West Virginia and out-of-state gunners are expected to compete in the state tourney which will be held today and tomorrow. Handicap and doubles champions will be crowned today while on Sunday the singles and all-around championships will be decided. Programs on both days start at 10 o'clock.

Arthur Cuscaden and Fred Tomlin are cashiering the shoot and Robert Powell will be in charge of the traps. The three are well known professional shooters. Scores:

GIOSA SCORES UPSET, DECISIONS FUSARI

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP) — Eddie Giosa, a stumpy little left hook specialist out of Philadelphia, pulled a large rabbit out of the hat tonight by upsetting Charley Fusari, highly touted Irvington, N. J., welterweight in ten rounds in Madison Square Garden. Giosa weighed 137½; Fusari 144½.

A 17 to 5 underdog in the betting, Giosa came on down the stretch with free-swinging left hooks, fired out of a crouch which Fusari just didn't know how to deal with, to take the decision of both judges, while Referee Arthur Donovan balloted for a draw.

The Associated Press score card called it five rounds apiece, but gave the squat Quaker City swatter a slight edge on points, particularly from the seventh through the ninth when he piled up his biggest margin.

The Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

The Case of Rocky Graziano

Rocky Graziano, the Dead End kind from Brooklyn, is now middleweight champion of the world.

Rocky is not what you would call a lovable or a likeable character, packed with intelligence and charm, but he is still the middleweight champion of the toughest division we have. The only active division we have left.

His profession is prize fighting, which is the lowest form of making a living. And the toughest. But, it is still his profession. And it is a profession that demands certain important qualities before you reach the top.

As we understand the case, Graziano was barred in New York by the district attorney's office, with Eddie Eagan of the Boxing Commission forced into a position he was never too keen about. Graziano's main offense was a matter of politics. Too many were looking for headlines. This is a normal situation.

As we have said before, Graziano is not a likeable or a lovable character. But he has proved that he can fight. He doesn't wear a tie and his manners leave much to be desired. But, he can nail you and hurt you, and that happens to be his trade.

The main answer is that right now Rocky Graziano is the middleweight champion of the world. There is no one even close to Gus Lesnevich or Ray Robinson in their class. They are three Robinson Crusoes on a desert island.

But, outside of Tonk Zale, Rocky Graziano still has LaMotte and Cerdan left. And one or two others. He happens to be in the fistic land flowing with milk and honey. And, I believe, he has earned his place to make one of the big killings of his game.

He proved both his ability and his gameness against Tony Zale. He had to hurdle the handicap of their first fight, where he was accused of taking a quick powder. He was being beaten again when he came from behind to win. He had to show double courage here.

More About Graziano

Suppose we admit that Rocky Graziano is not the type of person you might want to invite into your home, any more enthusiastically than you might welcome a visit from a Bengal tiger. This has nothing to do with the case. The bum from Brooklyn can fight. He is not a Plato, a Keats, a Truman or a Dewey. He is just a tough punk who can throw a punch and take a punch. These are not qualities to be overlooked in a softening world.

His favorite literature is comic strips. Who cares, as long as he can nail you with a right or absorb a left to chin or body?

How can New York keep him away? New York can't, unless it can prove far more than it has proved so far, and forget about the political side.

Here is a peculiar point, which I know Eddie Eagan, Chairman of the New York Boxing Commission understands: Rocky Graziano can do without New York, better than New York can do without Graziano. A Dead End kid from Brooklyn, a collarless clouter who adds nothing in the way of culture, class or the refinements of life, a complete roughneck, has the eminent New York State Boxing Commission involved in a snarl. I saw him nail Marty Servo when Servo had both hands on the floor. It was the most palpable foul I've ever seen. But Graziano won.

What will New York do about the situation? After all, Graziano is the middleweight champion, in the only tough division of the game today. He came from a long way back to beat Tony Zale. Whether you like him or not, Rocky Graziano is the top man in boxing today.

Allen Sheetz faced 24 batsmen, yielded only two hits and failed to issue a pass in pitching Manager Frank Riehl's Cumberland Amvets to their fifth straight victory of the City Softball League's second half race over Lacy's Delicatets yesterday at Campobello. The score was 8-1.

Doyle George started the Amvets on the road to triumph when he homered with one aboard in the third to give the league leaders a 2-1 advantage. The winners scored four of their runs in the fourth.

George, Lou Bell, Tommy Geatz and Sheetz had two hits each for the victors while Lacy's only hits were singles by Penner and Scaletta. Geatz played a bangup game at second base for the Amvets while Penner made several nice catches in center field for the Delicatets.

Gaffney Hits Two Homers

Jim Gaffney was the "whole show" as Astor Cab walloped the Maccabees on the Rolling Mill field, 10 to 4. He smacked a pair of homers, one with three aboard and the other with two on to account for seven tallies and in addition pitched a nice article of ball. Payne and Haller had two hits each for the Bees.

The V.F.W. scored two runs in the final inning to nose out North End Social and Athletic Club at Stitcher Field, 10 to 9. In the 7th Kreitzburg tripled and scored the tying run when Decker was safe on an error. Abe sacrificed Decker to third and Duncan singled over the deciding marker. Kreitzburg connected for a triple, double and single for the Vets while Mulvey rapped a homer and Bill Cumiskey larruped a triple and two singles for North End.

Concord Trounces Legion

Carter Banks, relieving Nailor in the second inning, registered his third shutout triumph of the season when the Concord Clothiers walloped the American Legion at East Side field, 15-0. Banks yielded three hits. He previously blanked the VFW 8-0 and the Maccabees 10-0.

Tommy Smith with 4 hits in 5 trips and Ray Cleggett with a triple, double and single sparked Concord's 18-hit offensive. James Smith, the Clothiers third sacker, featured with an unassisted double play with the bases loaded in the second frame while Lucas, Legion right fielder, turned in a shoestring catch on a drive from Brown's bat.

Elliott and Johnson batted in two runs in the 7th frame to give Reed's Electricians a 12 to 10 verdict over the Virginia Avenue Merchants at Taylor Field. Pete Elliott poled a homer in the 5th and Hixenbaugh, Porter and Beckman had two hits each for the winners. Mason and Morgan led Virginia Avenue with two blows apiece. Scores:

Eagles Play Legion Here Sunday At 3 P. M.

A three-run rally in the seventh inning enabled the United States Naval Reserve team to come from behind and defeat the Ridgeley American Legion by the score of 8 to 7 in a twilight Interstate League game yesterday in Ridgeley. Darkness halted the game after eight innings had been played.

The winners were outhit 17 to 8. The game was marked by ten extra base hits, including a double and three singles by F. Comer and a homer, double and single by Cecil of the losers. Davis obtained two of the Naval Reserve's eight safeties.

Locke Grabs Lead In Canadian Open

Bobby's Score Is 201, Holds Edge By Stroke

TORONTO, July 18 (AP) — Bobby Locke of South Africa took over the lead in the Canadian Open golf championship tonight with a four-under-par 67 on today's third round for a 54-hole total of 201, one stroke better than Ed Oliver of Wilmington, Del., and Nick Wisnock, Detroit amateur.

Locke went four under par at the 10th hole and shot exact par for each hole to finish.

Bobby Gray, the host club pro, also shot a 67 and moved into third place behind Locke and Oliver with a 203.

Ellsworth Vines, Los Angeles, last of the threesome, came in with a five-under-par 66 to put his 54-hole total at 206.

When Locke jumped into the lead—a late finisher just before 8 p. m.—there was no chance of his being overhauled by the players still on the course. But some of the first 75 players to qualify for the final round of the tournament tomorrow still had a chance to make it.

One of the surprises of the day was a hole-in-one shot by Phil Cote, Sarnia, Ont., amateur, on the 125-yard 11th but he was far off the leader's page.

Peggy Kirk Wins

AKRON, O., July 18. (AP)—Auburn-haired Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., staged a brilliant rally today to win the 1947 women's Ohio golf championship, 2 and 1, on the 35th hole of a tournament finals match with Cleveland city champion Jean Hopkins at Portage Country Club.

Dairy Appeal Denied

BALTIMORE, July 18—(AP)—Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut denied today new trial motions filed in behalf of South Mountain Dairies, Inc., of Middletown, Md., and Alex Eisenberg, its president.

Judge Chesnut had fined the dairy and Eisenberg $10,000 each last May on OPA charges of selling butter at overceiling prices.

Fred Hutchinson Yields Two Hits And Whiffs Seven

Halts Yankees' Bid For 20th Straight

DETROIT, July 18. (AP)—Freddie Hutchinson, serious Detroit Tiger righthander, squelched the New York Yankees' bid for their 20th straight victory—an American League record—with a near-perfect two-hit pitching performance today in which he yielded just two singles, one a bunt, as the Tigers won by the shutout count of 8 to 0.

Hutchinson, who faced only 28 men—one more than the minimum—hadn't started a game in a month because of an ailing shoulder but had everything he needed today, and then some.

He struck out seven men and walked none as the Yanks hit only five balls out of the infield in their futile twilight bid for the record.

Hutchinson himself, with two doubles and a single, got more hits than he gave the Yanks, and the Tigers put together their wildest hitting day of the season to register 18 safeties off the combined pitching of Randy Gumpert and Karl Drews. Box:

Ed Broke 1,684 Targets

Vandergrift Tops The MA

Ruth Hit Over C. F. Fence

By C. V. BURNS

Edgar McDonald, Headsville sharpshooter, who will defend three West Virginia trapshooting titles when the 27th annual shoot opens today at the traps of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, broke 1,684 out of a possible 1,750 clay targets last year for an average of 96.22.

While they didn't shoot at as many targets as McDonald, two Charleston gunners, Ernie Wolfe and L. M. LaFollette, the 1946 state doubles champion (84-100), posted higher averages.

Wolfe smashed 775 out of 800 for an average of 96.87 while LaFollette cracked 337 out of 350 for a mark of 96.28.

McDonald shot at and broke more targets than any gunner in the Mountain State last year. The popular Mineral countian has been blasting clay birds since 1925.

Vandergrift (Pa.), smallest of the eight cities, was in first place in the Middle Atlantic Baseball League the other day. The town's population is 10,725 compared to Youngstown's 167,720 which held down fourth place.

Erie (Pa.) 116,955 was second; Oil City (Pa.) 20,379, third; Niagara Falls (N. Y.) 78,029, fifth; Butler (Pa.) 24,477, sixth; Uniontown (Pa.) 21,819, seventh, and Johnstown (Pa.) 66,688 last.

A little town shall lead them.

Babe Ruth not only smacked a home run over the right field fence at Community Park in an exhibition game between the New York Yankees and Cumberland Colts in 1931 but he also belted the ball over the centerfield fence to the railroad bank during batting practice before that game.

The Babe is the only player ever to achieve such a feat.

Eddie Diehl tells us that John "Boots" Sapp is the owner of the ball that Ruth hit over the centerfield barrier.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, and a delegation from Latrobe, Pa., will meet in Pittsburgh today to discuss plans for establishment of a pro grid hall of fame, similar to baseball's Cooperstown, at Latrobe. The play-for-pay football game is believed to have originated in Latrobe about 1895.

Carl Frey, who played an infield position with Johnstown when the Cumberland Colts were in the Middle Atlantic League, met death last Sunday in an explosion at Baystown, Texas. Frey, who got his start in baseball on the Pittsburgh sandlots, moved to the west after playing with the Johnnies and later played at Portland, Oregon.

One of the mysteries of St. Mary's A. C. smoker last week was the appearance of Bobby Porter in one of the two-round exhibition bouts.

Several months ago the local AAU physician recommended to the boxing commissioner that Porter be requested to hang up the gloves for his own health and welfare.

One of the promoters reporting the names of the boxers in the exhibition matches withheld Porter's name.

We don't believe that's a nice way for a new club to start out.

Porter is ineligible to participate in any future amateur ring engagements here. This announcement is a duplicate of the one made several months ago.

One New York writer says Bobo Newsom is still a clown even as a Yankee. He just can't suppress the impulse.

In his first game with the Yanks last Sunday he tapped to Haynes of the White Sox and refusing to run it out, lumbered to the Yankee dugout. Haynes didn't make the throw to first.

Suddenly Newsom tore out of the dugout on a dash for first and Haynes had to hurry his throw to a startled Rudy York.

Funny part of it was Umpire Cal Hubbard said Bobo would have been entitled to the base, despite the dugout detour, had he beaten the throw.

Back in the days when Irvin "Stub" Rase, of Frostburg, was pitching winning ball for the Cumberland Colts of the Mid-Atlantic loop he was always up to some trick to get a chuckle out of the fans or players.

One of his favorite stunts was to bunt to the pitcher, stop halfway down the first base line and then try to get the pitcher to chase him back to the plate.

And many a twirler fell for the trick and began to chase Rase until it dawned upon them how foolish it looked.

Dan Budd, the 200-pound negro center, who starred with Bedford High School football teams for the past several years, and his brother, Dave, enlisted in the armed forces the other day.

If the South American horses Ensuendo and Endeavour from Brazil and Argentina, make a good showing in the $100,000 Gold Cup race at Belmont Park today, they'll appear in a special race at Monmouth Park, July 30.

Eddie Brennan, who served as racing secretary at Fairgo from 1926 through 1945, is the general manager at the New Jersey track. His racing secretary is John Turner, Jr., who takes over that post here next month.

Brennan was presented a plaque by the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association at a dinner Thursday night.

Hyndman Firemen Top Central City

Three Runs In Sixth Decide Battle, 6-5

HYNDMAN, Pa., July 18—Manager "Pete" Cook's Hyndman Firemen of the Bi-State Baseball League scored three runs in the sixth inning today to defeat Central City of the Somerset County Basball League by the score of 6 to 5.

A two base muff by Lucas on Johnny Waltman's fly to right field with the bases loaded in the 6th sent over the tying and winning runs.

Bobby Shaffer homered over the left field fence for Hyndman with one aboard in the first inning while Dante, Central City first sacker, smacked one over the fence in left-center for four hassocks in the third frame.

Tommy Burns, who relieved Glenn Evans in the fourth, let the visitors down with three hits in 5⅔ stanzas, struck out six and received credit for the victory.

Frank Stranahan And Marvin Ward Go To Semi-Finals

Favorites Advance In Western Amateur

By SKIPPER PATRICK

DES MOINES, July 18 (AP) — Blazing three eagles along the way, defending champion Frank Stranahan beat down Big William (Bill) Campbell, Huntington, W. Va., 2 and 1, and Marvin (Bud) Ward toppled John Jacobs, Cedar Rapids, Ia., 1 up, as the favorites advanced to semi-finals of the Western Amateur Golf Tournament today.

Stranahan of Toledo, O., one of the game's greatest competitors, was forced to play his best golf thus far in the tournament in getting past Campbell, Princeton University's Eastern Intercollegiate champion last year.

Ward, who has won two national and two western amateur meets, had to rally on the home stretch to oust Jacobs, Big Nine Champion at Iowa University in 1946.

Semi-final foe for Stranahan in a 36-hole match tomorrow will be Thomas Sheehan of Birmingham, Mich., who won today over Veteran Joe Switzer of St. Louis, 4 and 2. Both Sheehan and Switzer are former Notre Dame stars.

Ward will duel tomorrow with Robert (Bob) Willits, the soft-spoken, handsome Kansas City lad who whipped Robert Cardinal of San Francisco, a Stanford University ace last year, 2 and 1.

Campbell, a tall, heavyweight swinger, twice rallied on the front nine of the wind-swept, 6,426-yard Wakonda Club course, but a pair of Stranahan eagles—one a 100-yard wedge shot that sailed into the sixth cup—had him one-down at the turn.

Stranahan increased his lead to 2 up on the 10th when Campbell lost his putting touch and took a one-over 5. Campbell sank a long putt for a birdie 3 on the 12th to climb within a hole of his foe, but went 2 over par on the 13th stretch and was never able to threaten the defending champion again.

After halving the 14th, Stranahan came up with his third eagle on the next hole with a 12-foot putt that followed a great approach for a 3 on the 482-yard 15th.

Still battling gamely, Campbell holed a downhill, 40-foot putt to win the 16th, but Stranahan dunked an 8-footer on the seventeenth to halve that hole and end the match.

GIOSA SCORES UPSET, DECISIONS FUSARI

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP) — Eddie Giosa, a stumpy little left hook specialist out of Philadelphia, pulled a large rabbit out of the hat tonight by upsetting Charley Fusari, highly touted Irvington, N. J., welterweight in ten rounds in Madison Square Garden. Giosa weighed 137½; Fusari 144½.

A 17 to 5 underdog in the betting, Giosa came on down the stretch with free-swinging left hooks, fired out of a crouch which Fusari just didn't know how to deal with, to take the decision of both judges, while Referee Arthur Donovan balloted for a draw.

The Associated Press score card called it five rounds apiece, but gave the squat Quaker City swatter a slight edge on points, particularly from the seventh through the ninth when he piled up his biggest margin.

The Sportlight by Grantland Rice

The Case of Rocky Graziano

Rocky Graziano, the Dead End kind from Brooklyn, is now middleweight champion of the world.

Rocky is not what you would call a lovable or a likeable character, packed with intelligence and charm, but he is still the middleweight champion of the toughest division we have. The only active division we have left.

His profession is prize fighting, which is the lowest form of making a living. And the toughest. But, it is still his profession. And it is a profession that demands certain important qualities before you reach the top.

As we understand the case, Graziano was barred in New York by the district attorney's office, with Eddie Eagan of the Boxing Commission forced into a position he was never too keen about. Graziano's main offense was a matter of politics. Too many were looking for headlines. This is a normal situation.

As we have said before, Graziano is not a likeable or a lovable character. But he has proved that he can fight. He doesn't wear a tie and his manners leave much to be desired. But, he can nail you and hurt you, and that happens to be his trade.

The main answer is that right now Rocky Graziano is the middleweight champion of the world. There is no one even close to Gus Lesnevich or Ray Robinson in their class. They are three Robinson Crusoes on a desert island.

But, outside of Tonk Zale, Rocky Graziano still has LaMotte and Cerdan left. And one or two others. He happens to be in the fistic land flowing with milk and honey. And, I believe, he has earned his place to make one of the big killings of his game.

He proved both his ability and his gameness against Tony Zale. He had to hurdle the handicap of their first fight, where he was accused of taking a quick powder. He was being beaten again when he came from behind to win. He had to show double courage here.

More About Graziano

Suppose we admit that Rocky Graziano is not the type of person you might want to invite into your home, any more enthusiastically than you might welcome a visit from a Bengal tiger. This has nothing to do with the case. The bum from Brooklyn can fight. He is not a Plato, a Keats, a Truman or a Dewey. He is just a tough punk who can throw a punch and take a punch. These are not qualities to be overlooked in a softening world.

His favorite literature is comic strips. Who cares, as long as he can nail you with a right or absorb a left to chin or body?

How can New York keep him away? New York can't, unless it can prove far more than it has proved so far, and forget about the political side.

Here is a peculiar point, which I know Eddie Eagan, Chairman of the New York Boxing Commission understands: Rocky Graziano can do without New York, better than New York can do without Graziano. A Dead End kid from Brooklyn, a collarless clouter who adds nothing in the way of culture, class or the refinements of life, a complete roughneck, has the eminent New York State Boxing Commission involved in a snarl. I saw him nail Marty Servo when Servo had both hands on the floor. It was the most palpable foul I've ever seen. But Graziano won.

What will New York do about the situation? After all, Graziano is the middleweight champion, in the only tough division of the game today. He came from a long way back to beat Tony Zale. Whether you like him or not, Rocky Graziano is the top man in boxing today.

Doyle George started the Amvets on the road to triumph when he homered with one aboard in the third to give the league leaders a 2-1 advantage. The winners scored four of their runs in the fourth.

Tommy Smith with 4 hits in 5 trips and Ray Cleggett with a triple, double and single sparked Concord's 18-hit offensive. James Smith, the Clothiers third sacker, featured with an unassisted double play with the bases loaded in the second frame while Lucas, Legion right fielder, turned in a shoestring catch on a drive from Brown's bat.

Elliott and Johnson batted in two runs in the 7th frame to give Reed's Electricians a 12 to 10 verdict over the Virginia Avenue Merchants at Taylor Field. Pete Elliott poled a homer in the 5th and Hixenbaugh, Porter and Beckman had two hits each for the winners. Mason and Morgan led Virginia Avenue with two blows apiece. Scores:

Locke Grabs Lead In Canadian Open

Bobby's Score Is 201, Holds Edge By Stroke

TORONTO, July 18 (AP) — Bobby Locke of South Africa took over the lead in the Canadian Open golf championship tonight with a four-under-par 67 on today's third round for a 54-hole total of 201, one stroke better than Ed Oliver of Wilmington, Del., and Nick Wisnock, Detroit amateur.

Locke went four under par at the 10th hole and shot exact par for each hole to finish.

Bobby Gray, the host club pro, also shot a 67 and moved into third place behind Locke and Oliver with a 203.

Ellsworth Vines, Los Angeles, last of the threesome, came in with a five-under-par 66 to put his 54-hole total at 206.

When Locke jumped into the lead—a late finisher just before 8 p. m.—there was no chance of his being overhauled by the players still on the course. But some of the first 75 players to quality for the final round of the tournament tomorrow still had a chance to make it.

One of the surprises of the day was a hole-in-one shot by Phil Cote, Sarnia, Ont., amateur, on the 125-yard 11th but he was far off the leader's page.

Fred Hutchinson Yields Two Hits And Whiffs Seven

Halts Yankees' Bid For 20th Straight

DETROIT, July 18. (AP)—Freddie Hutchinson, serious Detroit Tiger righthander, squelched the New York Yankees' bid for their 20th straight victory—an American League record—with a near-perfect two-hit pitching performance today in which he yielded just two singles, one a bunt, as the Tigers won by the shutout count of 8 to 0.

Hutchinson, who faced only 28 men—one more than the minimum—hadn't started a game in a month because of an ailing shoulder but had everything he needed today, and then some.

He struck out seven men and walked none as the Yanks hit only five balls out of the infield in their futile twilight bid for the record.

Hutchinson himself, with two doubles and a single, got more hits than he gave the Yanks, and the Tigers put together their wildest hitting day of the season to register 18 safeties off the combined pitching of Randy Gumpert and Karl Drews. Box:

Assault Favored To Cop Gold Cup Race In New York

Eight Starters Named In $100,000 Classic

By SID Feder

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—Racing takes its first long jump toward a "world series" tomorrow in the $100,000 Empire City Gold Cup at Belmont — and practically all the folks folks figure it will be Assault in a waltz over the two South American champions and five domestic gallopers.

This one is easily the hottest heat of the year from a point of view of steamed-up interest, and gave indications of getting so big that the Empire City bosses had to move the finale of their meeting to Belmont's spacious layout to handle the customers.

They expect some 50,000 fans to sit in on this mile and five-eighths grind, which has attracted Endeavour II from Argentina and Ensueno from Brazil, along with Assault and Stymie, the world's top two money winners; Phalanx, the head man of the three-year-olds, and Gallorette, second highest winner of her sex in history.

There are, too, Talon, who is another rhumba kid from South America but has been racing here for close to a year now, and Natchez, owned by Mrs. Walter Jeffords of Philadelphia. But these two figure to be just out enjoying the Belmont breezes when they face the starter at 4:45 p. m. (EDT).

Assault already holds one world championship — the money-earning record.

If there's any question mark about the king of King Ranch it's how he'll do in this endurance test against the known distance running zip of such others as Stymie, Phalanx, Endeavour II, and Ensueno.

Chief dark-horse figures to be Phalanx, who can set fire to a stretch with the best of them, and who gets in with practically no load at all this time.

RUN AT BELMNOT—Endeavor, above, owned by an Argentine turfman, and Ensueno, below, the Brazilian turf standout, will run in the $100,000 International Gold Cup race at Belmont Park today. Assault is the favorite but many figure Phalanx has a good chance to upset the dope.

Armed Will Run In $50,000 Race

Nine Will Go To Post In Arlington Event

CHICAGO, July 18. — (AP) — Nine thoroughbreds, headed by the Calumet Farm's golden gelding, Armed, will go to the post in the $50,000 added Arlington Handicap at Arlington Park tomorrow. The distance will be a rigorous mile and a quarter.

Armed, carrying top impost of 130 pounds, probably will be a prohibitive favorite and will be giving away from 16 to 20 pounds against several of the nation's top ranking distance performers, including Mighty Story, Challenge Me, Eternal Reward, Pellicle and Rippey.

Armed will be aiming at the handicap championship for 1947, and, if victorious will drag down $37,900 in first money, which will move him past Whirlaway's money winning mark of $561,161 and surpass the Calumet Farm's own all-time record of earnings for one season of $601,600 established in 1944.

The Calumet Farms racer has smashed three records this season. His latest was at Arlington Park in the Stars and Stripes Handicap which he won in 1:49 1-5, for a mile and one-eighth. The record had stood since 1930.

John Bruff Captures Junior Golf Title

BALTIMORE, July 18—(AP)—John Bruff, 18-year-old golfer of Baltimore's Bonnie View Club, won the Maryland Junior Open golf championship today, when he toured the Baltimore Country Club's Roland Park course in 72 strokes.

Tied for second in the field of more than 100 young golfers were Bud Worsham of Washington and Ed Cover of Bonnie View, who shot 75's.

Rocky Graziano's Status Unchanged In Empire State

Action Will Be Taken If Situation Requires

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Chairman Eddie Eagan said today the New York State Athletic Commission would take no action on the change in ownership of the world middleweight boxing title until such time as that body is confronted with a situation making a decision necessary.

Rocky Graziano of New York, whose license to box in his home state has been revoked, won the title in Chicago Wednesday night by stopping Tony Zale of Gary, Ind., in six rounds.

Eagan, discussing this bout in advance a week ago, said the commission could take any one of three actions — recognize Graziano, continue to recognize Zale, or declare the title vacant.

Today, Eagan pointed out that the commission rules in this state do not make it necessary to recognize formally any change in the ownership of a title immediately after it has changed hands.

"We know there was a title bout in Chicago Wednesday night," he said. "We know the title changed hands. However, we will take no action until we are confronted with a situation where such action is necessary.

"This would involve, for instance, a situation which would arise if a promotor were to come before us with plans for putting on a middleweight title match, or if Graziano should appear before us and ask for the return of his license."

Last Friday, however, Eagan said that at this time the commission would entertain no appeal by Graziano, whose license was revoked last January for failure to report a $100,000 bribe offer which Rocky insisted he thought was a gag. At the same time, the commissioner indicated that Graziano might be granted a license for 1948, the licensing period for which starts in October.

Stock Market Has Selective Rally But Many Leaders End With Losses

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP) — The stock market rallied selectively today but many leaders continued to inhabit the losing division. Dealings were the slowest of the past three weeks.

Mild regularity persisted until the final hour when short covering and timid investment demand reduced early declines and put assorted oils, motors, rails and special issues up fractions to 2 or more points. There were a few jumps of around 5. The close was no worse than moderately irregular. Transfers of 920,000 shares compared with 1,110,000 the day before and were a low since June 30.

Armour preferred and prior preferred were the day's wide climbers. The former was up 5 points at 182 and the latter 3½ at 126. General Electric was up only ½. Increased and extra dividends lifted Lowenstein 1½ to 26¾, Bayuk Cigars ¼ to 23 and Alex Smith Carpet ⅛ to 36⅞.

At 1947 peaks were Texas Co., up 2 at 67, Standard Oil (NJ) 1¼ at 78, Pure Oil 1⅛ at 28⅜ and Continental Oil ⅞ at 46.

Ahead were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Studebaker, Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, North American, American Water Works, Kennecott, American Can, Philip Morris, Union Carbide, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Southern Railway.

Dow Chemical was off 3 at 167 and Du Pont 1½ at 192½. Lesser casualties were Republic Steel, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Deere, J. I. Case, Boeing, Western Union "A", Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, J. C. Penney, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania Railroad and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Among forward Curb leaners were Soss Mfg., Cities Service, National Transit and Glen Alden Coal. Backward were Croft Brewing, Electric Bond & Share and Illinois Power.

A last-hour rally in the bond market lifted selected rails and other corporates out of losing territory although there were a number of leaders which failed to respond.

Total sales of $3,330,000 for the day were the smallest since June 30 and compared with $5,980,000 Thursday.

U. S. Government obligations held close to previous levels in over-the-counter trading with the 2½s of September 1967-72 off 1-32 at 105 23-32 bid.

Assault Favored To Cop Gold Cup Race In New York

Eight Starters Named In $100,000 Classic

By SID Feder

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—Racing takes its first long jump toward a "world series" tomorrow in the $100,000 Empire City Gold Cup at Belmont — and practically all the folks folks figure it will be Assault in a waltz over the two South American champions and five domestic gallopers.

This one is easily the hottest heat of the year from a point of view of steamed-up interest, and gave indications of getting so big that the Empire City bosses had to move the finale of their meeting to Belmont's spacious layout to handle the customers.

They expect some 50,000 fans to sit in on this mile and five-eighths grind, which has attracted Endeavour II from Argentina and Ensueno from Brazil, along with Assault and Stymie, the world's top two money winners; Phalanx, the head man of the three-year-olds, and Gallorette, second highest winner of her sex in history.

There are, too, Talon, who is another rhumba kid from South America but has been racing here for close to a year now, and Natchez, owned by Mrs. Walter Jeffords of Philadelphia. But these two figure to be just out enjoying the Belmont breezes when they face the starter at 4:45 p. m. (EDT).

Assault already holds one world championship — the money-earning record.

If there's any question mark about the king of King Ranch it's how he'll do in this endurance test against the known distance running zip of such others as Stymie, Phalanx, Endeavour II, and Ensueno.

Chief dark-horse figures to be Phalanx, who can set fire to a stretch with the best of them, and who gets in with practically no load at all this time.

Armed Will Run In $50,000 Race

Nine Will Go To Post In Arlington Event

CHICAGO, July 18. — (AP) — Nine thoroughbreds, headed by the Calumet Farm's golden gelding, Armed, will go to the post in the $50,000 added Arlington Handicap at Arlington Park tomorrow. The distance will be a rigorous mile and a quarter.

Armed, carrying top impost of 130 pounds, probably will be a prohibitive favorite and will be giving away from 16 to 20 pounds against several of the nation's top ranking distance performers, including Mighty Story, Challenge Me, Eternal Reward, Pellicle and Rippey.

Armed will be aiming at the handicap championship for 1947, and, if victorious will drag down $37,900 in first money, which will move him past Whirlaway's money winning mark of $561,161 and surpass the Calumet Farm's own all-time record of earnings for one season of $601,600 established in 1944.

The Calumet Farms racer has smashed three records this season. His latest was at Arlington Park in the Stars and Stripes Handicap which he won in 1:49 1-5, for a mile and one-eighth. The record had stood since 1930.

John Bruff Captures Junior Golf Title

BALTIMORE, July 18—(AP)—John Bruff, 18-year-old golfer of Baltimore's Bonnie View Club, won the Maryland Junior Open golf championship today, when he toured the Baltimore Country Club's Roland Park course in 72 strokes.

Tied for second in the field of more than 100 young golfers were Bud Worsham of Washington and Ed Cover of Bonnie View, who shot 75's.

Worsham, a brother of Lew Worsham, the national open champion, won the Maryland Junior title last year.

Action Will Be Taken If Situation Requires

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Chairman Eddie Eagan said today the New York State Athletic Commission would take no action on the change in ownership of the world middleweight boxing title until such time as that body is confronted with a situation making a decision necessary.

Rocky Graziano of New York, whose license to box in his home state has been revoked, won the title in Chicago Wednesday night by stopping Tony Zale of Gary, Ind., in six rounds.

Eagan, discussing this bout in advance a week ago, said the commission could take any one of three actions — recognize Graziano, continue to recognize Zale, or declare the title vacant.

Today, Eagan pointed out that the commission rules in this state do not make it necessary to recognize formally any change in the ownership of a title immediately after it has changed hands.

"We know there was a title bout in Chicago Wednesday night," he said. "We know the title changed hands. However, we will take no action until we are confronted with a situation where such action is necessary.

"This would involve, for instance, a situation which would arise if a promotor were to come before us with plans for putting on a middleweight title match, or if Graziano should appear before us and ask for the return of his license."

Last Friday, however, Eagan said that at this time the commission would entertain no appeal by Graziano, whose license was revoked last January for failure to report a $100,000 bribe offer which Rocky insisted he thought was a gag. At the same time, the commissioner indicated that Graziano might be granted a license for 1948, the licensing period for which starts in October.

Stock Market Has Selective Rally But Many Leaders End With Losses

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP) — The stock market rallied selectively today but many leaders continued to inhabit the losing division. Dealings were the slowest of the past three weeks.

Mild regularity persisted until the final hour when short covering and timid investment demand reduced early declines and put assorted oils, motors, rails and special issues up fractions to 2 or more points. There were a few jumps of around 5. The close was no worse than moderately irregular. Transfers of 920,000 shares compared with 1,110,000 the day before and were a low since June 30.

Armour preferred and prior preferred were the day's wide climbers. The former was up 5 points at 182 and the latter 3½ at 126. General Electric was up only ½. Increased and extra dividends lifted Lowenstein 1½ to 26¾, Bayuk Cigars ¼ to 23 and Alex Smith Carpet ¼ to 36⅞.

At 1947 peaks were Texas Co., up 2 at 67, Standard Oil (NJ) 1¼ at 78, Pure Oil 1⅛ at 28⅝ and Continental Oil ⅞ at 46.

Ahead were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Studebaker, Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, North American, American Water Works, Kennecott, American Can, Philip Morris, Union Carbide, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Southern Railway.

Dow Chemical was off 3 at 167 and Du Pont 1¼ at 192½. Lesser casualties were Republic Steel, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Deere, J. I. Case, Boeing, Western Union "A", Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, J. C. Penney, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania Railroad and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Among forward Curb leaners were Soss Mfg., Cities Service, National Transit and Glen Alden Coal. Backward were Croft Brewing, Electric Bond & Share and Illinois Power.

A last-hour rally in the bond market lifted selected rails and other corporates out of losing territory although there were a number of leaders which failed to respond.

Total sales of $3,330,000 for the day were the smallest since June 30 and compared with $5,980,000 Thursday.

U. S. Government obligations held close to previous levels in over-the-counter trading with the 2½s of September 1967-72 off 1-32 at 105 23-32 bid.

Bids For Oakland Hospital Exceed Estimated Costs

Committee Works To Change Plans

By GEORGE HANST

OAKLAND, Md., July 18 — With all bids for construction of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital considered too high, the committee this week made arrangements to work with the architect, James J. Baldwin, Washington, and Herbert G. Fritz, of the State Hospital Planning Commission, in eliminating certain items from the plan which would reduce the overall figure to the desired amount.

Bids ranged from $447,198 to $518,083, for the entire structure contract which included the proposed wing. The low bidder was Moyer Brothers, Altoona, Pa., the firm which just last week received the contract for construction of the Naval armory at Cumberlend. He allowed $92,000 for the wing. Other bids: Lynch, Pugh and Corson, Morgantown, W. Va., $518,083; with a figure of $75,436 included in the bid for the wing; Baker and Combs, Morgantown, $501,975, with figure of $68,090 for wing; G. F. Hazelwood, Cumberland, $496,543, with figure of $69,000 for wing.

No actual awarding of contract was done by the committee, according to E. R. Jones and J. H. Jarboe, executors of the George W. Loar will, pending possibility of reducing the cost by elimination of some items, and contingent upon the receipt of government funds and possible additional funds from local contributors.

May Get Government Funds

It was stated that the Hill-Burton Act, providing for certain funds for hospital construction throughout the various states, had been passed by Congress and signed by the President, but the actual allocation of funds by Congress had not been made. It was pointed out that when the money is made available by Congress, which might be within 30 to 90 days, Maryland would get its share and that Garrett County's allocation would follow soon after as the hospital here was highest on the priority list.

Actual construction would not begin until the allocation of money was made and the contract awarded. Hospital committee members were hopeful that the low bid could be reduced by $50,000 or more by eliminating some items that were not absolutely essential at present but still retaining the wing. The wing would add an additional 20 beds to the capacity of the hospital which otherwise would be limited to 34 beds.

The bill provides for matching funds at the rate of 50 cents for every dollar, which would bring at least $135,000 from federal funds, to add to the $170,000 left by the late George W. Loar, plus the local contributions.

The local contributions passed the $100,000 mark thie week with the announcement that the Oakland Fire Department and Oakland-Mt. Lake Lions Club, who had pledged $1,200 and $1,000 respectively, will contribute $2,632.71, or $432.71 more than they pledged. Other contributions this week total $101, making a total of $533.71 for the week and bringing the overall total thus far to $100,176.13.

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va., July 18 — Public use of the Monongahela National Forest recreation facilities at Smoke Hole is expected to reach its highest level since prewar days this summer. The addition of fire grates, tables and water faucets has resulted in an extension of the roadside tent and trailer camping area.

A swimming pool is adjacent to the camping area and bathhouses are open to the public. A rustic log shelter with tables, a large fireplace and nearby running water makes an ideal picnic ground in either wet or dry weather.

An attendant will be on duty at the Smoke Hole Recreation area only on a part time basis because of limited funds. Public co-operation is required in preventing damage to the facilities on the ground and any suggestions or complaints should be addressed to the Forest Ranger at Petersburg.

Several miles of foot trail lead from the Smoke Hole Recreation area to caves on the adjoining mountain side. One trail leads to the famous old cave from which the Smoke Hole reportedly received its name. This trail is only one mile in length and is easily accessible from the camping area.

Camp fire grates are provided and no camp fire permit is needed if the fire is confined to the iron fire grate.

Committee Works To Change Plans

By GEORGE HANST

OAKLAND, Md., July 18 — With all bids for construction of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital considered too high, the committee this week made arrangements to work with the architect, James J. Baldwin, Washington, and Herbert G. Fritz, of the State Hospital Planning Commission, in eliminating certain items from the plan which would reduce the overall figure to the desired amount.

Bids ranged from $447,198 to $518,083, for the entire structure contract which included the proposed wing. The low bidder was Moyer Brothers, Altoona, Pa., the firm which just last week received the contract for construction of the Naval armory at Cumberland. He allowed $92,000 for the wing. Other bids: Lynch, Pugh and Corson, Morgantown, W. Va., $518,083; with a figure of $75,436 included in the bid for the wing; Baker and Combs, Morgantown, $501,975, with figure of $68,090 for wing; G. F. Hazelwood, Cumberland, $496,543, with figure of $69,000 for wing.

No actual awarding of contract was done by the committee, according to E. R. Jones and J. H. Jarboe, executors of the George W. Loar will, pending possibility of reducing the cost by elimination of some items, and contingent upon the receipt of government funds and possible additional funds from local contributors.

May Get Government Funds

It was stated that the Hill-Burton Act, providing for certain funds for hospital construction throughout the various states, had been passed by Congress and signed by the President, but the actual allocation of funds by Congress had not been made. It was pointed out that when the money is made available by Congress, which might be within 30 to 90 days, Maryland would get its share and that Garrett County's allocation would follow soon after as the hospital here was highest on the priority list.

Actual construction would not begin until the allocation of money was made and the contract awarded. Hospital committee members were hopeful that the low bid could be reduced by $50,000 or more by eliminating some items that were not absolutely essential at present but still retaining the wing. The wing would add an additional 20 beds to the capacity of the hospital which otherwise would be limited to 34 beds.

The bill provides for matching funds at the rate of 50 cents for every dollar, which would bring at least $135,000 from federal funds, to add to the $170,000 left by the late George W. Loar, plus the local contributions.

The local contributions passed the $100,000 mark thie week with the announcement that the Oakland Fire Department and Oakland-Mt. Lake Lions Club, who had pledged $1,200 and $1,000 respectively, will contribute $2,632.71, or $432.71 more than they pledged. Other contributions this week total $101, making a total of $533.71 for the week and bringing the overall total thus far to $100,176.13.

New Camp Facilities At Smoke Hole Added To Monongahela Park

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va., July 18—Public use of the Monongahela National Forest recreation facilities at Smoke Hole is expected to reach its highest level since prewar days this summer. The addition of fire grates, tables and water faucets has resulted in an extension of the roadside tent and trailer camping area.

A swimming pool is adjacent to the camping area and bathhouses are open to the public. A rustic log shelter with tables, a large fireplace and nearby running water makes an ideal picnic ground in either wet or dry weather.

An attendant will be on duty at the Smoke Hole Recreation area only on a part time basis because of limited funds. Public co-operation is required in preventing damage to the facilities on the ground and any suggestions or complaints should be addressed to the Forest Ranger at Petersburg.

Several miles of foot trail lead from the Smoke Hole Recreation area to caves on the adjoining mountain side. One trail leads to the famous old cave from which the Smoke Hole reportedly received its name. This trail is only one mile in length and is easily accessible from the camping area.

The POWER OF NATURE is THE POWER OF GOD

Primitive man stared with frightened awe at angry storm clouds, and fled in terror to his cave when the fury broke and the winds lashed the trees and lightning tore great holes in the landscape.

New powers have been discovered as man has dug deeper into the secrets of Nature, and all of them have been viewed with apprehension or plain fear.

Steam, electricity, explosive gases, diesel, radium and many others, each in turn with its marvels of achievement and its vast potentialities, have filled mankind with awe as he wondered what other secrets of power lay buried in the bosom of the universe.

Today it is the atomic bomb which staggers man's imagination and makes him fear for the future of his world and his civilization.

But the power of Nature is the power of God. Used rightly, it always proves a boon and blessing for mankind; but employed for evil purposes, its destructive powers are unlimited.

The secret of the right use of the powers of the universe is embodied in religion and expounded in the teachings of the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

The POWER OF NATURE is THE POWER OF GOD

Men are fascinated and sometimes appalled by manifestations of vast power beyond all human control.

Primitive man stared with frightened awe at angry storm clouds, and fled in terror to his cave when the fury broke and the winds lashed the trees and lightning tore great holes in the landscape.

New powers have been discovered as man has dug deeper into the secrets of Nature, and all of them have been viewed with apprehension or plain fear.

Steam, electricity, explosive gases, diesel, radium and many others, each in turn with its marvels of achievement and its vast potentialities, have filled mankind with awe as he wondered what other secrets of power lay buried in the bosom of the universe.

Today it is the atomic bomb which staggers man's imagination and makes him fear for the future of his world and his civilization.

But the power of Nature is the power of God. Used rightly, it always proves a boon and blessing for mankind; but employed for evil purposes, its destructive powers are unlimited.

The secret of the right use of the powers of the universe is embodied in religion and expounded in the teachings of the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 18—The fuss that a certain southern tobacco family may or may not raise about filming "Written On The Wind" hasn't scairt Jack Warner from buying another tobacco dynasty story, "Bright Leaf." He bought it right from the manuscript.

Louella Parsons

J. L. (no relation to LSMFT) plans to make this into a production on a par with "The Fountainhead" so it must be some stuff. There's a story and a half back of the writing of this manuscript which is not yet in book form.

Foster Fitzsimmons, the author, has been working on it since 1939 and expects to turn it over to the publishers, Rinehart and Co., in 1948. When Mr. Foster isn't steaming on his novel, he is—by turn—an associate professor of the drama at University of North Carolina and also a Ted Shawn dancer. Some guy.

Not long ago I said that "The Persian Cat" had been bought for Lauren Bacall. Then came talk that she might not make another picture.

Well, "The Persian Cat" is now up for discussion with George Bruce set to write the script. George has signed a long term contract with Warners and will later produce as well as write. He had a hand in "Fiesta" at M-G-M—"Navy Blue and Gold" was his, "The Crowd Roars" and many other successes.

after being totally blind for four years. John, who was in the Army, had an infection that made him

Baby has said she would only work when Bogey was working and she seems completely indifferent whether she does or not, but I have an idea she will do "The Persian Cat," since it was bought for her.

Here's more good news about John Hubbard who regained his eyesight completely blind. Now that he's back, he will be starred at P. R. C. in an original story by George Slavin which will be built entirely on Hubbard's own experience in regaining his eyesight. The morale for the other G.I.s similarly afflicted should be very good.

Hubbard is eager to make this picture because he feels he can help some of our people who have been discouraged over their handicaps.

Edgar Bergen, who laughed out loud when he saw himself on the screen as the amorous mortician in "I Remember Mama," told me a funny story about his daughter, Candy, age one and a half.

"When she saw the old man on a billboard advertising Grandad whiskey, she shrieked, 'Dada, Dada.' Then when she saw a picture of Mahatma Gandhi in a magazine, again she clapped her hands and called, 'Dada, Dada.'

"Now I know how I look to Candy," said Edgar, "every man with a bald head reminds her of me."

Chatter in Hollywood: Everything Sonja Henie touches seems to turn to gold. Why even in her backyard at her ranch at Oceanside, oil was discovered a few days ago.

"What will you do with all that money?" Michael North, who is one of Sonja's favorite boy friends, asked her.

"Oh, I'll just buy more diamonds," answered Sonja.

Well, we can't say that everything has poured into Sonja's lap, because she's really worked hard for what she's got, and she's had brains enough to save her money.

William Halop would like to bury the name, Billy, "Dead End Kid," deep, and have everyone forget it. Billy told me he was 27 years old July 15, and he no longer looked or felt like a "Dead End Kid."

"It happens I am playing the role of a decent kind of grown up in Sol Wurtzel's picture, "Dangerous Years," and because I am desperately trying to shed the name of Billy, I would greatly appreciate your help in becoming William Halop, actor, instead of Billy Halop, "Dead End Kid."

All right, William, here we go.

Benay Venuta and Armand Deutsch have apparently settled all their domestic problems beautifully. She is in "My Sister Eileen" at Laguna, and her husband has not only given in to her about having a career, but he commutes to Laguna where she has taken a house for herself and the children.

At the opening night he gave her a big supper party and sent her enough orchids to fill a shop. At the first night were Al Hall who directed the movie, and Joe Field, who directed the stage play, Bette Davis and others.

Snapshots of Hollywood Collected at Random: Frank Fay will be the guest of honor at a party Charley Foy is having. Frank has donated a building for a church in Brentwood, and he will see it for the first time.

The very pretty girl with George Sanders at the King's was Margaret Jackson. Wonder when George goes to Europe.

It was bound to happen. A new hamburger palace has opened on Sunset Blvd. called "The Flying Saucer."

Leslie Fenton and Edna Morgan at a table for two at Ciro's, sat just a few tables from Fenton's ex, Ann Dvorak, who was there to see her fiance, Igor Dega, dance.

Ann Miller and David May a dinner duo at the Sportsman's Lodge. David is certainly having himself a good time these days.

Peggy Cleary gave herself a cocktail party at the Talk of The Town. Sally Eilers, Mrs. Bob Cobb and many others accepted her hospitality.

Bette Davis will do just a bit in "The Patriots" after she finishes her first picture, "Winter Meeting." It was her suggestion, and Warners grabbed at it.

This is certainly strange. Parkyakarkus received a package of food from Athens, Greece, with a note saying that it was reported in Greece that the Americans are starving. Sounds to me like some Russian propaganda.

Eve Arden and her estranged husband, Ned Bergen, were together the other evening when he picked her up after a broadcast, and friends are hopeful it may mean a reconciliation.

There are 41,159 persons employed on playgrounds and indoor recreation centers throughout the United States.

Peggy Cleary gave herself a cocktail party at the Talk of The Town. Sally Eilers, Mrs. Bob Cobb and many others accepted her hospitality.

Bette Davis will do just a bit in "The Patriots" after she finishes her first picture, "Winter Meeting." It was her suggestion, and Warners grabbed at it.

This is certainly strange. Parkyakarkus received a package of food from Athens, Greece, with a note saying that it was reported in Greece that the Americans are starving. Sounds to me like some Russian propaganda.

Eve Arden and her estranged husband, Ned Bergen, were together the other evening when he picked her up after a broadcast, and friends are hopeful it may mean a reconciliation.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all the friends who so kindly assisted during the illness and following the death of our brother, Samuel G. Myers. Your help is deeply appreciated.
The sister and brother, MISS SUSAN V. DORSE MYERS.

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who aided and comforted us in the recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Charles C. Miller. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars, those who sent flowers, the minister, Rev. Donald Brake, for his comforting words, and the County Infirmary for their kindness and help.
MRS. CHARLES C. MILLER and FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son, Clark Galen (Bucky) Fridley, who passed away one year ago, July 19, 1946.

Gone, dear Bucky, gone forever.
How we miss your smiling face.
But you left to be remembered;
None on earth can take your place,
A happy home we once enjoyed;
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
As we loved him, so we miss him;
In our hearts he is so near.
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
Bringing many a silent tear.

Sadly missed by his Mother, Father, Brothers, and Sisters.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to thank all the friends who so kindly assisted during the illness and following the death of our brother, Samuel G. Myers. Your help is deeply appreciated.
The sister and brother, MISS SUSAN V. and DORSE MYERS.

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who aided and comforted us in our recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Charles C. Miller. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars, those who sent flowers, the minister, Rev. Donald Brake, for his comforting words, and the County Infirmary for their kindness and help.
MR. CHARLES C. MILLER and FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son, Clark Galen (Bucky) Fridley, who passed away one year ago, July 19, 1946.

Gone, dear Bucky, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face.
But you left to be remembered;
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed;
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
As we loved him, so we miss him;
In our hearts he is so near.
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
Bringing many a silent tear.

LaVale Residents Start Action On Water Shortage

Company Orders New Well Dug Next Week

Residents of LaVale yesterday made their annual complaints about shortage of water, and the situation aroused the indignation of a number of people in that area to a point where they are planning formal complaints to the Public Service Commission and the State and County Departments of Health.

Dr. E. Kester, a physician who lives near the State Police Barracks, stated that when he complained to the office of the LaVale Water Company here, he was told, "Go dig a well if you want water."

Dr. Kester said he reported the matter to the Public Service Commission by telephone and was instructed to have a petition drawn, citing specific grievances, and have a number of residents sign it.

Kester claims the chronic low water condition in the large suburban area during the summer and "water being cut off without warning," made sanitation extremely inefficient throughout the section.

Investigation Expected

Harry B. Simpson, president of LaVale Civic Club, said last night that five petitions had been given to members to circulate sometime ago and there are only about 100 signatures on them. However, he said, the petitions will be sent to the Public Service Commission, and he understands a man will be sent here to investigate and make a complete and thorough survey of the situation.

Residents in LaVale said there was no water at all yesterday for most of the day. Water was dipped from bird baths, fish ponds, etc., to flush toilets, and a couple of residents said they drained their automobile radiators to get water for washing and shaving.

D. Clifford Goodfellow, president of the LaVale Water Company, told the News last night that the condition yesterday was due to an unauthorized closing of the main line valve at Red Hill. He said "a man living in the Red Hill District closed the main valve near Donahue's Service Station."

Goodfellow said after the first complaints were received at his office, he checked the main line to determine the trouble and found the valve closed. He said the valve is turned with a wrench. Goodfellow charged that the same man has closed the valve several times since the main line was laid from Red Hill to LaVale.

Goodfellow admitted the supply of water in LaVale is low, but said that if residents refrain from watering lawns, washing cars and conserve the supply in every way possible, the condition will not be so bad.

The area is growing, and during the war years, Goodfellow said, it was impossible to get pipe and pumps to increase the company's facilities. Since then, efforts have been made to expand the lines and supply, he explained, and some work has been done.

Contracted With Well Digger

The water company has contracted with Frank Carpenter to drill a well in LaVale Orchard and to place a pump there. This new source will alleviate the shortage which has been common in summer months, he explained.

Carpenter was contacted by the News and he said, "Goodfellow called me today and ordered the well dug. My machines are busy and I won't be able to start for about a week."

Carpenter, an experienced well digger and authority on water supply, said he had tried to get the company to drill additional wells for sometime "lower down this way," so that lower LaVale can be supplied with the new well and present facilities would then take care of the upper section.

Carpenter said there is plenty of water up there, but the company has had trouble getting pipe and pumps and also has some areas which are difficult to supply. He expressed the opinion that he can sink a well in the lower section "about where the Police Barracks is," that should supply 5,000 gallons an hour around the clock. He said the well the company has ordered dug will go 200 feet and will be an eight-inch hole. Carpenter said he has a new and modern machine which is now working in Mt. Savage, but he can move it to LaVale next week, and begin work on the new source of supply.

Odd Fellows Lodge Installs Officers

T. Ralph Croyle was installed as noble grand, and Raymond Drake as vice grand of Chosen Friends Lodge No. 34, I. O. O. F., at the semi-annual installation of officers held last night in Odd Fellows Hall, South Mechanic Street.

Woman Hurt When Hit By Brake Club

A 25-year-old Wineow Street woman suffered severe facial injuries late yesterday afternoon when, police said, she was struck by a heavy brake club during an argument on that street.

The woman, booked as Marcenia Brown, 182 Wineow Street, was treated in Allegany Hospital for a fractured nose and cuts on the face and was released by police after she posted $20 bond on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Elizabeth Ovalton, 184 Wineow Street, who police said struck the blow, was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct and is being held in City Jail to await a hearing this morning in Police Court.

Charges were preferred by Detectives Thomas J. See and E. R. Lilya after the Ovalton woman allegedly struck her companion with the heavy club in what officers termed a family argument.

Advice Offered To Vacationers

With the vacation season now in full swing, Acting Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn yesterday suggested the following precautionary measures to prevent vacationers' homes from being burglarized while they are out of town:

1. Notify the Police Department of the period in which you will be out of town.

2. Ask the post office to hold your mail at general delivery.

3. Notify the milk man and paper boy not to make deliveries while you are away.

4. Ask your neighbor to remove advertising circulars and throwaways from your doorway.

In addition, Acting Chief Flynn suggested that persons who intend to leave on vacation not make announcement of it in the newspapers until after returning. Public announcement that the occupants of a house will be away for a given period, he said, assures a would-be burglar that he is not likely to be surprised or disturbed in the act of looting the premises.

Army Recruiters Will Open Frostburg Office

Capt. L. M. Bairstow, detachment commander of the local Army recruiting force, announced yesterday that a recruiting sub-station will be opened on the third floor of the Firemen's Hall, Water Street, Frostburg.

Rev. Mr. Daniel completed his secondary education at City College, Baltimore, and is a graduate of Loyola College, Baltimore.

He is 23, a son of Mrs. Mary H. Daniel, 1120 West Fayette Street, Baltimore, and the late Chesley V. Daniel. He will reside at 112 North Smallwood Street here.

Rev. Mr. Daniel's chief hobbies are the technical operations of American railroads and the Episcopal Church in the Confederacy. During his theological training, he did considerable research on the history of the church during the years 1860 to 1865.

He will succeed Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, who came here in January, 1945, to become vicar of St. Philip's Chapel and assistant at Emmanuel and has continued at the latter post after he was appointed rector of St. James Church, Westernport, in January.

Rev. Mr. Daniel will conduct Sunday services in Holy Cross Episcopal Church here July 20 and 27 and August 3, at 9:30 a. m. while Rev. Louis H. Ewald, rector, is on vacation.

He will also be in charge of services at Emmanuel Church each Sunday morning at 11 o'clock during August while Rev. Mr. Watson is on vacation.

Ridgeley Playground Group Will Meet

Raymond Swadley, president of the Ridgeley Playground Association, has announced that a special meeting will be held tomorrow at noon in the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, when a report on expenditures will be given.

Swings for the new playground on Silver Street will be built by a machine shop in Ridgeley, Swadley said, adding that association members will be asked to approve specifications before the order is placed.

He added that a new sandbox was installed at that playground yesterday. Most of the equipment needed for the other playground at the rear of the high school has been secured, and a tennis court constructed there this year has been in operation for several weeks.

The association is sponsored by civic, fraternal and religious organizations of Ridgeley.

Tentative Schedule Is Outlined For "Boys' Week" At Constitution Park

Girls' Groups Will Also Be Invited

A tentative schedule of events for "Boys' Week," which will be held the week of August 4 at Constitution Park, was outlined last night by Ted Licot, park recreation director, at a meeting in City Hall.

Plans were discussed for holding a parade along a route from South Cumberland to Baltimore Street on Monday night, August 4, at the start of the week's event, with prizes to be offered for best decorated bicycle, best decorated motorcycle, and the best costume among those taking part on foot.

The tentative route would be from Third Street up Virginia Avenue to Maryland Avenue, Williams Street and Park Street, where musical organizations would join the parade. The parade would then move down Baltimore Street, turning off at South Mechanic Street and disbanding in the vicinity of the State Armory.

Girls May Take Part

It was decided to invite Thomas F. Conlon to serve as parade marshal and to aid in working out complete details of the parade.

John J. Long, representing the Catholic Youth Organization, suggested that girls as well as boys be invited to take part in the parade and the athletic events, including bicycle races, swimming, archery, talent night and a pet show.

Mrs. Ralph Stein, city playground supervisor, was asked to invite the co-operation of the various playground associations and also to inform girls' organizations regarding the program.

Licot said he would take charge of arrangements for a softball series, to be played each afternoon during the week. Playoffs in the tournament would be held Sunday afternoon, August 10.

An Tuesday, August 5, it is planned to hold exhibition boxing and open boxing matches in the outdoor arena at the park at 8 p. m., with Officer J. Henry Stitcher, director of the Police Boys Club, in charge.

On Wednesday a model airplane meet, under the direction of the Optimist Club, is scheduled at 7 p. m., with bicycle races for various age groups to be held Thursday evening.

A pet show and talent night are scheduled for Friday. On Saturday, August 9, swimming races and other aquatic events are scheduled from 10 a. m. until noon under Licot's direction, to be followed by archery matches and jitney races in the afternoon, conducted by the Optimist Club.

Concert Planned

Long said he would contact various local musical organizations to make arrangements for an open air concert at the park on Sunday, August 10, at 8 p. m.

The week would be climaxed by a free picnic on Monday, August 11. Licot said he would arrange for an aquacade show on that day.

The recreation director said he has secured 36 softballs autographed by Robert M. "Lefty" Grove, Lonaconing, former big league star pitcher, as prizes. He asked groups in charge of separate events to arrange for additional prizes and to draw up eligibility requirements.

Final details such as maximum and minimum age limits, judges for the various events and application forms for entering the contests will be discussed at another meeting to be held next Friday, July 25, at 8 p. m. in City Hall.

All local civic, fraternal, veterans' and other organizations interested in the program are invited to attend. Groups represented last night included the Optimist Club, the Catholic Youth Organization, the South End Boys' Club, the Sons of the Legion and the Knights of Columbus.

B & O Welder Found In Unconscious Condition

Alvin Cannon, 31, Springfield, W. Va., a welder in the back shops of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company here, was taken to Memorial Hospital last night in an unconscious condition.

He was found on the floor of the shops by his foreman and it was at first thought he had been injured by a heavy piece of metal lying beside him. However, at the hospital, examination showed no marks on the man and he was apparently uninjured.

Physicians who examined him said his heart and pulse were steady but he was "out cold." At the shops it was reported later that a bottle of medicine Cannon had been taking for "shortage of breath" was in his pocket, and the opinion was expressed by an official there that he may have taken an overdose. This was not confirmed at the hospital where the bottle was sent, however.

Three Former Pastors To Take Part In First Baptist Centennial Event

Observance Will Open Tomorrow

Dr. William D. McCurdy, pastor of First Baptist Church, Bedford Street, from 1900 to 1904, will preach on "The Church in Cumberland" at worship services tomorrow at 10:45 a. m., marking the opening of First Baptist's centennial anniversary celebration.

During Dr. McCurdy's pastorate at the turn of the century, extensive repairs were made to the church property. The building was painted, carpet was purchased, the interior was papered, a furnace was installed and pews of the present day were purchased. When he resigned, the church had an enrollment of 236 members, while the Sunday school consisted of 182 members. Dr. McCurdy is now retired and living in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Other Pastors To Speak

The other former pastors of the church, which was organized July 22, 1847, by Rev. Benjamin Griffith, have accepted invitations to attend the celebration, which will be climaxed Friday night, July 25, by a reception for pastors and congregations of the 10 Allegany and Garrett County churches in the Western District Baptist Association.

Rev. J. Yancey Fincher, Crisfield, who served here from May, 1923, until October, 1929, will preach on "The Invincible Cospel" at the Sunday evening service tomorrow at 7:30 o'clock.

An evangelist and preacher of the State Mission Boards of Oklahoma and Texas when he was called here, Rev. Mr. Fincher taught the Young Men's Bible Class, which then had an enrollment of 75 members.

During his service here a lot was purchased on Bedford Street, where a parsonage was erected; a large orchestra was organized, playing for the opening and closing exercises of the Sunday school; a committee was appointed to secure names for church memorial windows; a pipe organ was installed under the direction of A. Florian Wilson, director of music; major and minor repairs were made to the church building under a five-year building plan, and a large delegation, led by Rev. Mr. Fincher, attended the World Baptist Alliance in Toronto, Canada, in June, 1928.

The third former pastor who will take part in the centennial observance is Rev. John T. Coburn, Richmond, Va., who served at First

Deadline Is Reached For Sergeants' Jobs

Civil Service examinations for chief of police and assistant chief of police of the Cumberland Police Department will be held on Friday, August 15, Vincent P. Ingram, chairman of the Civil Service Board, announced yesterday.

Following the recent retirement of Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman and Assistant Chief John J. Treiber, the Mayor and City Council approved an order introduced by Police Commissioner William V. Keegan which named R. Emmett Flynn acting chief and B. Frank Gaffney acting assistant chief.

Permanent heads of the department will be named at a date following the examinations.

Ingram said examinations also will be conducted on the same day for applicants for jobs in the Police and Fire Departments and also to fill one rodman's position in the city engineer's office.

In the meantime, as the deadline was reached yesterday for city policemen to file application for appointment to two desk sergeant vacancies in the Police Department, one more officer applied and one who had filed for the post withdrew.

Officer Curtis McA. Kime applied yesterday for the day desk sergeant job and Officer George Pfeiffer, who had sought the position, withdrew.

Kime, a motorcycle officer, is now acting day desk sergeant pending appointment of a permanent desk sergeant to succeed Sgt. L. E. "Bob" Meister who is being retired.

Other applicants for the day job are Officers John H. Stitcher and L. H. Downey.

There likewise are three applicants for the night desk sergeant's position to succeed Sgt. M. L. Crabtree, who also is being retired. One of the applicants is Officer C. C. Roby, now acting desk sergeant. The others are Officers W. J. McGraw and P. C. Jenkins.

Acting Chief Flynn and Commission Keegan have asked the Civil Service Board to prepare questions for the applicants to answer and also to interview the men. Keegan and Flynn said the appointments will not be made on a basis of seniority.

County Gets Check From State Racing Tax For $51,994

A check for $51,994.28 was received yesterday by the Allegany County Commissioners from the state comptroller's office as this county's share of horse race taxes in Maryland.

The Board had the check deposited in the county's General Fund, and it will apply to next year's levy and appropriations. The money cannot be used by the County this year, as only funds appropriated for when the levy is made up can be expended by the commissioners.

Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the board, said that if it had been known how much would be forthcoming from the state on the race track tax, a further reduction in County taxes could have been made in proportion to the amount received. At the time the levy was compiled, he explained, it was not known how much state money would come to Allegany County under new tax fund distribution laws.

Baltimore Woman Seeks Her Mother

Mrs. Raymond Warns, 1628 Rickenbacker Road, Baltimore 21, is interested in locating her mother, Mrs. Noreen Burke, of this city, whom she has not seen for 16 years, and says she will appreciate any information about her.

Last Monday, Mrs. Eva Luber Williams, 925 Grand Avenue, a former Baltimore resident, participated in a "Laugh With Lunch" radio program broadcast over Baltimore station WITH. During her part in the program she said she lives in Cumberland.

After the program was over, Mrs. Williams stated, she was approached by Mrs. Warns who was a guest in the studio audience. Mrs. Warns asked Mrs. Williams if she knew Noreen Burke, and said she would like to locate her. Mrs. Warns seemed certain her mother is still living in or near Cumberland, Mrs. Williams stated, and believes that a published notice might bring them together again.

Former Railroader Held On $500 Bond For Taking Purse

An unemployed railroad worker was committed to the County Jail yesterday in default of $500 bond for action of the October grand jury on charges of stealing a pocketbook from a local woman in an alley off Park Street early Wednesday morning.

Miss Dorothy Lashorn, 22 Emily Street, testified at a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday afternoon that Roy Vaughn, formerly employed by the B. and O. Railroad, tore her pocketbook from her arm after they had walked into Dexter Place between Park Street and Altamont Terrace. He escaped and was apprehended by City Policeman C. W. Thompson Thursday.

The woman said she had met Vaughn in a tavern on Front Street Monday night and that they met in another Front Street tavern on the night of the theft. On the way to her home at 12:30 a. m. they stopped for a time in the alley, Miss Lashorn said, adding that he seized her pocketbook and ran.

Had No Money

Vaughn admitted he had no money Tuesday night and said he had borrowed $2 from the woman to purchase some beer which she denied. When apprehended he was carrying $3.25.

Miss Lashorn stated that the pocketbook contained $11.25 in cash and a bracelet valued at $30. Vaughn's room at the B. and O. "Y" were searched but no valuables were found.

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew ordered the man held under $500 bond for the October term of Grand Jury. Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher was prosecuting attorney.

Charged with taking 22 cases of ale, James Leroy Welsh, 944 Gay Street, was ordered held in the County Jail for grand jury action in default of $500 bond set at a preliminary hearing yesterday.

Terrence J. Boyle, county investigator, stated that Welsh took a truck owned by B. V. Welsh, LaVale, from Corriganville July 9 and drove it to Cumberland where he loaded it with cases of ale from a truck parked at Bell's Service Station on Bedford Road. The truck was found abandoned behind St. Mary's Church on Oldtown Road.

Admitted Both Thefts

Some of the ale and all of the bottles were found in a shed near the youth's home. Welsh admitted both thefts, police said. B. V. Welsh was also listed as the owner of the alcoholic beverage.

James R. Izzett, Route 2, Irons Mountain, was fined $100.75 yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after he pleaded guilty to driving on a revoked license when arrested Tuesday by State Trooper Robert Henline on Virginia Avenue.

Rubber Workers List Issues In Contract Dispute

Membership Meeting Planned Here Sunday

An official of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, reported last night that five main issues are still in dispute in negotiations for changes in the local's working agreement with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

A. E. Johnson, president of the local, said a detailed report of the progress of the contract negotiations will be presented by the negotiating committee at a meeting of the local tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the union hall.

Johnson listed main issues still unsettled as furlough, filling of vacancies, severance pay, hours of work and overtime and the vacation issue. He did not specify several other issues which he termed "minor" in nature.

Reports Some Progress

The company and the union, he added, are "not so far apart" on the disputed issues as they were 10 days ago.

Negotiations are scheduled to resume Monday at 9:30 a. m. at the Kelly plant. Paul Weiker, District 1 representative, will be here next week Johnson said, for the final phases of the discussions. Johnson explained the chief issues as:

1. The union is asking the company to come down to a specified number of hours of work per week before furloughs may begin. The plant, he explained, is still operating in excess of 40 hours per week and the present contract does not call for a reduction in hours before furloughing can begin.

2. Filling of vacancies—Under the present contract employes with previous experience get first chance to fill vacancies which may arise. The union, he said, wants straight seniority to govern the issue.

Ask Severance Pay

3. Severance pay—The union has requested provisions for severance pay such as have been granted by the Big-Four companies. In general, those contracts provide, for employes who have worked 10 years but less than 15, one week's average severance pay for each year of work. For workers who have 15 years seniority but less than 20, the rate is one and one-half week's average pay for each year.

4. Hours of work and overtime. Several changes are sought, Johnson said. For employes called to work and sent home early by the company, the union is asking the company to count such hours not worked for computing overtime pay on Saturdays. If a worker is off Monday through Friday for occupational injury, the union wants such time to count for overtime purposes on Saturday work.

5. Vacations—The union has asked the company to begin scheduling vacations beginning April 1 in line with seniority, giving the oldest employes preference as to the time of the vacation.

No move has been made by either the union or the company to cancel the present contract.

Delegates will also be elected tomorrow for the International convention to be held in Boston the week of September 15.

Court Dismisses Divorce Action On Race Charge

A divorce was denied in Circuit Court yesterday in an action involving a race issue, and Chief Judge William A. Huster ruled in an opinion that divorces in Maryland are purely statutory and partial divorce as requested by the plaintiff can be granted only for "cruelty of treatment, excessive vicious conduct, abandonment or desertion."

The bill of complaint was brought by James W. Ash, Jr., charging that after his marriage to Agnes H. Ash, he learned she had been previously married to a man with negro blood and he felt it impossible to live with his wife and maintain his self respect.

Judge Huster held there was no evidence to show the wife was guilty under the statutes which cover divorce, and the fact that she had been previously married to a man with negro blood and had concealed this fact from Ash was not sufficient grounds for divorce.

The Court held "The wife admits that she was formerly married to a man who is alleged to have negro blood in his veins, and the evidence shows this is true. The wife further states that at the time of her former marriage she did not know that her husband had negro blood in his veins and that as soon as she discovered it she took the necessary proceedings to have her marriage annulled, which was prior to her marriage to Ash.

"The husband says that the wife did not disclose to him before his marriage that she was formerly married to a man with negro blood in his veins. This is denied by the wife. Whether she did or not make the disclosure to him is immaterial as the complainant could have discovered it by examining court records."

The petition of the plaintiff was dismissed by the Court.

A divorce action was filed by Helen Louise Pape, by her mother and next friend, Ruth Mooney, against Charles Griffin Pape. The couple married December 26, 1945, and the bill of complaint charges that Pape abandoned his wife January 7, 1946.

Two Veterans Join Marine Reserve Unit

Cpl. Charles J. Norris, Bedford Street, and Pfc. Harold L. Fields, 316 Piedmont Avenue, both World War II veterans, received reserve papers.

Company Orders New Well Dug Next Week

Residents of LaVale yesterday made their annual complaints about shortage of water, and the situation aroused the indignation of a number of people in that area to a point where they are planning formal complaints to the Public Service Commission and the State and County Departments of Health.

Dr. E. Kester, a physician who lives near the State Police Barracks, stated that when he complained to the office of the LaVale Water Company here, he was told, "Go dig a well if you want water."

Dr. Kester said he reported the matter to the Public Service Commission by telephone and was instructed to have a petition drawn, citing specific grievances, and have a number of residents sign it.

Kester claims the chronic low water condition in the large suburban area during the summer and "water being cut off without warning," made sanitation extremely inefficient throughout the section.

Investigation Expected

Harry B. Simpson, president of LaVale Civic Club, said last night that five petitions had been given to members to circulate sometime ago and there are only about 100 signatures on them. However, he said, the petitions will be sent to the Public Service Commission, and he understands a man will be sent here to investigate and make a complete and thorough survey of the situation.

Residents in LaVale said there was no water at all yesterday for most of the day. Water was dipped from bird baths, fish ponds, etc., to flush toilets, and a couple of residents said they drained their automobile radiators to get water for washing and shaving.

D. Clifford Goodfellow, president of the LaVale Water Company, told the News last night that the condition yesterday was due to an unauthorized closing of the main line valve at Red Hill. He said "a man living in the Red Hill District closed the main valve near Donahue's Service Station."

Goodfellow said after the first complaints were received at his office, he checked the main line to determine the trouble and found the valve closed. He said the valve is turned with a wrench. Goodfellow charged that the same man has closed the valve several times since the main line was laid from Red Hill to LaVale.

Goodfellow admitted the supply of water in LaVale is low, but said that if residents refrain from watering lawns, washing cars and conserve the supply in every way possible, the condition will not be so bad.

The area is growing, and during the war years, Goodfellow said, it was impossible to get pipe and pumps to increase the company's facilities. Since then, efforts have been made to expand the lines and supply, he explained, and some work has been done.

Contracted With Well Digger

The water company has contracted with Frank Carpenter to drill a well in LaVale Orchard and to place a pump there. This new source will alleviate the shortage which has been common in summer months, he explained.

Carpenter was contacted by the News and he said, "Goodfellow called me today and ordered the well dug. My machines are busy and I won't be able to start for about a week."

Carpenter, an experienced well digger and authority on water supply, said he had tried to get the company to drill additional wells for sometime "lower down this way," so that lower LaVale can be supplied with the new well and present facilities would then take care of the upper section.

Carpenter said there is plenty of water up there, but the company has had trouble getting pipe and pumps and also has some areas which are difficult to supply. He expressed the opinion that he can sink a well in the lower section "about where the Police Barracks is," that should supply 5,000 gallons an hour around the clock. He said the well the company has ordered dug will go 200 feet and will be an eight-inch hole. Carpenter said he has a new and modern machine which is now working in Mt. Savage, but he can move it to LaVale next week, and begin work on the new source of supply.

Woman Hurt When Hit By Brake Club

A 25-year-old Wineow Street woman suffered severe facial injuries late yesterday afternoon when, police said, she was struck by a heavy brake club during an argument on that street.

The woman, booked as Marcenia Brown, 182 Wineow Street, was treated in Allegany Hospital for a fractured nose and cuts on the face and was released by police after she posted $20 bond on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Elizabeth Ovalton, 184 Wineow Street, who police said struck the blow, was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct and is being held in City Jail to await a hearing this morning in Police Court.

Charges were preferred by Detectives Thomas J. See and E. R. Lilya after the Ovalton woman allegedly struck her companion with the heavy club in what officers termed a family argument.

Advice Offered To Vacationers

With the vacation season now in full swing, Acting Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn yesterday suggested the following precautionary measures to prevent vacationers' homes from being burglarized while they are out of town:

1. Notify the Police Department of the period in which you will be out of town.

2. Ask the post office to hold your mail at general delivery.

3. Notify the milk man and paper boy not to make deliveries while you are away.

4. Ask your neighbor to remove advertising circulars and throwaways from your doorway.

In addition, Acting Chief Flynn suggested that persons who intend to leave on vacation not make announcement of it in the newspapers until after returning. Public announcement that the occupants of a house will be away for a given period, he said, assures a would-be burglar that he is not likely to be surprised or disturbed in the act of looting the premises.

Army Recruiters Will Open Frostburg Office

Capt. L. M. Bairstow, detachment commander of the local Army recruiting force, announced yesterday that a recruiting sub-station will be opened on the third floor of the Firemen's Hall, Water Street, Frostburg.

Sixteen scholarships will be awarded, including all expenses, living costs and tuition. Two courses are held each year, and the fall course for which these Maryland police competed starts August 5. More than 3,000 police from all parts of the country are competing for the 16 scholarship awards.

He will succeed Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, who came here in January, 1945, to become vicar of St. Philip's Chapel and assistant at Emmanuel and has continued at the latter post after he was appointed rector of St. James Church, Westernport, in January.

He will also be in charge of services at Emmanuel Church each Sunday morning at 11 o'clock during August while Rev. Mr. Watson is on vacation.

Ridgeley Playground Group Will Meet

Raymond Swadley, president of the Ridgeley Playground Association, has announced that a special meeting will be held tomorrow at noon in the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, when a report on expenditures will be given.

Swings for the new playground on Silver Street will be built by a machine shop in Ridgeley, Swadley said, adding that association members will be asked to approve specifications before the order is placed.

He added that a new sandbox was installed at that playground yesterday. Most of the equipment needed for the other playground at the rear of the high school has been secured, and a tennis court constructed there this year has been in operation for several weeks.

The association is sponsored by civic, fraternal and religious organizations of Ridgeley.

Girls' Groups Will Also Be Invited

A tentative schedule of events for "Boys' Week," which will be held the week of August 4 at Constitution Park, was outlined last night by Ted Licot, park recreation director, at a meeting in City Hall.

Plans were discussed for holding a parade along a route from South Cumberland to Baltimore Street on Monday night, August 4, at the start of the week's event, with prizes to be offered for best decorated bicycle, best decorated motorcycle, and the best costume among those taking part on foot.

The tentative route would be from Third Street up Virginia Avenue to Maryland Avenue, Williams Street and Park Street, where musical organizations would join the parade. The parade would then move down Baltimore Street, turning off at South Mechanic Street and disbanding in the vicinity of the State Armory.

Girls May Take Part

It was decided to invite Thomas P. Conlon to serve as parade marshal and to aid in working out complete details of the parade.

John J. Long, representing the Catholic Youth Organization, suggested that girls as well as boys be invited to take part in the parade and the athletic events, including bicycle races, swimming, archery, talent night and a pet show.

Mrs. Ralph Stein, city playground supervisor, was asked to invite the co-operation of the various playground associations and also to inform girls' organizations regarding the program.

Licot said he would take charge of arrangements for a softball series, to be played each afternoon during the week. Playoffs in the tournament would be held Sunday afternoon, August 10.

An Tuesday, August 5, it is planned to hold exhibition boxing and open boxing matches in the outdoor arena at the park at 8 p. m., with Officer J. Henry Stitcher, director of the Police Boys Club, in charge.

On Wednesday a model airplane meet, under the direction of the Optimist Club, is scheduled at 7 p. m., with bicycle races for various age groups to be held Thursday evening.

A pet show and talent night are scheduled for Friday. On Saturday, August 9, swimming races and other aquatic events are scheduled from 10 a. m. until noon under Licot's direction, to be followed by archery matches and jitney races in the afternoon, conducted by the Optimist Club.

Concert Planned

Long said he would contact various local musical organizations to make arrangements for an open air concert at the park on Sunday, August 10, at 8 p. m.

The week would be climaxed by a free picnic on Monday, August 11. Licot said he would arrange for an aquacade show on that day.

The recreation director said he has secured 36 softballs autographed by Robert M. "Lefty" Grove, Lonaconing, former big league star pitcher, as prizes. He asked groups in charge of separate events to arrange for additional prizes and to draw up eligibility requirements.

Final details such as maximum and minimum age limits, judges for the various events and application forms for entering the contests will be discussed at another meeting to be held next Friday, July 25, at 8 p. m. in City Hall.

All local civic, fraternal, veterans' and other organizations interested in the program are invited to attend. Groups represented last night included the Optimist Club, the Catholic Youth Organization, the South End Boys' Club, the Sons of the Legion and the Knights of Columbus.

B & O Welder Found In Unconscious Condition

Alvin Cannon, 31, Springfield, W. Va., a welder in the back shops of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company here, was taken to Memorial Hospital last night in an unconscious condition.

He was found on the floor of the shops by his foreman and it was at first thought he had been injured by a heavy piece of metal lying beside him. However, at the hospital, examination showed no marks on the man and he was apparently uninjured.

Physicians who examined him said his heart and pulse were steady but he was "out cold." At the shops it was reported later that a bottle of medicine Cannon had been taking for "shortage of breath" was in his pocket, and the opinion was expressed by an official there that he may have taken an overdose. This was not confirmed at the hospital where the bottle was sent, however.

Observance Will Open Tomorrow

Dr. William D. McCurdy, pastor of First Baptist Church, Bedford Street, from 1900 to 1904, will preach on "The Church in Cumberland" at worship services tomorrow at 10:45 a. m., marking the opening of First Baptist's centennial anniversary celebration.

During Dr. McCurdy's pastorate at the turn of the century, extensive repairs were made to the church property. The building was painted, carpet was purchased, the interior was papered, a furnace was installed and pews of the present day were purchased. When he resigned, the church had an enrollment of 236 members, while the Sunday school consisted of 182 members. Dr. McCurdy is now retired and living in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Other Pastors To Speak

The other former pastors of the church, which was organized July 22, 1847, by Rev. Benjamin Griffith, have accepted invitations to attend the celebration, which will be climaxed Friday night, July 25, by a reception for pastors and congregations of the 10 Allegany and Garrett County churches in the Western District Baptist Association.

Rev. J. Yancey Fincher, Crisfield, who served here from May, 1923, until October, 1929, will preach on "The Invincible Cospel" at the Sunday evening service tomorrow at 7:30 o'clock.

Florian Wilson, director of music; major and minor repairs were made to the church building under a five-year building plan, and a large delegation, led by Rev. Mr. Fincher, attended the World Baptist Alliance in Toronto, Canada, in June, 1928.

The third former pastor who will take part in the centennial observance is Rev. John T. Coburn, Richmond, Va., who served at First

Deadline Is Reached For Sergeants' Jobs

Civil Service examinations for chief of police and assistant chief of police of the Cumberland Police Department will be held on Friday, August 15, Vincent P. Ingram, chairman of the Civil Service Board, announced yesterday.

Following the recent retirement of Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman and Assistant Chief John J. Treiber, the Mayor and City Council approved an order introduced by Police Commissioner William V. Keegan which named R. Emmett Flynn acting chief and B. Frank Gaffney acting assistant chief.

Permanent heads of the department will be named at a date following the examinations.

Ingram said examinations also will be conducted on the same day for applicants for jobs in the Police and Fire Departments and also to fill one rodman's position in the city engineer's office.

In the meantime, as the deadline was reached yesterday for city policemen to file application for appointment to two desk sergeant vacancies in the Police Department, one more officer applied and one who had filed for the post withdrew.

Officer Curtis McA. Kime applied yesterday for the day desk sergeant job and Officer George Pfeiffer, who had sought the position, withdrew.

Kime, a motorcycle officer, is now acting day desk sergeant pending appointment of a permanent desk sergeant to succeed Sgt. L. E. "Bob" Meister who is being retired.

Other applicants for the day job are Officers John H. Stitcher and L. H. Downey.

There likewise are three applicants for the night desk sergeant's position to succeed Sgt. M. L. Crabtree, who also is being retired. One of the applicants is Officer C. C. Roby, now acting desk sergeant. The others are Officers W. J. McGraw and P. C. Jenkins.

Acting Chief Flynn and Commission Keegan have asked the Civil Service Board to prepare questions for the applicants to answer and also to interview the men. Keegan and Flynn said the appointments will not be made on a basis of seniority.

County Gets Check From State Racing Tax For $51,994

A check for $51,994.28 was received yesterday by the Allegany County Commissioners from the state comptroller's office as this county's share of horse race taxes in Maryland.

The Board had the check deposited in the county's General Fund, and it will apply to next year's levy and appropriations. The money cannot be used by the County this year, as only funds appropriated for when the levy is made up can be expended by the commissioners.

Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the board, said that if it had been known how much would be forthcoming from the state on the race track tax, a further reduction in County taxes could have been made in proportion to the amount received. At the time the levy was compiled, he explained, it was not known how much state money would come to Allegany County under new tax fund distribution laws.

Baltimore Woman Seeks Her Mother

Mrs. Raymond Warns, 1628 Rickenbacker Road, Baltimore 21, is interested in locating her mother, Mrs. Noreen Burke, of this city, whom she has not seen for 16 years, and says she will appreciate any information about her.

Last Monday, Mrs. Eva Luber Williams, 925 Grand Avenue, a former Baltimore resident, participated in a "Laugh With Lunch" radio program broadcast over Baltimore station WITH. During her part in the program she said she lives in Cumberland.

After the program was over, Mrs. Williams stated, she was approached by Mrs. Warns who was a guest in the studio audience. Mrs. Warns asked Mrs. Williams if she knew Noreen Burke, and said she would like to locate her. Mrs. Warns seemed certain her mother is still living in or near Cumberland, Mrs. Williams stated, and believes that a published notice might bring them together again.

Former Railroader Held On $500 Bond For Taking Purse

An unemployed railroad worker was committed to the County Jail yesterday in default of $500 bond for action of the October grand jury on charges of stealing a pocketbook from a local woman in an alley off Park Street early Wednesday morning.

Miss Dorothy Lashorn, 22 Emily Street, testified at a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday afternoon that Roy Vaughn, formerly employed by the B. and O. Railroad, tore her pocketbook from her arm after they had walked into Dexter Place between Park Street and Altamont Terrace. He escaped and was apprehended by City Policeman C. W. Thompson Thursday.

The woman said she had met Vaughn in a tavern on Front Street Monday night and that they met in another Front Street tavern on the night of the theft. On the way to her home at 12:30 a. m. they stopped for a time in the alley, Miss Lashorn said, adding that he seized her pocketbook and ran.

Had No Money

Vaughn admitted he had no money Tuesday night and said he had borrowed $2 from the woman to purchase some beer which she denied. When apprehended he was carrying $3.25.

Miss Lashorn stated that the pocketbook contained $11.25 in cash and a bracelet valued at $30. Vaughn's room at the B. and O. "Y" were searched but no valuables were found.

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew ordered the man held under $500 bond for the October term of Grand Jury. Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher was prosecuting attorney.

Charged with taking 22 cases of ale, James Leroy Welsh, 944 Gay Street, was ordered held in the County Jail for grand jury action in default of $500 bond set at a preliminary hearing yesterday.

Terrence J. Boyle, county investigator, stated that Welsh took a truck owned by B. V. Welsh, LaVale, from Corriganville July 9 and drove it to Cumberland where he loaded it with cases of ale from a truck parked at Bell's Service Station on Bedford Road. The truck was found abandoned behind St. Mary's Church on Oldtown Road.

Admitted Both Thefts

Some of the ale and all of the bottles were found in a shed near the youth's home. Welsh admitted both thefts, police said. B. V. Welsh was also listed as the owner of the alcoholic beverage.

James R. Izzett, Route 2, Irons Mountain, was fined $100.75 yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after he pleaded guilty to driving on a revoked license when arrested Tuesday by State Trooper Robert Henline on Virginia Avenue.

Izzett lost his license in 1938 as a result of a conviction for allegedly operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Rubber Workers List Issues In Contract Dispute

Membership Meeting Planned Here Sunday

An official of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, reported last night that five main issues are still in dispute in negotiations for changes in the local's working agreement with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

A. E. Johnson, president of the local, said a detailed report of the progress of the contract negotiations will be presented by the negotiating committee at a meeting of the local tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the union hall.

Johnson listed main issues still unsettled as furlough, filling of vacancies, severance pay, hours of work and overtime and the vacation issue. He did not specify several other issues which he termed "minor" in nature.

Reports Some Progress

The company and the union, he added, are "not so far apart" on the disputed issues as they were 10 days ago.

Negotiations are scheduled to resume Monday at 9:30 a. m. at the Kelly plant. Paul Weiker, District 1 representative, will be here next week Johnson said, for the final phases of the discussions. Johnson explained the chief issues as:

1. The union is asking the company to come down to a specified number of hours of work per week before furloughs may begin. The plant, he explained, is still operating in excess of 40 hours per week and the present contract does not call for a reduction in hours before furloughing can begin.

2. Filling of vacancies—Under the present contract employes with previous experience get first chance to fill vacancies which may arise. The union, he said, wants straight seniority to govern the issue.

Ask Severance Pay

3. Severance pay—The union has requested provisions for severance pay such as have been granted by the Big-Four companies. In general, those contracts provide, for employes who have worked 10 years but less than 15, one week's average severance pay for each year of work. For workers who have 15 years seniority but less than 20, the rate is one and one-half week's average pay for each year.

4. Hours of work and overtime. Several changes are sought, Johnson said. For employes called to work and sent home early by the company, the union is asking the company to count such hours not worked for computing overtime pay on Saturdays. If a worker is off Monday through Friday for occupational injury, the union wants such time to count for overtime purposes on Saturday work.

5. Vacations—The union has asked the company to begin scheduling vacations beginning April 1 in line with seniority, giving the oldest employes preference as to the time of the vacation.

No move has been made by either the union or the company to cancel the present contract.

Delegates will also be elected tomorrow for the International convention to be held in Boston the week of September 15.

Court Dismisses Divorce Action On Race Charge

A divorce was denied in Circuit Court yesterday in an action involving a race issue, and Chief Judge William A. Huster ruled in an opinion that divorces in Maryland are purely statutory and partial divorce as requested by the plaintiff can be granted only for "cruelty of treatment, excessive vicious conduct, abandonment or desertion."

The bill of complaint was brought by James W. Ash, Jr., charging that after his marriage to Agnes H. Ash, he learned she had been previously married to a man with negro blood and he felt it impossible to live with his wife and maintain his self respect.

Judge Huster held there was no evidence to show the wife was guilty under the statutes which cover divorce, and the fact that she had been previously married to a man with negro blood and had concealed this fact from Ash was not sufficient grounds for divorce.

The Court held "The wife admits that she was formerly married to a man who is alleged to have negro blood in his veins, and the evidence shows this is true. The wife further states that at the time of her former marriage she did not know that her husband had negro blood in his veins and that as soon as she discovered it she took the necessary proceedings to have her marriage annulled, which was prior to her marriage to Ash.

"The husband says that the wife did not disclose to him before his marriage that she was formerly married to a man with negro blood in his veins. This is denied by the wife. Whether she did or not make the disclosure to him is immaterial as the complainant could have discovered it by examining court records."
